Killers Hunted Without Mercy

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

TEHRAN, Iran—Iran pledged today it would "show no mercy" on the desert bandits who kidnapped and killed pretty Mrs. Anita Carroll soon after the ambush-murder of her husband, another American and two Iranians.

The mutilated body of Mrs. Carroll, 35, of Issaquah, Wash., was found Sunday 10 miles from the ambush scene. An Iranian Air Force plane flew her white-draped coffin back to Tehran Sunday night where the Shah paid his last tribute with a wreath of carnations.

She had been shot with a shotgun and stabbed, and her body was partially stripped of clothing. She apparently survived the ambush only to be slain later when the bandits discovered she had left a paper trail for the national gendarmerie.

Sources close to the Iranian government said Prime Minister Hussein Ala has told associates he will resign as result of the desert bandit massacre.

These informants said the prime minister's resignation will be announced Wednesday, after the departure of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, now in Tehran as a government guest, so as "to prevent embarrassment" to Adenauer.

Earlier, the United States announced through Clark S. Gregory, that the technical aid program in Southeast Iran has been suspended until the killers are caught.

SLAIN BY DESERT BANDITS

Bandit Chief Ordered Taken Alive

Maj. Ali Qoli Golpira, head of the Iranian Gendarmerie (federal police), stepped up his search for the bandits and promised no mercy. The bandits were believed led by the notorious chieftain Dad Shah who has a string of murders on his record.

Golpira ordered him taken alive if possible.

Dad Shah is a tall, thin, sunburned Baluchi tribesman with red-rimmed eyes and a handlebar mustache. He wears the typical black baggy pants of the country, but a green, black and white striped shawl set him apart from other men. He is a ruthless killer who preys on the few travellers in remote Baluchistan, 800 miles from Tehran near the Pakistani border.

He is wanted for thievery, smuggling and slave trading.

Torrential rains handicapped the search—and the flight of the bandits. Only camels could get through some of the wild areas, a lands of steep cliffs, and razor sharp rocks.

The Dad Shah bandit gang is reported to include at least four men and a number of women and children. A week ago Sunday they set up an ambush on a lonely mountain trail and opened up with shotguns.

Kelvin M. Carroll, 37, husband of the kidnapped woman, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., were killed outright with two Iranians who were accompanying them on their mission of aid. Both men were officials of the U.S. International Co-operative Administration.

The bodies of the four men were found where they dropped, but the only trace of Mrs. Carroll, a blonde of Finnish descent, was a thin paper trail that disappeared in the rugged country. Police found the body in a desolate mountain pass.

The terrain was so difficult police could not get within miles of the body by jeep and it was brought down on a stretcher. Villagers at Iranshahr 10 miles away filled the coffin with wild flowers before it was taken to the nearest airfield 90 miles away.

A U.S. plane had flown south to Zahedan only Sunday with a doctor, nurse, medical supplies and fresh clothing for Mrs. Carroll in belief she might be alive and could be ransomed.

FAST TIME STARTS APRIL 28

The provincial cabinet today fixed April 28 as the starting date for daylight saving this year. It will continue five months until Sept. 28.

On Saturday night, April 27, clocks will be moved ahead one hour to give an extra hour of daylight in the evening.

Gordon Dies Tonight

Cabinet Commutes Carey's Sentence

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence imposed on James Carey but his companion in the fatal shooting of a Vancouver policeman, Joseph Gordon, will be hanged shortly after midnight tonight.

Both men were convicted and sentenced to be hanged March 19 for the shooting of Constable Gordon Sinclair.

Evidence at the trial indicated that Gordon fired the fatal shots.

Carey at his trial claimed to be working as an undercover agent for the RCMP when he was present at the fatal shooting.

However, several hours before the scheduled execution, Justice Minister Garson cleared the way for a two-week stay to permit investigation of alleged new evidence.

An investigation was undertaken by the Justice department. It is understood that the commutation of Carey's sentence was not necessarily a direct result of this investigation but rather that there were factors which probably moved the cabinet to decide that the death penalty was too severe in his case.

The two men have been confined in Oakalla jail at New Westminster.

Counsel for Gordon applied March 14 to the trial judge, Mr. Justice A. M. Manson of the B.C. Supreme Court, for a reprieve designed to enable the Justice department to investigate alleged new evidence.

Constable Sinclair was shot Dec. 7, 1955, when sent to Vancouver's Granville Street Bridge area to investigate reports of suspicious persons moving about.

No Secret Deals Made With Ike Says Macmillan

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons today that he did not enter into any "secret engagements" in his Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower.

The prime minister spoke before a tense House amid some whispers in his own Conservtive party ranks that he "sold out" Britain to the United States in exchange for guided missiles to cut the country's costly defence expenditure.

Opening debate on the Bermuda meeting, Macmillan said the talks . . . "covered much ground and we did reach agreements on certain matters set out in the communique. I want to make it clear that there were no secret engagements."

The prime minister said "there were some matters on which we were not in agreement."

Macmillan cautioned against placing too much importance on the disagreements and said that as a result of the talks Britain and the United States "understood each other better."

Macmillan told the House that in his talks with Eisenhower: "I made plain our view that just trusting to the United Nations is no substitute for a foreign policy."

The prime minister denied reports in some British newspapers that Britain's release from exile of Archbishop Makarios was done under American pressure to settle the Cyprus dispute.

Mid-East Aims Are Identical

Turning to the Middle East, Macmillan said the United States, so far from wishing to reduce British influence in that area, is anxious to see it reinforced.

"Our basic aims in this area are identical, even if at times there are divergencies on how to achieve it," he said.

Macmillan added: "It is greatly to our advantage that, in dealing with the Egyptian government, the United States government is taking a positive and leading role.

He added: "We agreed on the importance of dealing with it in such a way as not to drive it into the arms of the enemy of all true nationalism, and Moslem nationalism in particular—that is, international communism."

Both governments consider there is a right of innocent passage for all ships through the Gulf of Aqaba. This applies equally to Israel ships and vessels of other nations plying to Israel, he added.

The prime minister went on to deal with another controversial result of the Bermuda talks — the decision that Britain should be supplied with American guided missiles, but with the nuclear warheads for them kept under American control.

"This agreement," he assured the Commons, "will save us both time and money and I hope the House will agree that it is a satisfactory one."

Some Socialists have criticized the agreement on the grounds that the U.S. still controlled the warheads and firing of the missiles.

Macmillan denied this report and said:

"The missiles will be the property of the British government and manned by British troops and cannot be fired by any except British personnel."

Young Girl Saves Six In B.C. Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Victoria Cross winner Ernest (Smokey) Smith, his wife and two children were saved from a fire early Sunday by the quick action of a neighbor's daughter.

The duplex home of Mr. Smith and Donald Morris in suburban Burnaby was swept by a fire which broke out in a storage room.

Melanie Morris, 7, woke up her parents and then spread the alarm to the Smiths.

"Melanie saved our lives," said Mrs. Morris. "We would have been asphyxiated or burned to death."

Mr. Smith won his VC as a private with Seaforth Highlanders in Italy in the Second World War.

Plane Blast Kills 9

DICKSON, Tenn. (AP)—Nine persons were reported killed when a military plane from Langley Field, Va., crashed eight miles south of here today. One of two survivors said plane "blew up" while at 8,000 feet.

FOR FASTER MAINLAND FERRY SERVICE

$500,000 Harbor Project Revealed for Sidney Area

The federal government is prepared to build a $500,000 harbor development on the Saanich Peninsula for better ferry connections to the mainland, Dr. F. T. Fairey, Victoria MP, said from Ottawa today.

"Surveys of the peninsula to decide the best possible site have been completed and the report is in the hands of Public Works Minister Robert Winters," he said. "Mr. Winters has given me his definite assurance the department is prepared to build this wharf at the most suitable site, under an arrangement suggested by the Washington State Ferries."

WSF now operates the Sidney-Anacortes ferry service.

C. E. Blaney, Victoria agent for the state-owned ferry company, said the new wharf would ensure more frequent service between Vancouver Island and Anacortes.

He could not comment on possibility of a service linking the Saanich Peninsula with an area nearer Vancouver, main B.C. centre of population.

The federal government has authorized negotiations with WSF on rental terms for the proposed terminal. It is understood the rate would amortize the capital investment over a "reasonable" length of time.

At present, WSF is concerned only with stepping up the Sidney-Anacortes service.

The U.S. company would not have exclusive rights to use of the wharfage.

"While the Anacortes service is important, I am sure Victoria is equally interested in the possibility of a faster service to Vancouver," Dr. Fairey said. "It is because of this possibility I am glad the representations made are to bear fruit.

"Mr. Winters informs me his officers have been instructed to open negotiations with Washington State Ferries. As soon as an agreement on the proposed site has been obtained, construction will start."

Dr. Fairey pointed out the open nature of Sidney has been a stumbling block to improved ferry service with the mainland.

But the new docks, he said, might make it possible to "provide a much faster approach to the mainland, in the vicinity of Vancouver, and a much more convenient route than is now provided.

Commenting on Dr. Fairey's announcement, Austin I. Curtis, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said:

"This is most satisfying. It is something we have been trying to get for a long time. We hope it is only the tstrt of other development which will sharply improve the transportation picture for Victoria."

WIRE BRIEFS

Two Die in Car Crash

ALBION, B.C. (CP)—Two Vancouver youths were killed and a third was critically injured early today when a car slammed into a truck on the Lougheed Highway here, 30 miles east of Vancouver.

Dead are Brian Smith, 16, and John Ivan Sapek. John Poulos, 33, is in fair condition in New Westminster Hospital, suffering from chest and internal injuries.

12 Die in Slides

Island-Mainland Link By Monorail Proposed

NANAIMO (CP)—A monorail service between Victoria and Vancouver via Kelsey Bay was suggested Saturday to Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

President George Bonner of Cobble Hill told the annual meeting that the E. & N. Railway could build the line out of its grants.

The line could travel from Victoria to Campbell River, then by overhead cabe at Kelsey- Bay across Johnstone Strait where the channel is two to three miles wide, he said.

Mr. Bonner suggested a similar monorail could be built to Port Alberni.

Opposition Leader Robert Stratchan suggested at the meeting ha before any such proposal was made the E. & N. "should be placed in the position where they will make the return to he provincial coffers that they should make."

H-Bomb Radiation 'Insignificant' Says Macmillan

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons today that radiation effects from Birtain's proposed H-bomb tests in the Pacific "will be insignificant," and won't affect Japan which is 4,000 miles away.

The prime minister said Britain's H-bomb "tests must go on."

"To abandon them now would be to abandon the whole defence strategy upon which our defence policy is based and to put ourselves in a permanently weakened position."

TOKYO (Reuters) — Russia today rejected Japanese suggestions that she curtail her nuclear weapons tests.

THIRSTY THIEVES JAILED

Hair of the Dog Which Bit Them?

CUMBERLAND—Two young men who were dared Sunday morning to break into the government liquor store here each were sentenced today by Magistrate John Ryland to six months in Oakalla prison.

Alex Graham and Fred Martinelli, who had been drinking in a room in the King George Hotel, drilled out the lock on the front door of the store in full view of passersby, who called police.

According to evidence, the two men stole a bottle of whisky and a case of beer, and had drunk eight bottles of beer from the case by the time police arrived shortly after 3 a.m.

TED WILLIAMS SPITS AT TRUMAN, MARINE CORPS

Baseball Star Admits Attempt To Dodge Service in Korean War

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox in an outburst of hate against former president Harry Truman, the late Senator Robert Taft and the U.S. Marine Corps said today he tried to use political pressure to aovid being recalled to service during the Korean war.

The temperamental outfielder said he was far from being the proud serviceman that legend has made him.

In an interview, Williams said he had resentment agianst the Marine Corps which recalled him for the Korean war.

"You're damned right I have resentment against the Marine Corps and the whole damned government," he said.

Williams talked freely of his attempts to stop the Marine Corps from recalling him.

"You think Sen. Taft was a great man?" he said. "Well, here's what I think of him."

He spat on the floor of the airport waiting room.

"He was afraid to do anything for me," he said. "He said he wouldn't mind going to bat for some other guy. But for me, I was too important."

Williams said the effort to prevent his recall may have gone as far as former president Truman.

"And the same goes for Harry Truman," he said as he spat again.

Williams was a marine flier in Second World War. He was recalled from the inactive reserve during the Korean War.

DULLES BIOGRAPHY

Ike Faced 4th 'Brink of War'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A biography of State Secretary Dulles out today says President Eisenhower faced "the brink of war" a fourth time by warning Moscow last fall that U.S. forces would prevent Russia from sending "volunteers" to Egypt.

The book, written by Time Magazine's diplomatic reporter, John Robinson (Jack) Beal, is titled, John Foster Dulles: A Biography.

Based partly on personal interviews with Dulles, it also says:

1. Dulles' abrupt withdrawal of a U.S. offer to help Egypt build the Aswan Dam last July 19 was a calculated "major gambit in the cold war."

2. Eisenhower decided, coming back from his 1952 Korea trip aboard the cruiser Helena, to press for a truce in Korea—"but if that failed, to fight the war to win," and to do it with tactical atomic weapons.

3. Eisenhower sent a hitherto secret personal letter to President Chiang Kai-shek in early 1955 "satisfying him that the United States would help defend Quemoy and Matsu," related approaches to Chiang's Formosa retreat.

4. Eisenhower, Dulles and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chief of staff, decided at a White House meeting April 4, 1954, to intervene in Indochina — but only "under certain conditions . . . which were not met" by America's allies.

The 322-page Dulles biography, according to a dust jacket statement by publishers Harper and Bros., "examines critically what he has accomplished as secretary of state."

But a careful reading turns up little that is critical. Beal, in appraising his subject, takes a papa-knows-best line.

He presents Dulles as a titan among men, physically, mentally and morally. Whereas Dulles is "idealistic beyond the normal grasp" and "candid" and "forthright," all who disagree are dismissed as: "Careless," "too literal," "amateurish," "professional worriers," "well meaning amateurs," "defeatists," and "people who do not read beyond the headlines."

BOY'S FIBRE SHIRT BURSTS INTO FLAMES

HAMILTON (CP)—A 12-year-old boy suffered severe chest burns Saturday when his synthetic fibre shirt burst into flames as he rode a bicycle along a downtown street.

Robert Crossman suffered third-degree burns on his chest and first-degree face burns. He was reported to be in fair condition Sunday night in hospital.

The boy was unable to tell police what set his shirt afire. Police have forwarded the remains of the shirt to the attorney-general's laboratory in Toronto for analysis.

Two Mill Tax Boost Seen for Saanich

A Saanich tax increase of up to two mills is forecast by Reeve Arthur Ash.

The jump in School District 61 (Greater Victoria) portion of Saanich could be a little more than one mill, bringing the rate to about 32.3, the reeve estimated.

Ratepayers in School District 63 (the northern or rural portion of Saanich) can look forward to a two-mill hike, or a rate of 32.95 this year, he calculated.

The reeve's estimates were based on a preliminary examination of 1957 departmental estimates, which have yet to be discussed by council in committee.

UNTOUCHABLE

Although council will attempt to hold down the tax rate, the reeve pointed out four-fifths of the increase in the urban sector is untouchable school cost.

Also, police wages have yet to be settled in conciliation.

The present mill rate in the urban area is 31.5, with 14.65 for school costs, compared with a rate of 30.95 in the rural sector.

The school costs in urban Saanich are up by $104,000 this year to $644,759, and in rural Saanich by $22,000 to $94,884.

Pearkes Urges Revision Of Military Planning

(From Times News Services)

A revision in military planning, with more emphasis on ground defence in Europe, has been advocated by the Opposition's defence critic.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC (PC - Esquimalt - Saanich) said that, because of NATO weakness in Europe, a Russian attack is "far more likely" to come in the form of a ground attack than by nuclear weapons.

If the NATO shield was unable to check the attack, he said, the United States and Britain would be left with the "awful decision" of whether to be the first to use nuclear weapons, in the knowledge that retaliation in kind would be certain.

"Only by having the most up-to-date weapons for use by ground forces, to be employed in Europe, could we ever have a hope of checking the Russian numbers, unless the nuclear bomb is used," Gen. Pearkes said.

He called for a review of Canadian defence spending to ensure that the best available weapons be provided to the troops to give them "a fighting chance" in any future war.

No Cut in Defence Spending

But he said that because of changing world conditions and weapons developments, there could be no substantial cut in defence spending "for some considerable time."

That statement differed from the Progressive Conservative stand before the last election in 1953 that over-all government spending could be cut by $500,000,000, in large part through defence economies.

Gen. Pearkes spoke during the budget debate as the House met for its first Saturday of the session. Attendance in the 265-seat House during the day ranged between 30 and 50 members.

At the end of the sitting, the House agreed to a further extension of its hours starting Wednesday, adding a two-hour evening sitting on Wednesdays and a two-hour morning sitting on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays starting Thursday.

The changes will leave the House with morning, afternoon and evening sittings six days a week except for Wednesday mornings and Friday and Saturday evenings. The session is expected to end with a pre-election dissolution about April 12.

The Saturday debate covered a wide range of political issues as members took part in what likely is the last general debate before the election campaign. The budget debate winds up Tuesday.

Hazen Argue (CCF, Assiniboia) attacked the March 14 budget as one which forgot the Prairie provinces.

'A Government of Disunity'

"This is a party and a government of disunity," he said.

The budget had promised greater rail transportation subsidies to the Maritimes, ignoring the fact that Western Canada had the highest freight rates in all Canada.

It had offered to build Maritime power plants and link the power systems of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. More recently Fisheries Minister Sinclair had promised huge federal spending for public power in British Columbia. Yet the government consistently refused to help the proposed South Saskatchewan River power-irrigation project.

Mr. Argus said he welcomes the aid to the Maritimes. It probably was because of the defeat of provincial Liberal governments in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Saskatchewan could get the same benefits by defeating every Liberal candidate there in the coming federal election, including Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

J. C. Van Horne (Pc-Restigouche-Madawaska) spoke of "tobacco road conditions" in northern New Brunswick and demanded provision for lower down payments on federal housing loans.

"In my area housing is just a farce," he said. Some families of 10 children lived in one-room tarpaper shacks with no floor.

Van Horne accused the government of trying to control and bribe the press.

He referred specifically to Prime Minister St. Laurent's 75th anniversary dinner - rally in Quebec City, Feb. 2, which many parliamentary correspondents attended.

"When I think," he said, "of reporters being offered all-expense paid trips to Quebec to take in the dinner offered for the prime minister, I ask: 'What else is that but a covert attempt to control the press?'

"Whether you control the medium at the point of a gun or whether you buy it, the end is still control."

LANDMARK LOST—Dome of the Manitoba government's historic Revenue Building in central Winnipeg topples in today's fast-spreading fire that destroyed the 70-year-old structure. (CP Wirephoto.)

Fire Guts Historic Winnipeg Building

WINNIPEG (CP) — A fast-spreading fire today swept through the provincial government's historic revenue building in central Winnipeg destroying offices of three government branches. Many valuable records were saved.

The three-story, red brick and frame structure was expected to be a total loss. Officials said it is insured for $160,000.

Formerly the provincial law court building, it housed offices for the administration of income tax and succession duty, gasoline and amusement tax and motor vehicle and driver registration.

The fire was discovered between the walls on the first floor when employees arrived for work.

BUILDING EVACUATED

As the alarm spread some employees refused to believe it, thinking it was an April fool's day joke.

As the flames quickly spread through the chateau-like structure and began poking through the roof, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles R. B. Baillie ordered the building evacuated. About 60 employees moved out. No one was injured.

Officials said that records saved included those of "problem" automobile drivers whose licences have been suspended.

McGill's Dean Of Medicine Here Saturday

Dean of Medicine at Montreal's McGill University, Dr. Lloyd Grenfell Stevenson, will address the McGill Society of Victoria next Saturday at 7.30 p.m. at Victoria Golf Club.

Almost 70 of Victoria's 160 doctors are McGill graduates, while there are more than 200 McGill graduates in the area.

Dr. Stevenson, a medical history author, will speak about McGill's medical faculty. He will be accompanied by D. Lorne Gales, secretary of McGill Graduates' Society.

Graduates here who wish to attend the lecture may telephone Dr. Hugh Borsman at 3-7624.

WARNING FOR BRITAIN

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia has warned the British people of the "incalculable consequences which would unavoidably follow a retaliatory atomic attack in case of aggression by the NATO countries."

The warning was contained in a foreign ministry statement Sunday night which said that Britain and the United States had "taken the course of direct preparation for atomic war," during Bermuda talks between Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower.

Egypt Dickers With UN Envoy For $10 Million Canal Loan

(AP and CP DISPATCHES)

CAIRO—John J. McCloy, representing the United Nations in financial aspects of Suez Canal clearance work, met President Nasser today to explore a possible loan to Egypt for new canal equipment.

Unconfirmed reports said Egypt wants at least $10,000,000 to replace tugs, dredgers and navigational aids lost in last November's fighting.

UN sources said the question is being explored along two lines — possible financing through the United Nations itself or — and more likely — through some international financial institution such as the World Bank. While here McCloy also has discussed payment of costs for clearing the canal, now estimated at less than $20,000,000. UN sources said this probably will be paid by adding a surcharge to canal tolls for a limited period.

A spokesman for the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority said today several big American and British ships had requested passage through the canal despite a Washington request for changes in the "Nasser plan" for its operation. The ship requests will be granted, he said, provided tolls are paid to Egypt.

Informed sources said the United States was willing to accept the Nasser plan as a basis for further negotiation though displeased with the plan itself. But all indications were the major canal users would eventually send their ships through the canal on Egypt's terms.

Denied Family Car, Boy, 14, Kills Four

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy accused of slaying four members of his family after he "suddenly went crazy" because he was refused use of the family car, was held today without charge pending decision on his status as a juvenile.

Chief of detectives Verne Starmer said he answered the telephone at the Ossie Woolridge home after the killings and was asked:

"How are they? Are they going to live?"

Woolridge, 57-year-old plumbing and heating installer, was dead. So were Mrs. Woolridge, 45; Delores, 11, younger of their two daughters; and Paul, 6, youngest of their four sons. Doris, 12, was shot through the neck and side, critically wounded.

"You better give yourself up," Starmer told the voice on the phone—a "Mr. Smith." It was a young voice, Starmer recognized it despite the disguise.

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Four persons were killed and two others injured Saturday night when a crazed 25-year-old man ran down his mother-in-law and father-in-law with his auto and then shot it out with a highway patrolman 14 miles from here.

The dead were the assailant, Manford Draper, 25; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pollock, and Patrolman R. E. Karsmizki.

Another patrolman, Murray C. Youtz, was wounded.

Criminal Prosecution Faces Teamsters' Boss

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamster president Dave Beck was on notice today that he may face criminal prosecution following revelations by the Senate rackets investigating committee. (See also page 2.)

Strong new demands also were aired for legislation to protect union funds from misuse and assure union members of democratic procedures.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) raised the possibility of criminal prosecution Sunday during a television interview.

Asked if the committee had enough evidence to warrant such prosecution, McClellan said financial reports the Teamsters' Union is required to file do not show alleged "loans" to Beck.

". . . Therefore those reports are fraudulent if he had a loan, and if he didn't have a loan and it wasn't a gift, then he is bound to have taken the money without any authority or consent," McClellan replied.

The committee has charged Beck with taking $322,000 in Teamster money for his own use. Beck has claimed he borrowed between $300,000 and $400,000 from the union and paid it back.

McClellan said there also is a possibility of a case against Beck of "using the mails to defraud."

The 1957 objective of the Canadian Cancer Campaign is $2,200,000. More money will be spent on research than ever before.

Protection

...at your fingertips

The first aid kit and insurance both have important roles to play in the event of accidents.

Each year, the companies writing accident and sickness insurance in Canada pay out more than ninety million dollars (not including automobile accident costs) to policyholders—a mighty bulwark against unusual financial strain.

It is far better, though, to prevent accidents and mishaps, rather than to deal with the treatment of their serious—and often tragic—after-effects. That is why insurance companies are constantly seeking ways to stem Canada's mounting accident toll.

Safety pays dividends . . . saves lives, helps to lower your insurance costs. Be Careful.

The Man Who Saves

MR. HARRIS TELLS US THAT if Canada is to invest $8.5 billions this year, as planned, we must save more of our money or borrow more from foreigners. He adds, in a masterpiece of understatement, that such a program of capital expansion in a single year will impose a "substantial strain on our resources."

Whether we can save or borrow $8.5 billions to build everything, from a village school to the St. Lawrence canals, remains to be seen. But it is to be doubted.

In the last year we have been saving huge amounts ourselves and borrowing massively from our American neighbors, thus contriving to live for the moment far beyond our means.

Even with our savings and our borrowings (which must be paid back some day, with interest) we could not complete our building plans in 1956 entirely. The effort to do it, with limited supplies of manpower and materials, was the primary cause of the present inflation and reduced the value of the dollar by about four cents in six months.

What will happen to the investment program and the dollar this year is anyone's guess. Mr. Harris is not quite as alarmed about these things as Mr. Coyne, governor of the central bank, but he is alarmed enough to forego a popular tax reduction and to enforce the so-called tight money policy.

His calculations for 1957 are necessarily based on our experience in 1956. According to his voluminous budget papers, which not many Canadians will read, Canada saved $6.1 billions last year—an impressive amount out of a gross national product of just under $30 billions. In other words, we put aside about a fifth of our earnings and plowed it into new industries and public works of all sorts.

Of this total saving the individual savers contributed $1.4 billion and business (mainly through undistributed profits) $4.1 billions. That is a lot of saving in a nation of our size, but not enough for our purposes. We also borrowed about $1.4 billion from other nations. And still we didn't have all we needed to build what we wanted.

No one knows exactly why people save, or why we are saving more now than ever — a billion dollars more last year than in 1956. To be sure, there is more money to be saved as our total output of wealth rises. There is a greater need of saving, too, when our population is growing and needs larger facilities of all kinds. Above all, there is the old Canadian instinct of thrift which looks ahead to the chance of a rainy day.

The saver is one of society's primary assets. It is only through his willingness to buy less than he could buy and lend his savings that society accumulates capital, expands its productive plant, increases its wealth and improves its public amenities. To encourage the saver, therefore, must be the objective of all governments, whether they do it by compulsion, as in Russia, or by encouragement, as in free countries.

At present the saver is encouraged by high interest rates. They may be a liability to the borrower but are an asset to the lender. And there are always more lenders than borrowers since most Canadians are lenders—through such devices as insurance—whether they know it or not.

As an incentive to saving, permanent security is more important than immediate returns on invested money. No government or private corporation could expect the public to lend it money for long if the public knew that the value of the money would perpetually decline; for in that case the saver is asked to lend a dollar of a certain value and receive, later on, a much less valuable dollar.

The disagreeable policy misleadingly called "tight money" is designed to counteract inflation and to protect savings, but it is also the surest guarantee of continued saving, without which the nation could never increase its wealth.

The Air Must Be Free

IN ONE OF THOSE INDISCRETIONS not permitted men in his high office, Prime Minister St. Laurent has written a letter of criticism to the CBC.

Mr. St. Laurent heard a British-born University of Manitoba professor's CBC broadcast criticizing "the timidity of the Canadian nation and its fear of getting its little toes burned."

The Prime Minister was understandably irritated by such comment—as undoubtedly were countless other Canadians. In consequence, says Mr. St. Laurent, he wrote as a private individual—although he forgets whether he wrote on private stationery or that of his office—suggesting to A. Davidson Dunton, CBC head, that he thought "it was not a proper use of funds appropriated by Parliament to provide fees for broadcasts of that character."

Mr. Dunton very properly replied that "the CBC tries to provide an opportunity for every view to be expressed." In other words, the CBC head is not inclined to accept any suggestion of political interference with his administration of the broadcasting corporation.

Prime Minister St. Laurent has been criticized for his action in Parliament — and, we think, has justified that criticism. Whether his protest was that of an individual or not, the individual happens to be the Prime Minister of Canada, who cannot lay aside that identity as he might his hat. Mr. Dunton gets full marks. Mr. St. Laurent does not.

Vacuum in the Home?

IN THE UNITED STATES THE National Manpower Council has made a study of womanpower and has come up with some surprising statistics. Everyone today knows that although woman's traditional place is in the home she has not kept it. But it is perhaps not so widely known to what extent the women of this continent have moved into industry and commerce and taken their place beside men.

According to the U.S. survey, nine out of ten women are likely to hold a job at one time or another. It was found that the average school girl may expect to spend 25 years or more in work outside the home.

That places woman far beyond the ordinary concept of a mere helper in the man's world; she has become an equal partner for better or for worse.

On this basis of equality the National Manpower Council recommends that hiring, training and promotion of women in employment should be on the same terms as that of men, with equal pay for equal work.

As to the eventual effect of this development on home life and national life, the council advocates further study. Five million young women will enter employment in the next ten years—will their education equip them for this step? Three out of ten married women now hold jobs—what of their homes and their children?

The so-called emancipation of women is an evolution far from finished. Its full effects have not yet been felt. Whether they will be helpful or harmful to life as we have known it must yet be determined. But there appears little prospect that the trend will be reversed, regardless of results.

Breeders of Ill Will

CANADA HAS PROTESTED THE red smear applied to its Ambassador to Egypt, E. N. Norman, by a U.S. Senate sub-committee. The U.S. State Department has requested the sub-committee to stop issuing statements on the issue. The sub-committee has reacted by making public more of its so-called "information."

This is an irritating situation for Canada, a discourtesy to the U.S. State Department and a pitiful performance by the sub-committee.

Whatever the last-mentioned group hopes to achieve, its course of action will only serve to remind Canadians of the putrescence of McCarthyism which did the United States such harm in the eyes of decent people throughout the world.

It seems inconceivable that the wilful performance of the sub-committee will seriously injure relationships between the good neighbors on either side of the 49th parallel. But it will give some material to those mischief-makers in both countries who seek to promote ill-will.

Provided with sufficient ammunition, those interests can cause trouble and accomplish the inevitable result of the sub-committee's processes. That is to stir up hostility between good friends of this continent. No better service could be rendered to communism.

Every Day Is April First to Him

WHO HAS ENOUGH? — By B. A. TOBIN

According to His Needs

HAPPINESS is the major goal of most people—at first. Later on a good many of them will willingly settle for mere contentment — and that's not so mere at that. Of course even contentment itself is a considerable achievement; it implies that you have amassed something to be contented about. This may be worldly goods, personal position or merely a frame of mind. It also implies a certain lack in a human being, perhaps a lack of ambition or of aggressiveness. For some people, possessions or position are seen only as a starting point for getting more of the same. For such folks contentment is a long-range goal which is never attained, although they may secure a sort of secondary contentment from the act of ceaselessly striving for more.

Tobin

But Few Are Chosen

Of the more than two and a half billion people now populating the earth, a very small percentage would claim full contentment, and still fewer would declare themselves to be continually happy.

Perhaps that's just as well. Not many human beings could stand a steady diet of happiness even if they could get it. They will be doing pretty well if they can order a little happiness as their hors d'oeuvres, perhaps some as a side dish or two in the course of life's meal, and, if they're very fortunate, end up with a small helping as their just deserts.

It is very pleasant, therefore, to learn that a truly contented—perhaps even a happy—man has been located in Vancouver. He is the chap who won the $130,000 sweepstake the other day and greeted the news with the remark that "I can think of nothing I would like to buy right now."

Shopping Splurge

That is in refreshing contrast to the usual human reaction to good fortune. It is expected that a man who wins sudden wealth will immediately whip out from a pocket his permanent list of things he cannot live without, and forthwith plunge into a buying spree that presumably will purchase him all the happiness he desires.

But when a winner lets it be known that he intends only to take a seasonal holiday now and then, help out a few friends who could do with a little assistance, and put the rest by for his old age — then obviously we are in the presence of a rarity and a man to be envied.

When such a man's wife can say: "There's absolutely nothing we have wanted. We have always been very happy," then there is little to be added.

That is not to say that there will not be thousands of other people who will hasten to provide the happy couple with pressing needs.

A good deal of our modern economy depends on one part of the population persuading the other part that it cannot exist another minute without so-and-so's product. It is the creation of heretofore unfelt wants that keeps the wheels of our economy spinning. A world full of happy, contented people would immediately go bankrupt—a thought which may never have occurred to advocates of Utopia.

Supply of Demands

However, there is little danger of this happening. There will always be folks who want something they haven't got, or a bigger model of it if they already own one.

And, for the foreseeable future, there will be plenty of people around who are willing and eager to point out any needs you may have overlooked. Given half a chance they could create an overpowering desire for compasses among residents of the North Pole, and convince the pygmies of the equatorial Amazon that no gentleman is properly turned out without an ice pick.

So we may expect that the Vancouver sweepstake winner will be deluged with invitations to want, to need and to buy. And therein will lie the true test of the contentment which he claims.

Pick and Choose

If the need-creators and need-suppliers can convince him that he is wrong and they are right, his walls of happiness will come tumbling and he will be reduced to the state of most of his fellow human beings. But if he can stand adamant against their importunings, then he will have proved that his happiness is real and not imagined, that his tranquillity is an inner truth and not an outer facade.

And he will have shown, too, that his state of mind is not the result of owning everything he could possibly think of, but that it is the result of having looked over the material things of the world and decided that he can get along very well without most of them.

If you pass this final test, Mr. Sweepstake Winner, we salute you. It will prove that long before you won this latest fortune you had won something else much more valuable — something which the whole $130,000 could not begin to buy.

As Our Readers See It

Something All Can Enjoy

With regard to the Centenary gift for Victoria, I would like to see a nice auditorium on the site now occupied by the RCMP barracks on Quadra Street and Burdett Avenue. Not just another hall but something very special to seat about 10,000 people with marble pillars, mosaic floor, sculptured facade, the best furnishings, the finest pipe organ, something we will always be proud to own.

All our adult lives we have been giving and doing for hospitals, the aged, orphans and people in distress in other lands; and since we will not be around when another century comes let us go all out to get something we can all enjoy, then will those coming after us rise up and call us blessed. This may be only a pipe dream, but it would be nice to have.

MISS M. A. SAUNDERS.
The Thatch, Royal Oak.

Progress?

We read that Saanich is intending to build a huge addition to the Royal Oak Hall.

This is another example of the attitude and lack of respect for the voters of Saanich. We voted some time ago against an addition.

Is this the way to get us to turn out for voting?

Is this the best way to spend such a large amount of money?

Are the older councillors representing the people?

I do hope our municipal affairs department of the government notices this. [illegible] Saanich by joining the city. I, as one who has been here for many years, would rather pay the city for local improvements as I have confidence in their ability and value for my tax dolar.

Pensioners and Health Plan

In your issue of March 23, 1957, under "Vancouver Island Viewpoint," appeared an article headed "Pensioners" in which it was suggested that for all those in receipt of the old age pension, all restrictions as to residence be removed.

The points raised in this article are very well taken, and might well be stressed in the daily press. Perhaps an additional point might well be added.

As it is now evident that some form of national health scheme will shortly become operative, this matter of pensioners comes even more to the fore, as they will constitute a quite considerable part of the total number requiring care under the scheme. If they be allowed to live elsewhere than in Canada without loss of pension, those who do so will reduce the drain on the funds of the national health scheme.

F. P. V. COWLEY.

R.R. 4, Victoria, B.C.

Victoria University

I have perused the 32 suggestions submitted by various groups and individuals and all of them are worthy projects which should eventually be carried out for the good of the community. But they are not spectacular enough to fire the average reader's imagination. That is why there isn't much interest shown in the Centennial Plan.

In my opinion the Centennial should be marked by some really outstanding achievement. Such an achievement would be the establishment of a great university for Victoria. This indeed would be a lasting memorial to this province's first hundred years. It would ever be in the memory of all those who passed through its doors. It would become the Alma Mater of thousands of fine young men and women who would go out into the province furthering its development and leadership in Canadian affairs.

It would be a feather in the cap of any government that projected such an undertaking in view of the many benefits that would accrue from such an establishment. I am sure the university would draw many young students from other lands so that it would soon become a cosmopolitan institution, and eventually Victoria might possibly assume the status of the western centre of Canadian culture.

As we all know Victoria, geographically, is not in a position to become a great industrial city such as our sister city across the Strait. Therefore, we should pursue with might and main this project of a great university which could mean so much to Victoria and the province.

STILL ANXIOUS.

Que Sera, Sera

I think it is a sad commentary on the life of North Africa when the academy award winning tune is "Que Sera, Sera" "whatever will be, will be." [illegible] fate, implying that humans have no control over their own destiny.

No one denies the catchiness of the tune—but, oh, the words.

"SERIOUS."

The Crisis and Taxes

In your editorial "The Crisis in Britain," you state the price of exports will depend on their cost of production, mainly wages.

In production, I understand, there are two prime costs, raw materials and wages. Today, you can add a third, namely, taxes.

In Britain, as elsewhere, the workmen assess their wages by the amount of goods they can buy with them. I am told on certain items the sales tax is is high as 60 to 100 per cent. Under such circumstances can you blame them for striking for more money? Can you imagine the fuss that would be caused in this country if gasoline sold at $1.50 to $2 per gallon?

West Germany is forging ahead on world markets because they have no war debts to pay either abroad or at home. Until lately they had no army and navy to pay for either.

After the meeting at Bermuda, Canada is going to sell uranium to Britain but so far we have not heard what Canada is prepared to buy from her best customer. Every country wants to sell but few are as ready to purchase, hence one crisis after another.

Unless Britain is willing to impose a capital levy to wipe out a large part of the war debts of two world wars she will never regain her position as a great trading power and her living standard will get very low indeed.

ACCOUNTANT.

FROM PARIS — By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Polish Eliza

RELIABLE reports from Warsaw suggest that American policy makers will be most unwise to take the new anti-Stalinist Polish government too much for granted as a permanent feature of the Central Europe scene. From the very beginning of the Polish uprising against Soviet colonial rule, the task of the Polish "National Communist" leader, Wladyslaw Gomulka, has been very like the task of Eliza crossing the ice. For example, it can now be revealed that when Nikita Khrushchev and his party made their famous surprise visit to Warsaw last November, their minds were nine-tenths made up to "crush the Poles like flies"—as Marshal Zhukov subsequently said in a tone of evident regret.

Alsop

The price that had to be paid to avert a Hungarian tragedy was Gomulka's promise of continuing Polish adherence to the Warsaw Pact, which meant continued stationing of Red Army troops in Poland.

Gomulka's situation today is less immediately critical, but it is almost equally precarious for the long run. He would probably be in very deep trouble at this moment if he had not done so well in Poland's recent, curious, semi-free election.

Election Hopes

The so-called Natolin Group, the far from unimportant Stalinist faction in the Polish Communist Party, actually hoped the election would show a strongly anti-Communist result.

The Polish Stalinists correctly thought that such a result would eventually lead to the forcible re-establishment of full Soviet colonial rule in Poland. But Poland's wise and far-sighted Cardinal Wysynski understood the danger. He quietly threw the immense power of the Polish Catholic Church into the balance on Gomulka's side. And thus the Polish Nationalist leader won a triumph at the polls.

All the same, Gomulka's present problem looks very grim indeed.

To the right of him, he has the restive Polish anti-Communists, which means the vast majority of the Polish people, who admire Gomulka but hate his party. To the left of him, he has the Stalinist faction in the Polish Communist Party, whose designs are strongly supported by the masters of the Kremlin.

Finally, squarely in front of him, Gomulka has the desperate economic situation to which Poland has been reduced by long years of Soviet colonial rule. Here lies his great chance and his great peril. According to one highly authoritative estimate, Gomulka has no more than a year to give his people a sense of greatly increased well being.

If he fails, he will go down to defeat in a conflict between the Stalinists and anti-Communists. But this will mean, in fact, that Soviet colonial rule will be re-established in Poland. For the Kremlin will surely seize the opportunity of a Polish time of trouble to help its Warsaw friends with the naked force of the Red Army.

On the other hand, if Gomulka succeeds on the economic front, his leadership will cease to be challenged, either from right or left.

He will at last gain the elbow room to deal with the Polish Stalinists. And the evolution of Poland can then proceed peacefully, not toward our kind of democracy, but at least in a direction that will be bearable for the Polish people and highly distasteful to the Kremlin.

Leading Strings

At present, Gomulka is both being kept on leading strings and openly threatened by the Kremlin. With the economic problem overriding all others, the Soviet economic aid promised to Poland is being given in trickles, on a day-to-day basis.

For instance wheat deliveries, according to the same authority quoted above, "have to be rushed to the flour mills, and the flour has to be rushed to the bakeries, to prevent a bread shortage."

By pulling on the leading strings in this manner, the Kremlin has encouraged Gomulka's recent concessions to the Polish Stalinists, which alarmed the West. Washington of course has the opportunity to cut the Kremlin's leading strings.

But judging from this distance, Washington seems to be disinclined to grant Gomulka the generous American economic aid he so badly needs.

Grandiose Talk

Yet surely, a government that is good enough for Cardinal Wysynski ought to be good enough for Sen. Knowland. And surely, after all the grandiose talk about "liberation," it is a bit odd to throw away the remaining chance offered by the deep unrest in Central Europe.

For if Gomulka really succeeds in Poland, the position of the Stalinist regime in Cezchoslovakia must finally become untenable. And even in the other Central European countries where Red Army troops are stationed, Gomulka's success will create a permanently and explosively unstable situation.

The question, really, is whether Sen. Knowland and the administration policy-makers he so often intimidates prefer making cheap and empty "anti-Communist" gestures against Gomulka or gaining a major point in the world struggle against the Kremlin's power.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

Julia

WHEN Julia was old and grey and full of sleep, her children tried persuading her to leave the country and live in a civilized city apartment.

"Mother," they said, "even with a good outside man and his wife in the cottage, it's crazy for you to live out here alone. You'd be better off in the city."

Ruth

"Just twiddling my thumbs," she said, "and waiting for Death to take me by the hand. I know you mean it well, my dears, but kindly leave me where I am."

So they left her that time. But afterwards, among themselves, they said that Mother was getting very difficult in her old age.

But Julia wasn't really being difficult. She just knew what she wanted. And what she wanted was to end her days in the place where she had lived so long.

The dear familiarity of it all gave her a strength she felt she'd lose if she moved to some new impersonal place.

Her bright aggressive daughter-in-law could never understand it, but Julia loved her rather battered shabby house. She especially loved the view from her bedroom window.

She loved to look out at the gentle open field with the fringe of firs at the distant end. She loved it when she could watch a thin young moon sinking down behind the farthest firs.

She loved to wake in the dark of a winter morning and, from her bed, see a pale full moon still hanging in the sky.

"But, Mother," said daughter-in-law, "we could find you an apartment with just as good a view."

"It wouldn't be my view, though," said Julia. And the younger woman gave an impatient little shrug of her shoulders as if, really, this stupid obstinacy was more than she could cope with.

After that, Julia didn't try to explain how she felt about the flowers and birds of the familiar neighborhood.

She couldn't explain about the meadowlarks, somehow. Put into words, it seemed so silly to say that she looked forward to the sunny days in lateish fall when the field seemed full of meadowlarks singing their happiness from every fence post.

She hesitated to mention the quail she could hear so often on the hill, and how she listened to their liquid twittering, and to the warning note of adult sentinel.

She couldn't tell about the killdeer, and how in spring there'd sometimes be one bobbing up and down in the lower pasture and calling plaintively.

No, she couldn't leave these familiar sounds, she told herself. She couldn't live through the spring without the sound of frogs. For years now, she'd listened to them from the back porch when she let the dog out for his final run. Often their singing was the last sound she heard before she fell asleep.

There were the owls, too, the owls that hooted and called to one another somewhere near the open field.

Somehow, trying to explain these things was too difficult. Tom would have understood, though. But her husband, Tom, had been dead for let's-see-how-many years.

"Quiet, patient Tom," she thought suddenly. "I could always explain everything to you. I walk so slowly now, you know. But it was fine this morning, and when I walked along to get the mail, I heard a meadowlark down below and a skylark singing high above. I'd not hear that in a city apartment.

"It'll break my heart to leave this place. But I'll have to go, dear, and do what they say. Because they wear me out with their endless arguments and reasons."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

To Speed Up Cricket

LONDON—If you're interested in cricket... A special committee set up by the MCC, governing body of cricket, has come forward with six suggested changes in the rules with the object of brightening the game. They are the most revolutionary changes since the rules were originally drawn up in 1788.

But something drastic had to be done, for the game at present is in such a bogged down state that cash customers are staying away in their thousands. This committee is only an advisory one and for the new rules to be put into effect requires the okay from the MCC General Committee and the County Cricket Committee.

Reyburn

Since the meetings of these two committees to consider the recommendations come next month, it means that if the rule changes get the nod they will be tried out in the coming season.

Rule change No. 1, and the most controversal one, is the limiting of the number of fieldsmen behind the batsman on the leg side to two. Reason for that is that bowlers such as Jim Laker and "Toey" Tayfield, of South Africa, have been able to pin batsmen down so effectively by bowling at their legs with a group of vultures fielding close in behind them that the batsmen have had little choice but to merely try to prevent themselves from getting out instead of attempting to score runs.

This new rule would do away with the leg trap and force such bowlers to pitch the ball where batsmen would have a better chance of making attacking strokes. But those against this change say it is too revolutionary. Its introduction would be the first time any captain has been restricted as to the placing of his fieldsmen.

No. 2 would restrict the first innings of each side to 85 overs. Idea of this is to stop teams laboriously piling up a first-innings score sufficient to prevent their being beaten. But county captains such as Middlesex's Bill Edrich say it would defeat its own end because the bowling side would just bowl negatively to see to it that the batting side made as few runs as possible in 85 overs.

No. 3 would give umpires the power to penalize players for wasting time—e.g a bowler who took too long to get through an over could be ordered by an umpire to stop bowling. A measure to speed up the game for onlookers.

No. 4 would limit boundaries to 75 yards—an idea greeted by cheers from cricket fans for it would mean batsmen would be tempted to have a bash with a smaller boundary. Present boundaries are governed by the size of the field.

No. 5 would limit the number of overseas players in any country team to two, which is on the lines of Canada's football import restrictions. And No. 6 is the really gay one—a knock-out competition for the counties with a Cup Final similar to soccer's big annual attraction.

If only a couple of these new rules are adopted, it's going to bring new excitement to cricket this season—and just in time, say the fans.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Chequered Lilies Showiest of All

One of the showiest of the early spring flowering bulbs is Fritillaria imperialis, the Crown Imperial, known and grown for several centuries.

Originally from Persia, it is well adapted to our climatic conditions, persisting for years in the garden if given a site which is well drained in winter.

Hilda

Flowering size bulbs are huge, and they make rapid growth from the time the growing tips first appear around the first of March.

By Easter, the third week of April, this fritillaria will have reached the height of four feet, with luxuriant leaves clothing the flower stem. The individual flowers are about two inches across, and hang in a circle above the leaves. Another tuft of leaves grows well above the circle of flowers, as though to protect them.

SEVERAL COLORS

The color of the flowers of F. imperialis may be yellow, brick-red or orange-brown according to the variety, and an established bulb will produce more than one stem simultaneously.

Bulbs should be planted in early fall, in a well dug soil enriched with gritty compost and bonemeal. In such a location, the Crown Imperial will give a splendid display each spring for about five years without requiring to be lifted and divided.

A top dressing of rotted compost and bonemeal each spring after growth starts will be sufficient attention.

In fairness to delicate noses, it must be told that the bulbs, foliage and flowers have a strong odor. If the plants are growing well back from pathways they are less likely to offend.

There are numerous other species of fritillarias which also do well here. They are much finer in appearance than the one described, being dainty in a few inches in height, and the interesting patterns of color on the petals have earned for them the common name of Chequered Lilies.

YOUR INCOME TAX

'Averaging' Helps Fishermen, Farmers

By W. GORDON HOLMS, C.A.

The year 1956 might well qualify as a year of averages for B.C. fishermen and farmers. This is an income tax safeguard designed to protect fishermen and farmers during bad economic periods.

Both operate in risky fields of livelihood where income can skyrocket or slump to virtually nothing.

Averaging is a device whereby this type of earner can elect to have his income averaged over a period of five years. By this means it is frequently possible to gain a rebate on previous years' taxes that will give a fisherman or farmer a backlog of cash to carry him through difficult times.

In order to be eligible he must have filed income tax returns as required by the Income Tax Act for at least four of the six years immediately preceding 1956.

There is a special form for such filing headed "Election to Average Income." It is available both at the income tax office in the Belmont Building and at the post office.

Home Building Slumps in U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Home construction in the United States is headed into a slump that has Congress, the administration and the building industry worried.

Home-building, booming in the U.S. since the war, is regarded as one of the main barometers of the state of the American economy since every new housing start creates demand for more lumber, paint, steel, brick, refrigerators, stoves, plumbing and electrical fixtures and the other equipment that goes into the modern home.

Builders, blaming the slump on the government's tight money policy, forecast that fewer than 900,000 dwellings will be started this year, compared with 1,100,000 in 1956 and 1,300,000 in 1955.

TWO PROPS

From 1951 to 1955, home construction in the U.S. averaged 1,174,000 units a year, compared with an average of 96,000 a year in Canada.

There are two main federally-supported props to the home-building trade in the U.S.

One is the so-called GI loan program, under which the government guarantees loans for veterans buying homes. The other is the Federal Housing Administration, which does the same for the non-veteran.

The principal reason for the housing slump appears to be a shortage of mortgage money, particularly for veterans.

Money lenders just aren't interested in the fixed 4½ per cent GI interest rate when they can get up to 6½ per cent on conventional — or non-government supported—loans.

The result has been that production of low-cost housing for veterans has dropped and the trend now is toward the building of high-cost luxury homes for individual buyers who can afford the higher interest rate.

Building for industry, which has the advantage of fast tax write-offs, is continuing at a high rate.

The Eisenhower administration, apprehensive lest the downward trend continue, is seeking congressional approval for moderate steps to spur building in the low-cost housing field.

It wants an increase in the veterans' interest rate to 5 per cent and lower down payment requirements for mortgages guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration.

The FHA raised its interest rate to 5 per cent last December, a step it could take without congressional permission.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Best commercial interest appeared in flax today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Support came from export houses and trade reports indicated parcel lot sales to the Continent. Prices held steady.

Oats and barley had routine trade and domestic support. Shipping orders were in line with feed house demands. Offerings increased and prices were easier.

Rye prices were easier in thin trade. Support came from domestic and United States houses. All months established seasonal records.

There was no information available on overnight exports of Canadian wheat.

Lakehead prices for class two, 1WA and domestic wheat were all up one-quarter cent from Friday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures fell more than a cent a bushel today in some cases on the Board of Trade in a renewal of the liquidation which has hit the pit largely. Some contracts hit new seasonal lows.

Corn, oats and soybeans also were off fractionally most of the time.

The May wheat contract was higher early in selling inspired by news Yugoslavia has bought 1,000,000 bushels of red wheat and is in the market for more. However, selling caused by continued favorable weather and crop reports in the winter wheat belt depressed new crop futures, and the liquidation spread into the May delivery.

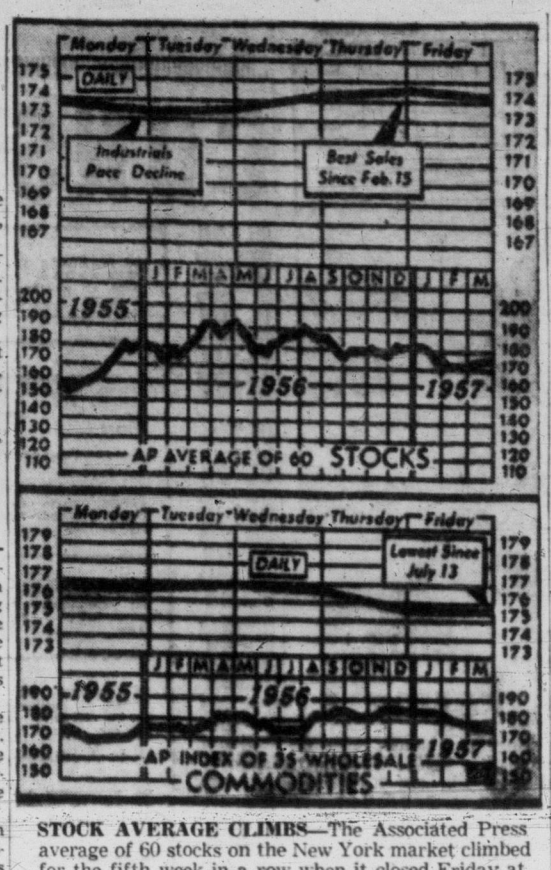
Polymer Corp. Income $9.4 Million

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — Polymer Corporation had net income of $9,400,000 in 1956, the crown-owned company's annual report shows.

Dividends of $3 a share were paid out of net earnings of $4.73 a share.

President J. D. Barrington said production of rubber during the year increased by 11 per cent to a peak of 286,000,000 pounds and that gross income climbed by 16 per cent to $17,500,000.



STOCK AVERAGE CLIMBS—The Associated Press average of 60 stocks on the New York market climbed for the fifth week in a row when it closed Friday at 174.2 from 173.9 a week earlier. For the second straight week the commodity index declined, closing at 175.7, the lowest point since July 13. A week ago the index was 176.8. Industrials showed substantial losses. FINAL REPORT DUE IN FALL

Rail Tribunal Plans Vancouver Hearings

OTTAWA (CP)—The Kellock Royal Commission investigating the rail firemen issue may hit the road in mid-June for cross-country hearings to aid in deciding whether firemen are required on diesel locomotives, it was learned today.

The three-man body, headed by Mr. Justice Roy L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, plans to hold hearings in such centres as Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Toronto and Saint John, N.B.

The tour may be over by mid-July. The commission then would recess for holidays and reconvene here in September to continue gathering evidence and listening to argument before making its report in the fall.

The investigation opened on March 4, following eruption of the union-CPR dispute which resulted in a nine-day tieup of the CPR's transcontinental railway system early in January.

The CPR wants to eliminate firemen from some of its diesel operations. But the firemen's union, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC), has put up a stiff fight against such a move.

In the 18 days of commission hearings which already have taken place, evidence has been mostly of the kind previously introduced before a conciliation board.

CPR witnesses were under questioning this week. One of them, Anton Alvert, superintendent of the CPR's Toronto terminal, said "dead-man" controls would make operation of a yard diesel by an engineer "equally as safe" as with a fireman also in the cab.

Another, George Mountsteven of Toronto, CPR engineer, said firemen in diesel freight and yard service contribute nothing but "company" for the engineer.

J. N. Fraine of Toronto, general—manager of the CPR's eastern region, said the company had 670 diesels of all types in operation last year. It expected complete conversion to diesel from steam by 1961.

Saskatchewan Likely to Probe Trust Co. Deals

REGINA (CP) — The Saskatchewan government has indicated it plans to appoint a royal commission to investigate the mineral deals and operations of the Prudential Trust Co. Ltd.

Premier T. C. Douglas told the legislature Friday he has received a representation from the Mineral Owners Protective Association for such an investigation.

He said he and Attorney-General R. A. Walker are considering the personnel of the commission and a formal announcement will be made later in the legislature.

Harold E. Mason, manager of Prudential's Regina branch, said, "We would welcome the establishment of a commission to go into the full matter of leasing and purchasing and sale of mineral interests in Saskatchewan."

Grain Marketings

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain movement March 29 (1956 bracketed) at western country elevators:

Deliveries: Wheat 1,178,000 bushels (1,125,000); coarse grains 415,000 (512,000). Boxcars loaded: Wheat 448 (416); coarse grains 166 (139).

$100,000 Bail for Suspect In Textile Swindle Trial

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal couple Friday was ordered for voluntary statement April 30 on charges arising from a $970,000 swindle in the liquidation of a New York businessman's textile import firm in Japan.

The accused are Jacob Shpiro, 48, and his wife, Golda, 39, natives of Poland who came to Canada about eight years ago.

Judge Redmond Roche increased Shpiro's bail to $100,000 from $40,000 while the woman's bail was maintained at $20,000.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a third accused, Icus Szpiro, brother of Mrs. Shpiro and believed in Brazil.

Shpiro is charged with theft, fraud, conspiracy and failing to account while his wife is charged only with failing to account.

The complainant is Harold Borger a New York City textile merchant.

Voluntary statement is a stage in Quebec legal procedure between preliminary hearing and trial when an accused may make a defence.

During the lengthy preliminary hearing, Borger testified he had decided to return to the United States from Japan in 1953 and arranged for liquidation of his company assets through Icus Szpiro, whom he described as a "money-changing wizard."

Szpiro was planning to leave Japan himself, Borger said, and brought his brother-in-law, Jacob Shpiro, from Montreal to handle the sale of the goods to another company.

Proceeds of the liquidation were to be forwarded to Montreal to be placed in a trust account opened by Mrs. Shpiro, Borger said.

B.C. Peace River Gas Well Canada's Largest Producer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fort St. John No. 65, a natural gas well drilled in the Peace River district of British Columbia last October, is continuing to pour out gas at its original rate of 137,000,000 cubic feet daily, a spokesman for Pacific Petroleums Limited said here Friday night.

The gasser is believed to be Canada's largest producer. The spokesman for Pacific Petroleums, which brought in the well, quoted George McMahon, president, as saying: "By any standard, this is a big well. The discovery is a major one."

The well, located near Fort St. John, B.C., produced gas in Triassic formation at a depth of 4,800 feet. Winter conditions prevented carrying out of proving tests until recently, when the immense flow was verified.

The spokesman for Pacific Petroleums said here that a city the size of Vancouver would use only about 20,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily. (Thus seven Vancouvers could be supplied.)

The biggest producer in Alberta turns out gas at the rate of 135,000,000 cubic feet daily, 2,000,000 cubic feet less than the Fort St. John No. 65.

On the Toronto stock exchange Friday Pacific Petroleums closed at $21.25, up $1.75.

AWAITED TEST

"The results were so phenomenal that we did not claim them immediately until an open flow confirmation could be made," said Mr. McMahon.

Extreme cold weather held up the test until this week, and then, as Mr. McMahon said, "It confirmed the drill-stem tests completely.

"Our development program is now 75 per cent completed," said Mr. McMahon.

The well is about 12 times the size of the average good well in the Fort St. John field.

Industrials, Metals Gain at Toronto

Industrials and base metals gained ground while western oils were holding early gains on the Toronto stock market today.

Mixed trends ruled on the New York stock market today. For the most part price changes were small while activity, after a little flurry early, remained in its recent dull rut. Steels, motion pictures and utilities were among the better acting groups. Lower prices were recorded for most rubbers, aircraft manufacturers and airlines.

AT TORONTO western oil index gains outnumbered losses more than three-to-one. Pacific Pete was up ⅞ to 22⅛, and Royalite ½ to 16½ among high-priced issues. Provo Gas, which is not an index stock, was the feature among juniors, climbing 40 cents to $3.05.

Most price changes among mines were narrow but there were a few exceptions. Falconbridge lost 1¼ points at 35 and Hudson Bay gained a point at 82. Uraniums, however, were easier as Northspan lost 20 cents at $8.20, and Algom ¼ at 22¼.

Industrials were featured by a 1½-point climb by Algoma Steel, at 129. Trans-Mountain Pipe Line was ahead ½.

AT NEW YORK gaining Canadian stocks included Distillers-Seagrams and Granby Mining, up ¼ and ⅛ respectively. Off were International Nickel, down ½, Aluminium Ltd. and Walker-Gooderham, off ¼ each, and Hudson Bay Mining ⅛ lower.

Upside Canadian issues on the American Stock Exchange included Shawinigan, ahead ⅜, Fargo Oil 5/16 and Scurry-Rainbow 1/16.

AT MONTREAL industrials today turned irregularly better in moderate trading on the stock exchange.

Mines were mixed with Phillips Oil gaining 10 at 1.80 and Montgary dropping 11 cents to 2.29.

AT LONDON trade on the stock market today was restricted by Britain's industrial disputes and the trend of sterling on the foreign exchange market.

Government securities steadied after early weakness. In foreigners there was a renewed demand for German bonds but Greek issues encountered profit taking.

In rails, Canadian Pacific were dull and dollar stocks generally reflected Friday's indecisive trend on Wall Street.

AT VANCOUVER, prices moved up on an active market. Vantor sold 65,700 shares between $1.85 and $1.95. Futurity moved 13,000 at 52. Mid-West Copper sold 4,000 at 30.

Imperial Oil Plans Stock Share Boost

TORONTO (CP) — Imperial Oil Ltd., proposes an increase in its capital stock from 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 shares, and the proposal will be submitted to shareholders at a special meeting April 26.

J. R. White, president, said the company has no present plans for issuing additional shares. The change is being proposed he added, because about 90 per cent of the present authorized shares have been issued, and the number remaining in the treasury is considered inadequate if it should ever become advisable to issue more shares.

Firm Name Changed

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Car and Foundry Company, Ltd., today changed its name to Canadian Car Company, Ltd., President E. J. Cosford said the change in name is "a natural consequence" to the establishment last year of a new company, Canadian Steel Foundries Ltd., formerly a division of Can-Car.

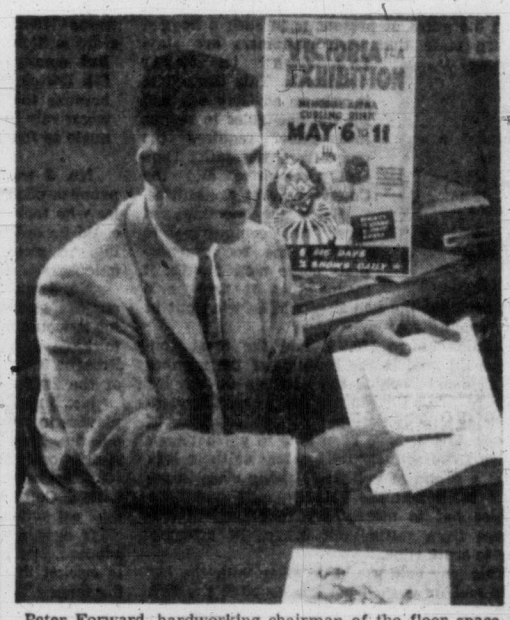
LAST CALL FOR EXHIBITION SPACE



Peter Forward, hardworking chairman of the floor space committee for the forthcoming Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, looks over the record number of applications for display space. Prompt action is necessary to secure an exhibit at the fair, for only a limited number of booths remain available. Advance public interest indicates that it will be the biggest exhibition of its kind ever held in Victoria. It is scheduled to be held in the Memorial Arena and Curling Rink, May 6th to 11th inclusive.

RUSS DEVALUE RUBLE TO ATTRACT TOURISTS

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia announced Saturday it will raise foreign currency exchange rates for personal non-commercial transactions by as much as 150 per cent today.

The official exchange rates will remain the same, but the government will grant varying premiums for different foreign currencies in a move obviously designed to attract foreign tourists.

It means visitors will have cheaper hotel and travel expenses inside the Soviet Union and may be able to buy gifts and souvenirs at less expense.

FORMER EMPLOYEE IN COURT

Garfield Weston Charges Death Threat

LONDON (Reuters) — Garfield Weston, Canadian-born millionaire head of a giant baking company, Saturday told a court a man threatened to kill him and vowed to seduce or rape his five daughters.

Weston's lawyers said the "biscuit king" was "compelled to invoke protection of the law for his own life and for the security of his family" from Kenneth Douglas Hunt, a scientist and former Weston company employee.

The official summons against Hunt was for alleged use of threats.

The threats allegedly took place March 11 at a luxury hotel, after Weston tried to persuade Hunt to sell 40 shares of a Weston firm.

Weston told the court Hunt said he would get his way with him, and "if he could not do it by law, he would use a gun."

He quoted Hunt as saying: "I'll seduce your daughters, or I'll rape them."

Hunt swore out a warrant against Weston because he said the millionaire told him "you scum, get back into the gutter where you belong."

The hearing on complaints of both men was adjourned until April 6.

Weston is chairman of Canadian, American and British biscuit and food companies and founder of the Weston Biscuit Company, and George Weston Ltd., of Toronto.

"HER SECRET SIN"

By MAURICE HUMBER

I could always take pansies, or leave 'em alone,
And never before
. . . such plants have I sown;
As I go in, for stuff more dramatic,
Like gladiolus
. . . tall tulips
. . . of these I'm fanatic;
So,—I dunno
what happened?
. . . it sure wasn't planned,
I just spotted these pansies in a Fort St.
stand.
I wasn't going to stop . . . No Sir . . . not me,
But ONE of these pansies . . . winked
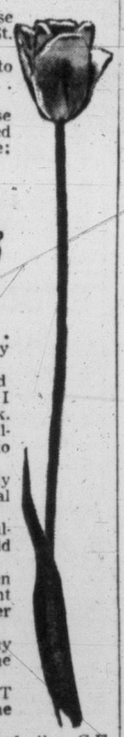
. . . straight at me:



I turned about . . .
stopped dead in my track,
She was all dressed in velvet . . . so I
up, & went on to say,
"Arn't they lovely
. . . it's our Special to-day".
"She's" special, alright" . . . I should have fled.
But this brazen
Miss Pansy, right then, tossed her head.
So I reached for my wallet, amidst the
"I'll take THAT one . . . I mean the whole flat".
"What Gives", sed the G.F., from our front door,
You NEVER have picked-up . . .
pansies before"????
" "She" winked", I replied, "she has a secret sin,
She wants to be a hollyhock . . .
tall, gay & thin;
Says she longs to feel the clouds sail by,
And to flirt with humming-birds,
way up in the sky.
She's tired of crawly things around her feet,
And bored, & fed up, being just stout & sweet.
So,—high up in that window-box,
I'll reach her in.
To throw scent
about . . . &

TEAMSTERS CONTROL EVERYTHING ON WHEELS

$100 Million in Yearly Dues Paid by Variety of Workers

Editor's Note: The Teamsters Union, much in the news these days, is a big and complex labor organization. How it got that way and how it functions is told in the following story.

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Practically everything an American owns and uses—his furniture, bread, milk, laundry, clothes, beer, even the hearse that takes him on that final ride—is handled by a member of the Teamsters Union.

It's an organization with 1,500,000 members, mainly truck drivers and chauffeurs, but also production workers in various fields.

Nearly one out of every 100 people in the U.S. belongs and pays dues to the Teamsters Union.

It collects about $100,000,000 a year in dues and controls welfare funds several times that amount.

"Everything on wheels"—and then some — is the Teamsters Union jurisdiction.

HAS HUGE POWER

The statistics furnish an inkling of the inherent economic power of the giant labor union which, for more than a month, has been the main target of Senate rackets investigators.

The union's exact title is the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America.

The union grew under the late president Dan Tobin, a Boston Irishman, grabbing off jurisdiction—and members—in a lot of industries in which other unions claimed organizing rights.

Dave Beck replaced the aging Tobin in 1952. While Beck's financial deals now are raising eyebrows, he has done a job for his union.

The union's membership is at least 250,000 greater than it was when Beck took over. And the union's contracts generally rank with the best in the country from the worker's standpoint.

The Teamsters are the truck drivers, the long-haul boys jockeying freight across country.

But there are thousands and thousands of other Teamsters driving local delivery trucks, ambulances, taxicabs and practically every other type of vehicle.

The union also represents production workers in milk plants, breweries, canneries, all sorts of fruit and vegetable processing workers and handlers, race track employees, warehouse employees, and pinball and vending machine servicemen.

HOW TO FIGHT ASTHMA
Sufferers may now escape from severe coughing, wheezing, sneezing and difficult breathing during Asthma, Bronchitis and Hay-Fever attacks by taking scientifically compounded MENDACO. Quickly helps relax bronchial tubes and remove choking phlegm. Thus aids freer breathing and sounder sleep. Get MENDACO at druggists. Feel fit again.

TEAMSTERS SUPPORT PROBE

PORTLAND (AP)—A petition signed by 625 members of the Teamsters' Union was sent Sunday night to the Senate labor rackets investigating committee, urging abolition of "all racketeering in all unions."

The petition was the third to come from teamster members in Oregon supporting the work of the committee.

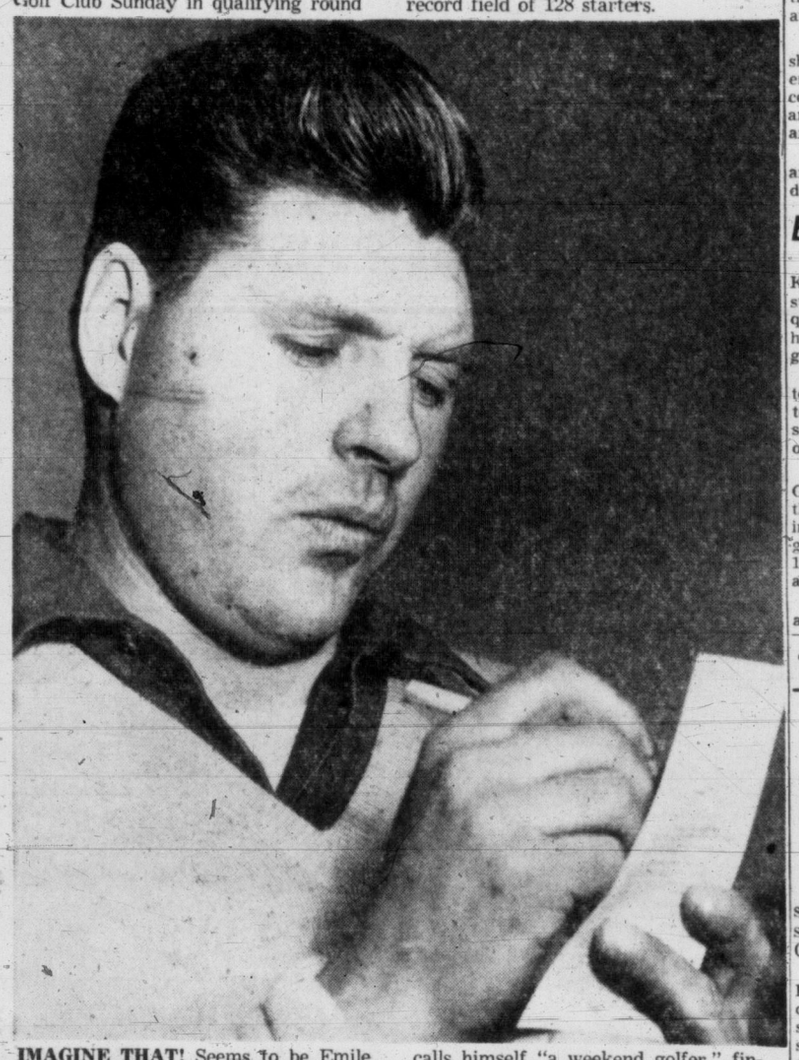
Wedge Bill's Best Brush In Painting Medal Victory

WE DID PRETTY GOOD, DIDN'T WE?

Colwood veteran Bill McColl was almost happy enough to kiss one of his clubs after he came in with a par 72 despite windy conditions at Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday in qualifying round of Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open golf championships. The effort was good enough to give McColl, the 1955 champion, medal honors among record field of 128 starters.



IMAGINE THAT! Seems to be Emile Beauchemin's reaction when he adds up his scorecard. Beauchemin, who calls himself "a weekend golfer," finished in the runner-up position with a fine 73. (Times Photos by Strickland.)

Colwood Star Fires Par 72 To Lead Qualifying Round

Artistic Bill McColl painted the Gorge Vale Golf Club with a gaudy pattern of brilliant strokes Sunday to win medalist honors on the qualifying round of the Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament.

Ignoring a gusty, shifting wind that blew away two other former champions, 1955 champ McColl hung up a par-equalling 72 under rough conditions, finishing in a blaze of glory over the last four holes.

However, not so fortunate were two-time champion Eric Hibberson, who blew to a shocking 85, and 1953 winner Bob Morrison, who took a seven on the par 13th and skidded to an 81. Neither qualified for the championship division.

McColl, who usually depends on his putter as his most deadly weapon, had his wedge to thank for Sunday's medal-winning round.

The precise Colwood shot-maker holed a 40-yard wedge shot on the 495-yard 15th for a dramatic eagle three that snatched back the two strokes he had slipped over par on the first nine. He slipped on the 16th, three-putting for a bogie four, but scrambled for a clutch par on the 17th. A long drive left him a wedge shot from the green, but his ball was lying in marshy ground and he mis-hit his first effort and was still 15 feet short of the green. However, he used his wedge again and stopped his ball four feet from the flag and dropped the putt for his par.

McColl closed out his round at even par with a fine birdie on the 18th, belting a six-iron eight feet from the pin on his second shot and corking the putt for a three.

On the first nine, McColl had only one par, three birdies—on the first, sixth and seventh—and five bogies. His back nine was made up of an eagle, two birdies, four pars and two bogies.

Bill Had Everything—Bogies to Eagle

McColl's closest competitor was a comparative unknown, Emile Beauchemin, a long-hitting left-hander, who came through with a rousing 73 over his home course. Laurie Carroll, Victoria Golf Club assistant pro, was third with a 75 and there were six players bunched at 76.

The tricky wind, which could shift completely around a player in the course of one hole, combined with the slow greens and heavy fairways to make par an elusive item.

Five players came in with 80's and two of them qualified in a draw to fill the last two vacancies in the open division. Mickey Bartkow and Pat Frith will be among the 32 qualifiers who will start match play in the open division next Sunday at Uplands Golf Club. However, Roger Ross, Pete Leung and Jack Galbraith were shunted to the handicap division in the draw between the five 80-scorers.

Archie Gillies of Gorge Vale, a 16-handicapper playing what he called the best round of golf he has ever had, won the "B" division medal, coming in with an 81-16—65. At that, Gillies stubbed a chip and mis-hit his putt on the 18th for a double-bogey six.

Big Names Found Trouble Lurking

Defending champion Laurie Kerr of Colwood, long and straight as a string off the tee, qualified handily with a 77 but had some trouble with his short game.

Hibberson, the only man ever to win the tournament twice, took a fat eight on the par five seventh hole and had a couple of sixes on the back nine.

Cowichan's usually steady Gordy Whan, top threat from the up-Island contingent, ran into every imaginable piece of grief on the 15th hole and took 10 strokes, zooming his score to a non-qualifying 84.

McColl described his round as, "One of those days when I could have had an 80 or a 65. I had some luck with me."

He said that on his eagle, he had used his driver off the fairway on his second shot and was playing the wedge shot for the back of the green. The ball took two bounces and rolled straight in.

Next Sunday, McColl will be facing a relative as the first-round draw had matched him with his 20-year-old nephew, Jim McColl Jr.

McColl's card follows:

Par Out—434 444 544—36.

McColl Out—345, 453, 455—38.

Par In—454 435 344—36-36—72.

THEY'RE ALL TOUGH

Tennis star Warren Cameron found that all putts can be tough and takes no chances as he lines up this short "sitter" during Sunday's Times Open qualifying round.

Harper Picks Off Island Rock Title

Glen Harper won the Vancouver Island curling championship at the Victoria Curling Club, Sunday night, as he skipped his rink to a victory over Tony Folk in an all-Duncan battle.

Harper, who dropped his opening game of the Island playdown to Folk at Duncan, won eight straight games in the weekend round-robin at Victoria to finish in a first-place tie with Folk and Victoria's Dr. Kirby Moysey.

Folk drew a bye in the three-way playoff needed to decide the crown and Harper ousted Moysey before taking to the ice to continue his winning skein and take the title with a triumph over his club-mate.

Playing with Harper were Harvey Hodge, third; Vern Kaspick, second, and Ed Mould, lead.

Folk was skipping for "Shorty" Berkey, Pat Ryan and Bobby Bell.

Play in the Victoria Curling Club's annual - mixed bonspiel reached the final rounds in Sunday night's competition and finals will be played tonight, starting at 7 o'clock.

Bill Johnston and Geoff Martin will meet for the "A" event crown; Les Bedford will match rocks with Jack Moir in the "B" event final, and Mac Woods will tackle Ken Sturrock in the final round of "C" event.

BOSTON—Tony DeMarco, 145¾, Boston, outpointed Larry Boardman, 141¼, Marlborough, Con. 10.

TENPIN CHAMPION

Alex Rolls Up Unique Double

Versatile Alex McKeachie won the all-events and singles crown in the annual city tenpin bowling championships, which wound up with singles and doubles events at Gibson's Bowladrome Sunday.

McKeachie, who bowls with Princess Mary's in Gibson's commercial league, took the singles title with the highest score registered in the event during the past five years—676. Operating with a 12-pin handicap each game, he rolled scratch scores of 640 in singles, 573 in doubles and 532 in last week's team event, which, with his total handicap of 108 for the nine games, gave him an all-events total of 1,853.

McKeachie, who had a scratch average of 202 in Sunday's events, achieved a unique double with the triumph. The former basketball star has twice won the city fivepin singles crown and took the fivepin all-events in 1941.

DUNICK SECOND

Second in the all-events and singles was youthful Johnny Dunick, who rolled 640 in singles and was 46 points off the pace with a total of 1,807 in the all-events.

Dunick, with a total handicap of 198, chalked up scratch scores of 574 in singles, 501 in doubles and 534 in the team competition.

Roy Bridger, with scores of 581, 585 and 530, plus his handicap of 99, was third in the all-events at 1,795.

Third in the singles chase was Ollie Corbett, who had a total of 637 and a four-pin edge over Roy Begg. Ralph Baker finished up in fifth place with 632, one pin in front of sixth-place Jack Logie.

George Motion and Ken Munn repeated their triumph of four years ago when they took the doubles championship with a score of 1,249, 12 pins ahead of the runner-up duo of Donnelly and Freer.

In the third place were Andy Palmer and Cass Sapala with 1,190, followed by Bill Coates and Bill Holness and the pair of Len Murrant and Fred Welsh, who were tied for the fourth spot at 1,187.

Aqua-Nymphs Keep Crown

For the fifth time in nine tries and the second year in a row YMCA Aqua-Nymphs won the HBC Trophy as B.C. synchonized swimming champions at Vancouver's Crystal Pool on Saturday.

Coached by Rita Norberry, the team roster includes Gay Culpepper, Brahna Hooper, Marlette Neil, Penny Druce, Donna Finch and Lois Pomeroy.

Miss Hooper and Miss Neil won second place in the duet division of the competitions.

Old Order Has Troubles; But Still Resists Change

By PETER MATHEWS

The old order changeth—a little, but don't make way for the new, just yet.

This was qualifying day in the annual Times Island match play golf championships and, for a change, the weatherman co-operated. (Last year a gale, the year before a storm; Sunday, a balmy day with a brisk spring breeze the only deterrent.)

And there were big name casualties — Bob Morrison, several times city champion; Frank Scroggs, a one-time Uplands king; Gordie Whan of Duncan, and the biggest of the lot—Eric Hibberson, a two-time winner of the event.

None of the above qualified as 80 was the highest select score with two players being drawn into the final 32.

But lest the old guard feel discouraged, there was a voice from the past that was heard and loudly.

The '55 champion, Bill McColl, with an eagle on the 15th and a birdie on the 18th nipped in with a par 72 for medalist honors.

On that score, last year's medalist Bob Fleming, who wasn't entered this year, is reported considering an assistant professional offer from eastern Canada and soon will likely be leaving these shores.

Speaking of assistant pros, an interested spectator at Gorge Vale was Bruce Carmichael of the hockey Cougars.

Bruce was interested because he has, as his summer occupation, a position as assistant to Bill Court of Colwood Club.

Although the tourney lacked some of the illustrious names of the past, such as Fleming, Hugh Morrison and George Andrews—the Courts, the Kerrs and the Clarksons were out in force.

Court was sporting an Arizona tan; Clarkson looked fit after a winter of basketball and Kerr was, as usual, offering no excuses for a 77.

How to win while losing was demonstrated by Jack Galbraith who didn't qualify but had the winning "pool" ticket on medalist McColl. Galbraith, an 80-scorer, missed the Open division in a five-man draw for two available berths.

Incidentally, in fairness to Whan, who last year won handicap medalist honors, he came a cropper on one hole, the 15th, where he took a fat "10".

Surprise showing was by Emile Beauchemin, an ex-Winnipeger, who in his "second or third round" since October, had a commendable one-over par 73.

The southpaw swinger is ripe for upset honors as last year he won the Island left-hander's event and placed third among B.C. portsiders.

A fellow to watch is a recent B.C. Telephone Co. transfer from Vancouver, Bob Kelly of Colwood.

He fitted his game to the tricky Gorge course for a 77.

Laurie Carroll, assistant pro of Victoria Club, didn't explain how he liked the Gorge course, but his 75 included seven three-putt greens.

This makes Laurie, long overdue, a distinct threat.

Matter of fact (although The Times hates to admit it), Mr. Keate flubbed the tourney opening.

An avid golfer, he borrowed a ball from Gorge pro Joe Pryke for the teeoff ceremony, and promptly clouted same ball off line into neighboring trees.

In the hushed silence that followed, Mr. Keate's voice could be heard as he begged another chance.

"Hey, Joe . . ."

OVERTIME LOSS SHATTERS PLAYOFF DREAMS

By DENNY BOYD

Royals Knock Cougars Back to Lunch-Bucket League

NEW WESTMINSTER — The Victoria Cougars went back to the eight-hour-day lunch bucket league this week, their hockey employment having terminated abruptly Saturday night in New Westminster's Queens Park Arena.

The wound-racked New Westminster Royals swung the axe on the Cougars Saturday night, lopping the Victoria club out of the Western Hockey League playoff picture with a pulsating, 2-1 overtime victory in the third and last game of their best-of-three semi-final series.

Royals had won the first game, 3-2 in overtime, and the Cougars evened it with a 4-1 win.

And today, as the Royals prepared to face the Seattle Americans in the coast division final, the Cougars were packing their gear and heading to their respective homes, at the end of a frustrating year that was dominated all season long by the two factors that defeated them Saturday night—the inability to win away from home and a singular lack of success in overtime games.

Officially, the season ended at 11.55 of the overtime period Saturday night when Bobby Love, Royals' veteran centre swung at Ted Lebodia's shot, got the fat part of his stick to it and sent it whistling cleanly past Marcel Pelletier for the goal that cost every Cougar player $433.33 in playoff money that flew out the window.

However, until next hockey season rolls around, it will be argued that the Cougars lost their chances during the regular schedule, when token success on the road and a healthy share of overtime victories could have boosted the club to a first-place finish. As it was, the Cougars depended on their ability to win at home to scramble under the playoff wire in third place.

Saturday's game was the 14th road game in succession without a victory.

The Royals, always a ticklish problem in their own arena, used the small ice surface to perfection for the first period and a half as they forechecked the Cougars dizzy. But the Victoria club, from the 10-minute point of the second period, had the Royals on the run continuously and were stopped only by the colossal goal-tending of Bev Bentley, who was the only barrier between the Cougars and a crack at the Seattle team in the final.

Even Love's winning goal went against the run of play as the Cougars were peppering Bentley with shots, forcing him to freeze the puck repeatedly for faceoffs in the New Westminster end.

It was a tremendous try for the Cougars, who played it with every ounce of moxie they could muster. Cheered on by 150 Victoria fans who traveled over for the game, the Cougars did not deserve to lose. But, today they are heading home, their season over, and facing the prospect of picking up the lunch bucket for their off-season jobs.

There was no scoring in the first period as both clubs played taught, safety-valve hockey. The Cougars did not get a shot on goal until almost four and a half minutes of play.

The Royals struck for the first goal of the game at 3.35 of the second period.

Lebodia, called in from the interior to replace injured Pete Durham, hoisted a long shot from the point that was kicked out by Cougar goalie Marcel Pelletier. But Gordy Fashoway reached out and drove the rebound home with a well-directed back-hander and the Royals had what seemed a mountainous lead.

Bentley made two heart-stopping blocks on shots by Don Chiupka and Doug Anderson in the final minutes of the period but the Cougars, although they were assuming control of the game, still went into the third period trailing by one goal.

The relentless Cougar pressure finally paid off in the tying goal at the 5.04 mark when Bill Dobbyn, a defensive standout in the three-game series, barged in on Bentley to deflect Anderson's long shot into the net.

Pelletier speared a line drive from Love at 12 minutes and Bentley stopped Wayne Brown on a close-in shot as regulation time ran out.

In the space of two minutes in the overtime period, Bentley picked off hard shots from Doug Macauley, Ray Powell and Macauley again and Pelletier went to his knees to glove a scorching slap shot from the side by Fashoway.

Then, at 11.55, Lebodia sent in his harmless looking shot and Love, nearing the twilight of a great career, whirled and slapped it behind Pelletier.

THE LITTLE MAN who knocked the Cougars out of the Western Hockey League playoffs Saturday night was Bobby Love, who scored winning goal in overtime as New Westminster Royals beat Cougars, 2-1.

STAMPS KNOCKED OUT

Flyers Enter Prairie Final

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Flyers advanced to the Western Hockey League Prairie division finals Saturday night, scoring a 4-1 victory over Calgary Stampeders before a crowd of 7,815 to win the best-of-three semifinals, 2-1.

The Flyers combined persistent checking with accurate offensive passing plays to score the victory, their second straight after Stampeders won the opening game 4-2 here Monday night. Flyers won the second game 6-1 in Calgary Thursday.

TWO FOR ROOKIE

Rookie Cummy Burton led the Edmonton scoring with two goals, while Tom McCarthy and Jerry Melnyk got one each. Defenceman Vic Dzurko scored the only Calgary Goal.

The Flyers went ahead late in the first period while Stampeders were shorthanded, and never looked back. They increased the margin to 3-1 in the second and added an insurance goal early in the third.

Both clubs displayed playoff hockey form in the sudden-death game and tempers flared occasionally. Stampeder playing coach Lee Foglin at one point kicked a board loose from a door to the Calgary players' box.

Sid Finney of Stampeders and Chuck Holmes traded blows late in the third period but no serious damage was done. Fogolin was the first to congratulate Polle when the game ended.

Evidence of the Flyer checking were the stops by goaltenders Hank Bassen of Calgary, and Dennis Riggin of Edmonton in the last period. Bassen handled 14 while Riggin was tested only three times.

Bruins Holding Whip; Habs Riddle Rangers

(From AP and CP)

Boston Bruins, "a bunch of guys who have fought back all season," have the edge on Detroit Red Wings in the Stanley Cup semifinal but realize their task has only begun.

"It's half of what we want here," coach Milt Schmidt said Sunday night after the Bruins edged Detroit 4-3 to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

"Now we have to win our second game here at home Tuesday night," Schmidt added. "We can't afford to lose that one."

The teams split the first two contests in Detroit.

Meanwhile coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers, a man of mercurial spirits himself, called his sagging team out for a 9 a.m. practice today to see what can be done about lifting them into winning form.

The Rangers absorbed an unmereciful 8-3 trouncing at the hands of Montreal Canadiens Saturday night and Watson couldn't disguise his displeasure at the performance of some of his hired help.

The setback left the New Yorkers trailing 2-1 in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final. The fourth game will be played Tuesday.

GARDNER SCORES WINNER

The Bruins made mistakes which cost them a 3-1 lead but came back to win on veteran Cal Gardner's 20-foot shot at 13.28 of the third period.

Capt. Fernie Flaman, No. 1 Boston defenceman, came out of the game with a twisted ankle, a recurrence of an old injury. He hopes to be fit for Tuesday.

The Bruins hopped into a 2-0 lead in the first period on goals by Stasiuk and Leo Boivin. The goal was the second of the series for Boivin, defenceman who scored only twice during 55 games in the regular season.

Alex Delvecchio got Detroit's first goal before the first period ended. Leo Labine made it 3-1 with the only tally of the second period.

Early in the third Gordie Howe and rookie Billy Dea scored a pair to make the 3-3 deadlock that set up Gardener's winner.

EQUALS RECORD

The Montreal line of Bernie Geoffrion, Jean Beliveau and Bert Olmstead was clicking perfectly, accounting for five of Montreal's eight goals and nine of the 14 assists, Geoffrion scoring three goals.

Beliveau scored two goals and Olmstead equalled the playoff record with five assists.

Dickie Moore also scored a pair of goals, ending a mild slump, and Maurice Rocket Richard scored one. The Rocket also had an assist and made a two-way contribution to his ever-increasing playoff record. He now has scored 65 goals and 101 points—records in both departments — in 104 playoff games.

Andy Bathgate, the Rangers' best sharpshooter throughout the season, scored two goals and Dave Creighton got the other for New York.

SOOKE FEMME CAGERS WIN BANTAM TOURNEY

Sooke girls won the B.C. bantam basketball crown in Vancouver Saturday night when they defeated Sunset Majorettes, 25-15, behind a 10-point effort by Irene Way, in round-robin play with five other provincial teams.

Jacqueline Aplin, of the winners, was voted Most-Valuable Player in the girls' division of the tournament. She scored eight points against Majorettes and nine against Nanaimo Friday when Sooke won 34-20.

First United boys were eliminated in the semi-finals when Strong's Tomboys won 40-26.

FOURTH IN AZALEA

Stan Money-Man Of Canadians

WILMINGTON, N.C. (CP)—Stan Leonard has taken the lead over Al Balding in the friendly rivalry among the two top Canadian touring pros for the title of top money winner on the U.S. golf circuit.

Leonard, Vancouver golfer who plays out of Lachute, Que., fired a four-under-par 68 to finish in a fourth-place tie and earn $760 in the $12,500 Azalea Open.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., who had built up a healthy lead after 54 holes, shot a poor 75 but managed to snatch first-place money of $1,700 with a six-under-par 288, a stroke better than runner-up Dow Finsterwald of Jupiter, Fla., who picked up $1,300.

Leonard, in the money in eight tournaments this year after winning $7,291 in 1956, now has earned total prize money of $4,960.66.

HAS TWO WINS

Balding, Canadian PGA champion from Toronto who finished out of the money here, has picked up $4,221.57, more than he earned all last year when his winnings were $3,610.

Leonard's scores were 75-72-73-68—288. Other Canadian scores were Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener, Ont., 73-73-73-79—298; Bob Wylie, Calgary, 76-73-72-78—299; Balding, 73-78-73-77—301.

'Y' Swimmers Strong Third

Archie McKinnon's Victoria "Flying Y" swam their way to third place in the Pacific Northwest YMCA swimming championships in the University of Washington pool at Seattle Saturday night, coming in only five points behind the winning Tacoma entry. They beat out 12 other teams from the area for the third position.

Bob Wheaton paced the local entrants when he won the 150-yard medley and placed second in the 100-yard backstroke, while Stan Cameron took the 50-yard backstroke and came third in the 50-yard free-style. Bruce Warburton copped the 100-yard breast-stroke and combined with Wheaton and Dickie to take second in the medley relay.

Warburton, Wheaton, Dickie and Mike Muirhead teamed up to finish third in the free-style relay.

Jack Todd came up with a surprise win the senior men's 100-yard breast-stroke when he beat John Service, Scottish British Empire Games star.

Strong support for the individual stand-outs came from Gord Davies, Doug Patterson, John Todd, Peter Kangro, Hubert Williston, Dennis Gornall, Sandy Brebner, Rickie Todd, Gordon Davis and McNeely.

BILLY MEYER DIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Death has claimed baseball's William Adam "Billy" Meyer, major league "manager of the year" with the underdog Pittsburgh Pirates in 1948. He died in hospital Sunday.

Chinooks Tie Series; Rally Over Bulldogs

WINNIPEG (CP)—Southern Alberta Chinooks, trailing 39-28 at half time, bounced back to edge St. Vital Bulldogs 66-61 here Saturday night to tie the best-of-five Western Canada senior men's basketball final 1-1. Third game of the series will be played in Winnipeg tonight.

Tom Karren, a six-foot three-inch centre, paced the Chinooks with 19 points, 11 in the last half. Norm MacIntosh used sparingly in the first 30 minutes, scored 12 points, all in the second half.

RUGBY FINAL

Oak Bay Ousts JBAA

Oak Bay Wanderers wandered freely across JBAA's goal line Saturday in the final game of a best-of-Three series for the Barnard Cup to win in a walk, 19-3, and capture the Victoria Rugby Union senior championship.

In complete command from the opening whistle, Wanderers held Bays scoreless until Frank Gower kicked a field goal in the dying minutes of the game.

Half-time score was 11-0 after Dick Ellis made a penalty kick and converted a try by Bob Hutchinson. He missed a conversion on a try by Russ Chambers.

In the second half Chambers scored again and Raphael Duke notched a try, which Ellis converted, before Gower answered for JBAA to stave off a whitewash.

Wanderers play a Vancouver representative, later in the month, in quest of Rounsfell Cup and B.C. honors here.

A treat is in store for English Rugby devotees, May 8, when Barbarians will be in Victoria to play on their tour. They will probably match tries with the Crimson Tide.

Lance Rutherford Leads Tillicums To Cup Triumph

Lance Rutherford put on a one-man show at Carnarvon Park as he scored eight of Tillicums 12 goals in their shutout win over MacNutt's Grocery in Division I play of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association. The win gave Tillicums the Whittaker Cup.

The remaining four goals for the winners, were scored by Ken Leibel, Dave Emery and Gary Cooper, with two.

In Division II play at Lower Beacon Hill, Optimists, league and lower-Island champions, won the H. H. Brown Cup when they scored a 2-0 win over Canadian Scottish.

Goal-getters were Alex Lacey and Alan Glen.

In Saturday play, Heaney's took Lower Island honors in Division IV by blanking Eagles 5-0 at Topaz Park while Eagles beat Lansdowne Trojans 3-1 for the Lower Island title in their division.

Knockout cup championships had Division VI Optimists winning the Clarke and Cordick Cup by a 3-1 overtime victory over ANAF Vets and Eagles upsetting Fuller's Clippers 2-1 to take the Little and Taylor Cup in Division III play.

Iverson Advances

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wally Iverson of Vancouver Sunday won the British Columbia - Alberta 10 - pin bowling championship by defeating Cecil Fowler, Calgary, with a total of 3,490 points in an 18-game series. Bower scored 2,984 points.

Iverson now moves into the Dominion bowling finals at Quebec City.

Mounties Beat Bevos

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The Vancouver Mounties beat the Portland Beavers 8-4 in the first exhibition meeting of the two Pacific Coast League baseball clubs here Saturday.

Five of the eight Vancouver runs were off veteran Bob Alexander in the fourth inning.

NEW YORK (NEA) — There were 19 major college basketball teams averaging 81 points a game and better as the season entered its final stages.

Barons, Amerks Lead AHL Semis

By The Canadian Press

Five goals were enough in the American Hockey League semi-finals during the weekend. Cleveland Barons defeated Hershey Bears 5-2 Saturday and Rochester Americans toppled Providence Reds 5-1 Sunday night.

The results left Cleveland with a 2-1 lead and Rochester with a 3-1 difference in the run to the Calder Cup final.

Flyers Lead Fort William

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—Spokane Flyers, first American team to enter an Allan Cup semi-final series, edged Fort William Beavers 3-1 here Sunday afternoon in the first game of a best-of-seven western series.

The second game will be played tonight. The winner will meet the victor of an Eastern Canada playoff for the Allan Cup.

The Flyers opened the scoring late in the second period on goals by Doug Toole and Rock Crawford and then split a pair in the third. Carl Cirullo scored the third Flyer goal after H. Backor cut their lead to one point mid-way through the final stanza.

Hotelmen Nearly There In City Boot Scramble

Only two obstacles still stand between Gorge Hotel and the Victoria and District Football League championship.

Brodie's Bakery swept Butler Brothers out of the Gorge path to the second-half league crown at Heywood Avenue Sunday and kept their own hopes alive by trimming Butlers, 4-2, on two goals in the final 10 minutes.

Victory lifted Brodies into a second-place tie with Butlers and Tillicums, two points behind the front-running Gorge squad, who won the first half title and is out in front in the second-half chase.

Butlers wound up their schedule Sunday and have no chance of catching the hotelmen, who have one match left to play and could finish up with 12 points if they beat last-place Esquimalt at Heywood Avenue next Sunday.

Brodies have only one match to play and need an Esquimalt victory Sunday to keep their hopes alive, but Tillicums can also end up with 12 points if they win both games remaining on their schedule and would finish no worse than in a first place tie.

PLAYOFF POSSIBLE

In the case of a tie, a playoff will be held to decide the second-half champion.

Tillicums served notice at Royal Athletic Park Saturday that they will be tough to handle if it comes to a playoff. The club men came from behind to edge Gorge, 3-2, in the lower-Island semi-final of the Province Cup competition.

Tillicums, who meet Brodies in the zone final at Royal Athletic Park next Saturday kept the Gorge cup jinx alive by scoring the winning goal in the final 30 seconds.

The Hotelmen, who have not advanced beyond the semi-final round in cup competitions this season, took a 1-0 lead on Charlie Constable's first-half goal and boosted the margin to 2-0 on Kurt Lamport's tally 15 minutes after the intermission.

Ced Robb played the starring role in the Tillicum comeback. He scored the first goal for the winners and made the play for the tying tally. With 30 seconds remaining, Robb broke into the clear only to be hauled down by a Gorge defender. Tim Walker took the resulting penalty kick and fired the winning shot into the lower left corner of the net.

Sunday, Don Hughes opened the scoring for Brodies but Jack Robbins tapped in a penalty for Butlers to make the score 1-1 at the half.

Charlie White sent Brodies in front again only to see Dick Nellestine even the count again. White came back with his second goal 10 minutes from the end and Ken Hibbert clinched the 4-2 decision for Brodies with the final goal five minutes from time.

Pirates Take Back Citrus League Lead

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh Pirates jumped back into the National League lead in the Grapefruit-Cactus circuit competition Sunday by defeating St. Louis Cards 5-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Bob Friend.

Pirates' victory, coupled with New York Giants' 3-2 loss to Chicago Cubs, left the standings at the top: Pittsburgh 13-6; New York and Milwaukee 14-7.

Friend was the first Pittsburgh pitcher to go the distance this year. He had offensive help from Bill Virdon, who had three hits, and Ramon Mejias and Dick Rand with two apiece.

Braves blew a 7-0 lead to Washington Senators, then came on to win 8-7 on Felix Mantilla's home run, in the 12th inning. Twenty bases on balls cluttered up the game with four of them issued by Joey Jay in the ninth inning, aiding Senators to four runs and a 7-7 deadlock.

Other results as the exhibition schedule entered its final two weeks: New York Yankees whipped Kansas City Athletics 7-3; Chicago White Sox trounced Brooklyn Dodgers 7-1; Cleveland Indians beat Baltimore Orioles 8-3 and Cincinnati Reds [illegible] Philadelphia [illegible] 3-2. [illegible] runs.

BORN IN CANADA

Gene Lockhart, Film, TV Star, Dies at 66

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Gene Lockhart, the veteran actor who became a familiar motion picture figure in dozens of supporting roles, died Sunday of a coronary thrombosis. He was 66.

With him at his bedside at St. John's Hospital here were his wife, Kathleen, and daughter, actress June Lockhart.

Lockhart, born at London, Ont., made his professional debut at the age of six when he appeared with the Kilties Band of Canada. At 15, he played in sketches with Toronto-born Beatrice Lillie.

In his later movie career, Lockhart appeared in more than 300 pictures. Some of the best known included The House on 92nd Street, Leave Her to Heaven, and Man in the Grey Flannel Suit.

He was a frequent television performer and played in the series His Honor Homer Bell.

Lockhart's six-decade career also included turns at concert and operatic singing, writing a newspaper column and composing songs. He composed The World is Waiting for the Sunrise with Deems Taylor.

(A) "THE BABY AND THE BATTLESHIP" (Capitol)—If you believe this British tale of "The Baby and the Battleship" you're the type who would believe anything, even that the RN's mighty Home Fleet sails into battle stern first.

Yet, paradoxically, the British Lion Films Limited's comedy is so competently handled by Director Jay Lewis and the cast that when the final scene fades out you find yourself thinking "Well, it could have happened, couldn't it?"

THE FUN AND GAMES that sets the comedy afloat is humorous enough. John Mills, who will be remembered as the cobbler in "Hobson's Choice," and his mate Richard Attenborough land in Naples off HMS Gillingham. They do the town and try to take out Lisa Gastoni, the daughter of an Italian baker. But papa's a tough cookie. His price for wooing daughter is that the sailors must also take along the family's latest baby, 10-months-old Martyn Garrett. The upshot of it all is, the boys get into a fight and have to flee the police. Puncher (Mills) is left high and (not so) dry with the baby. Expecting his pal to join him at the jetty he desperately smuggles the baby aboard the Gillingham when it's time for the warship to sail. It's here that the picture steers into the sormy seas of chaos swep by violent gales of laughter.

It is not necessary to continue into the plot further. Any seaman worthy of his salt can imagine what happens to the cut-and-dried routine of a battleship when there is a stow-away baby aboard.

IT IS SUFFICIENT to say that there haven't been any more hilarious scenes in any motion picture than when the Gillingham's captain (Michael Horden) makes rounds for the benefit of a visiting Marshal of a foreign state. No matter where the men try to hide the baby that is where the inspection party is sure to make a beeline. There won't be a sailor or ex-sailor anywhere who won't be able to sympathize with the harassed baby-hiding party or, for that matter, with the bewildered ward-room and its suspicious guest.

IF IT IS A LONG LAUGH YOU WANT you'll find it and many others in Britain's "The Baby and the Battleship." You'll also lose your heart completely to remarkable thespian baby Garrett.

Miss Canadian Mink Lands U.K. Film Role

LONDON (CP) — Lynn Tracey, green-eyed blonde model turned actress who was voted Miss Canadian Mink two years ago, has landed her first big film part in J. Arthur Rank's production of Miracle in Soho.

Twenty-year-old Miss Tracey returned to England four months ago after a two-year absence, during which she worked in Toronto and Montreal and later in New York.

Powerhousemen Ask 25% Wage Increase

About 150 powerhouse employees in 27 lumber, shingle or plywood mills on Vancouver Island, including four in Victoria, are seeking a 25 per cent across-the-board wage increase, business agent Ed Callan, International Union of Operating Engineers, local 9-18, said Saturday.

Victoria mills affected are Crowe Gonnason Co. Ltd., Sooke Lake Lumber Ltd., McCarter Shingle Co. Ltd., and Smith Cedar Products Ltd.

Meanwhile, Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, local 1163, has asked for a conciliation officer on behalf of 15 master painters in Victoria.

The union rejected a 20-cent-an-hour increase over two years on top of the present $2.19 an hour for brush painting, holding out for parity with Vancouver painters.

This would mean an increase to $2.35 immediately, jumping to $2.45 September 1 and $2.60 in April next year.

Record Building To Ease Taxation For Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP)—City building inspector Ben Boers, said an upsurge of building this year is expected to lighten the tax burden of property owners here.

He reported the average yearly total of $525,000 in commercial building has been trebled in the first three months of this year.

The inspector said a record monthly total of $1,339,489 in building permits was issued in March.

$25 A PLATE FOR OYSTERS

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—A plate of oysters cost two young men here more than $25 each — and they never even sampled the dish.

Mike Czarnecki and Howard Loyd were each fined $10 in police court for obtaining food at the Lantern Inn and failing to pay for it.

In addition they were ordered to pay $8.80 for the food they didn't eat, witness fees, and $6.50 police costs.

Throw Liquor On Floor, Says Magistrate

NANAIMO (CP)—Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts had strong-worded advice for John Sheppe when he fined him $50 in Nanaimo police court Friday on a charge of being in possession of liquor in a cafe.

Sheppe said he was trying to return the liquor to a man who had offered him a drink against his will when police seized the bottle.

The magistrate said: "Just knock it off the table or throw it on the floor."

Liberals Name Ex-Lumberman At Qualicum

QUALICUM BEACH—Alfred Carl Fillinger of Qualicum, retired sawmill operator, was nominated Saturday as Liberal candidate for Comox-Alberni in the next federal election.

Born in Norway, he settled in New Westminster in 1907, and operated sawmills at Nanaimo, Port Alberni, and Ashcroft. He is married, and has a son and daughter.

ELECTION

Les McKinnon of Alberni was elected president of the constituency association at the annual meeting following the nomination.

Other officers chosen were Irving Wilson, Alberni, first vice-president; Mrs. Mary Sutherland, Parksville, second vice-president; Robert McPhee, Courtenay, third vice-president; Mark Stelling, Fanny Bay, secretary-treasurer.

H. J. Welch, former MLA for Comox, was elected to the executive council.

Chief speaker at the meeting was Alistair Fraser, Liberal candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich.

INCONSPICUOUS QUALITY HEARING AIDS!

Zenith offers the World's Finest Quality Hearing Aids—tiny, light, inconspicuous—$65 to $165

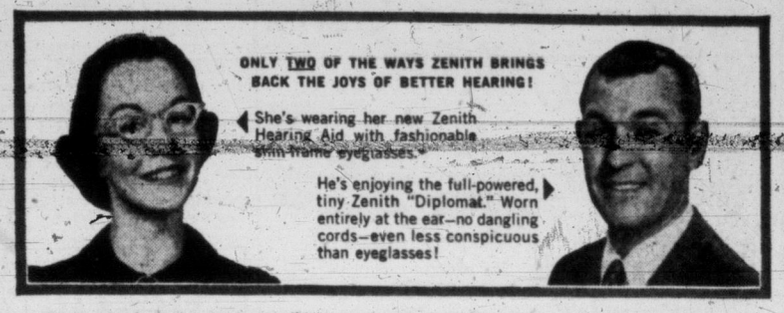
If you are hard-of-hearing, you naturally want a hearing aid that is inconspicuous . . . something really new and different.

All hearing aid manufacturers and dealers know this. That's why some of them use such alluring phrases as "a miracle of concealed hearing"..."unique and revolutionary inventions"..."a sensational new discovery"... and other exaggerated claims. But actually, the only big difference in hearing aids today is the price!

How is Zenith able to offer hearing aids of such exceptional quality at such sensible prices? Zenith's outstanding quality is a direct result of over 38 years of leadership and growth in electronics exclusively. As for price: if Zenith paid commissions of $145 to $160, as some do, even our $65 model would have to sell for over $200!

You don't risk a penny! We offer you a genuine 10-Day Money-Back Guarantee of complete satisfaction! Hear better or your money is refunded in full!

Don't delay! See Zenith's superb line of 4- and 5-transistor models at your nearby Zenith Hearing Aid Dealer. He's listed in the classified telephone directory. Or mail coupon for free catalog and list of dealers.



*Lenses and professional services in connection with the eyeglass feature available only through your ophthalmologist, optometrist, or optician.

. . . AND NEXT YEAR?

Total of 11 trophies was won in seven-day Cowichan Musical Festival at Duncan, that ended Saturday, by four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Dougan, Shawnigan Lake. Girls are, from left, Sharon, Lynne, Donna and Heather. They study piano with Miss Nora von Heimberger, Victoria, won eight trophies last year. What will their score be next festival?

$200 Stolen From Girl's Purse in Church

A fast-working church prowler got $200 from a choir girl's handbag in a theft reported to city police Sunday afternoon.

Dr. F. E H. James, Metropolitan United Church, said Miss H. Patterson, 1810 Belmont, left her purse in the choir dressing room and went into the church with other members of the choir for a practice about 12.30 p.m.

IN FOUR MINUTES

They were gone about four minutes, he said, then returned to the dressing room when the practice was cancelled.

A small, hand-made, brown leather change purse containing more than $200 had been taken from Miss Patterson's handbag.

On Saturday, Canon Francis Tomalin of St. Matthias Church, Richmond at Richardson, reported someone had ransacked his church office between 9 and 11 p.m. Friday and church envelopes containing a total of $10 were missing.

Civil Servants Blast Government on Pay

'Seething Unrest' Over Lack of Salary Increases

B.C. civil servants were reported today to be "seething with unrest" over the government's apparent intention not to grant broad salary increases this year.

Ed O'Connor, general secretary of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said the association will seek a meeting with Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

"The employees have taken the inference that the lack of an appropriate sum in the budget indicates the government does not intend to grant an increase this year," Mr. O'Connor said in a telephone interview with the Times from Vancouver.

Increases covering many civil service categories have been recommended to the government by the Civil Service Commission after discussions with the association, Mr. O'Connor said.

One group of government workers, psychiatric nurses, have applied to the association to conduct a strike vote at Essondale, Colquitz Mental Hospital, Woodlands School and other provincial institutions.

Mr. O'Connor said government workers were granted an increase April 1 of last year, but that was the first boost since 1952 and all categories are below their counterparts in industry. The spread is continually increasing.

"The turnover in the government service is now exceptionally high," Mr. O'Connor said.

The association represents 10,300 government employees, including 2,400 in Victoria.

KIDS SET READING RECORD— OR WERE BOOKS TO SIT ON?

Who says Johnny can't read?

Saturday, for the first time in history, the children's department of Victoria Public Library circulated more books than the adult department.

The youngsters set a new record of 2,235 books out in one day—1,142 fiction and 1,093 non-fiction. Adults took home about 1,900 books.

Chief librarian John Lort says junior readership has been growing all through March.

To what does he attribute this victory over matinees and television?

"Well, a puppet show we had here Saturday may have brought in a few additional."

MONTE ROBERTS

I have always been vaguely pleased I have never attempted to be a humorist.

Being a humorist, I have always felt, is about as thankless a chore as being a school teacher or a traffic policeman.

Now along comes Robertson Davies, the bearded and famous editor of the Peterborough Examiner, to confirm the saneness of my decision to eschew humor in favor of straight, factual reporting.

Mr. Davies, in a paper read before a group of college students, explained the sad fate of humorists in Canada.

(In passing, it should be noted that ordinary editors make speeches, but editors with beards read papers.)

He points out that even in Stephen Leacock's heyday, "we were not sufficiently sure of ourselves in this country to realize that a humorist may be a serious literary artist, like the man who writes books in a more sober vain. Indeed, we still retain much of that unsophisticated approach to literature which assumes tthat what makes easy reading must have been easy writing," Mr. Robertson said.

And he said a mouthful, despite his beard.

There is a large school of thought that it can't be literature unless it reads like a half-ton truck with a two-ton load climbing a 30-degree grade with the brakes on.

But I am supposed to be reporting Mr. Davies' remarks, not making comments.

Mr. Davies explained that Canada was settled by "people with a lower-middle class outlook, and a respect, rather than an affectionate familiarity, with things of the mind.

"Worthy and staunch though they were," he went on, "there was also a grim dreariness and meagreness of intellect about them which has shaped and darkened our education system and which casts a damp blanket over our national spirits to this day. We can laugh, but we are a little ashamed of doing so, and we think less of the man who has moved us to mirth.

"We retain a sour Caledonian conviction that a man who sees life in humorous terms is necessarily a trifler," Mr. Davies concludes.

So you can see why I have never tried to be a humorist, and why I am glad my leanings have always been to the more serious side.

And I intend to keep it that way.

Always remembering, of course, that he who laughs best is he who laughs at himself.

TALENTED VICTORIA SINGER Kitty Dixon over the weekend won a weekly talent contest staged by North Vancouver radio station CKLG. She competed against five others, and has a chance to try for a $500 prize and trip to Las Vegas in the final contest in two weeks. Contest took place at ski lodge on Mount Hollyburn. Miss Dixon is a member of the women's department of the Victoria Daily Times.

Grocers Fight Night Selling Restrictions

Protest was registered at City Hall today against a section of the new Municipal Act which will halt evening sale of groceries by neighborhood stores after July 1.

William Palmer, spokesman for the Independent Merchants' Co-operative Association here, told city council in a letter: "In a few years these stores would be out of business" if the act is not speedily amended.

The new act will invalidate a by-law passed by Victoria council following a referendum in 1951.

OWN CHOICE

It gave small dealers the right to sell at hours of their own choice any grocery item Since its passage, many neighborhood dealers have remained open until late in the evening.

The new act gives municipal councils permission to exempt from regulations of hours only the sale of bakery and dairy products, confectionery, fresh fruits and fresh vegetables.

A new by-law must be passed by council to permit even these exemptions from the 6 p.m. closing requirements which is now general except for Fridays or one other night to be specified, when stores may close at 9 p.m.

LADORE FALLS GENERATING STATION is on Campbell River between Lower Campbell Lake and reservoir serving giant John Hart Development. Construction has been under way at power site since May, 1955.

Power 'Injection' for Island

A second 35,000-horsepower generator at Ladore Falls generating station, first put on load Friday, today was operating under full power, the B.C. Power Commission announced.

First generator at the site went into service Dec. 30, 1956, and a third 35,000-horsepower unit will be installed when the Vancouver Island system demands it.

The Ladore project, which cost $10,000,000, involved building a dam 350 feet long, and a tunnel 22 feet in diameter to carry water to the powerhouse 1,700 feet down stream.

FOUR MILES AWAY

Power from the generators is fed into a switchyard and carried by a transmission line to tie into the commission's main 138,000-volt Island system at the John Hart Development four miles away.

The new plant is an outdoor type and is remotely controlled from John Hart.

Meanwhile, at the 1,700-foot earth-filled dam at Upper Campbell Lake, the river has been diverted into a concrete conduit, and filling of the centre section of the dam is under way.

The Upper Campbell development is scheduled for completion by 1958, and will bring the capacity of the Campbell River system to between 350,000 and 400,000 horsepower.

Aid Refused Trio Charged In Stabbing

Three British seamen suspected of knife-stabbing an unemployed city welder last Wednesday were granted a further remand without plea in city police court today to enable them to obtain their own legal counsel.

Efforts to have the British government act on their behalf failed. Harbor and shipping master Capt. Ronald Newell, who also acts as British marine representative here, said the government would not act as long as the men had money to obtain counsel.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow, who contacted Capt. Newell, said the three men have $155 between them.

Charged with assault with intent to wound by stabbing with a knife were Brian Smith, 18, Liverpool; John Foulks, 23, Colwyn Bay, Wales, and John Huartson, 18, Fleetwood, Lancs.

Philip W. Morgan, 35, was found stabbed seven times in the left chest about 2.30 a.m. by a passing motorist at the intersection of Fort and Richmond. The seamen, from the freighter Baron Inchcape, were bending over him, according to motorist C. A. Zufelt, Burnaby.

Morgan was reported to be in "quite satisfactory condition" at Jubilee Hospital today.

The seamen next appear Wednesday morning.

Millworker Saved From Icy Waters Of Cowichan River

Sylvio Gaudreault, Honeymoon Bay millworker, was pulled from the icy waters of Cowichan River Saturday night after a quick-thinking resident heard his calls for help.

Mrs. Ruth Dragan heard strange shouting Saturday at 9.30 p.m., and on investigating heard a man calling from the river.

She telephoned the RCMP, then made an immediate call to Pallies auto court, across the river, where a rescue party was formed consisting of Joe Hancock, fishing guide; Victor Palmer, village works superintendent, and Paul Wannamaker, a surveyor.

Taking a boat and flashlight, they crossed the river and found Gaudrealt clinging to some willow bushes beside a deep pool. He was given medical aid at the auto court and sent home.

Sailor Stabs Self While Despondent

A 23-year-old naval rating, found by city police with an abdominal knife wound Saturday night, apparently stabbed himself in a fit of despondency, police said.

Officers were called to the man's home by his wife at about 10.15 p.m.

The sailor, was found lying on the front room floor with a small stab wound in the stomach and a small, open penknife on the floor beside him.

He was taken to HMCS Naden Hospital, where his condition was reported to be good.

Vacant House Damaged by Fire On Latoria Road

Interior of an unoccupied house at 3276 Latoria was badly damaged by fire which broke out at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen from Langford and Colwood volunteer departments answered the alarm.

The four-room house is owned by Leonard H. Klatt. Apparently there were no furnishings in the building.

In a second fire at Langford, firemen searched a house at 2717 Millstream at 3 a.m. today before finding cause for smoke to be a faulty television set.

Conciliation Board Named For Firemen

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today announced the appointment of a conciliation board in the dispute between the local firefighters' union and the city of Victoria.

Members of the board are chairman Philip Fleming of Victoria, Warwick C. Angus of Victoria, and Halford Wilson of Vancouver.

The city and firemen have been unable to agree on the union's demands for a wage boost, increased annual holidays and seniority changes.

About 86 members of the fire department are affected.

APPROVAL WAS GIVEN by provincial cabinet today to appointment of William Fairfield Veitch as new assistant deputy minister of finance. He has been provincial surveyor of taxes and director of taxation research, and replaces Gerald Bryson who became deputy minister, succeeding J. V. Fisher, who is now economic advisor and co-ordinator of finance. Mr. Veitch, who lives at 2603 Asquith, will continue as taxation research director.

PUBLIC APATHETIC OR CONFUSED BY SCHEME

Jubilee Extension, Auditorium Favorites in Centennial Poll

Tabulation of ballots in the Times public opinion poll on a Greater Victoria Centennial project was completed today and two main conclusions resulted:

1. The public is generally apathetic about the scheme, or else so confused that only a few hundred people bothered to send in ballots.

2. The Royal Jubilee Hospital wing has a determined group of supporters who took the trouble to gather several hundred ballots and make sure it would come out at the top of the poll.

There were 32 projects listed on the ballot. All have been put before the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee which is trying to seek agreement on a fitting memorial to mark B.C.'s 100th birthday.

It was conceded that some of the plans suggested would automatically be ruled out because of cost or unsuitability.

Six of the 32 schemes drew measurable support.

Outside of the Jubilee Hospital wing, with its plumping supporters, the idea of a civic auditorium drew the heaviest backing.

The others which aroused interest were the construction of a youth centre, a home for aged citizens, restoration of Gorge Park and the Japanese tea gardens, and the Fort Rodd Hill restoration and park plan.

Until the avalanche of Jubilee Hospital votes reached the poll at the weekend, the auditorium was in the lead. However one solid group of 375 ballots for the hospital put it on top. These ballots were mailed or brought in by about half a dozen people.

Here was the final standing of the main projects:

Jubilee Hospital	448
Civic auditorium	110
Youth centre	26
Gorge Park	20
Fort Rodd Hill	17
Senior citizens' home	14

Of the other 26 projects none drew more than half a dozen votes.

5,000 Roam Fort Rodd Hill; Majority Favor Restoration

Secluded Fort Rodd Hill on the far side of Esquimalt Harbor yielded its secrets to hundreds of Victorians Sunday.

A crowd estimated at 5,000 visited the two old forts on the 44-acre property of the Department of National Defence, G. C. D'Arcy, secretary of a provincial committee for the restoration of historic forts, said today.

"A steady flow of visitors poured into the forts from 12.30 to 5.30 p.m.," he said. "Some people spent more than two hours roaming through the parkland property, visiting Fisgard Lighthouse which adjoins the site, and pacing the beaches."

Mr. D'Arcy said the majority of people he spoke to favored development of the site as a centennial project.

"It was a big success," he added. "People were impressed not only with the forts but with the property as a whole."

RCMP and the Army Provost Corp co-operated in directing a heavy flow of traffic. The cars moved bumper to bumper along Belmont Road to the end of the Esquimalt Spit.

MILE OF CARS

Cars were parked for a mile along the sandspit and Belmont Road.

Mr. D'Arcy said if the historic area is developed as a park a road could be constructed to by-pass Belmont Park subdivision.

"The committee has given some study to this," he said.

Army officials and guides said the visitors were impressed with the two forts and beaches at Fort Rodd Hill.

"It was a field day for the children who had never seen walled forts with embrasures for rifles," said one guide. "As for the grown-ups they were surprised that two such forts existed in the area."

Mexican Display Draws Interest

Art Gallery show this week attracting unusual interest is a 30-piece display of Mexican Tarascan sculpture and pottery, at least 1,500 years old.

The collection is being seen here for the first time, and was unearthed in three of Mexico's western provinces.

The items are considered among the greatest of primitive sculpture extant, made by a people wedged in between the Mayan and Azetc civilizations.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me in what year the rule of the road in driving switched from the left side to the right side? When was it changed in Victoria and when in Vancouver? —Mrs. E. A. C.

A.—As a result of legislation, the rule "keep to the right" came into effect on all B.C. highways at 6 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 1, 1922. That hour was chosen because the traffic was at a minimum for the week, and although the motor population of B.C. was small 35 years ago as compared with today, there was still the possibility of accidents. On Jan. 2, 1922, police forces were able to report the new law, changing a custom which had existed since colonial days in B.C., had come into force with no sizable increase in traffic accidents.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Gadgets and Attachments To Make Travelling Comfy

By PENNY SAVER

Things for your car, to make holiday travelling easier and more enjoyable, are appearing here and there in town. The favorite material is plastic, because it stands up to hard handling, and because it comes in such bright and cheery colors.

To hold maps, direction sheets and such in the car, there is a suction attachment that can be put on the dashboard. Two plastic disks are held closely together by a centre spring. Tuck the paper between the disks and it is held neatly and firmly in place, within arm's reach. These are 59 cents each. There are many other uses for this gadget, too. You can use it in the bathroom, ladies to dry nylons. The surface of the disks is so smooth it will not snag them.

A snack bar that attaches to the car door is another handy little device. Of enamelled aluminum, the trays have a section that slides down the window shaft to form a firm base. There is a trough at one side, just the right size for a glass. This is especially good because it eliminates the possibility of tipping glasses. In the side section, there are small holes so that these trays may also be screwed onto card tables, beach chairs or lawn chairs or used on boats. In many colors, they cost $3.95.

There are other styles of car trays, too. One of plastic in a color to match or contrast the interesting new car colors, is smaller and costs 59 cents. This is a tray that will fit your glove compartment.

Magnetic auto certificate holders are new. Plastic cases have magnets on either end. Just wrap the case around the steering column, and it stays put without buckles and straps. The cases also come in a wide range of colors, and cost 39 cents.

Away from automobile gadgets for a moment, here's something for the ladies. The young ladies in particular will love the petal headbands that come in a host of pretty pastels. Green, blue, yellow, pink, white or turquoise bands, massed with dainty petals are $1. Matching flowers for your dress or coat are also available at the same price.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As refreshing as a breeze on a mountain top to those of us who have been graduated from the teen-age set, comes word that all is not yet lost. As a matter of fact we are supposed to have capacity for being right bright.

Doctor Hugh Cabot, sociologist and executive director of Age Centre of New England, believes that if men and women are cranky in later years they were that way in their youth. He says in the American Medical Association's magazine "Today's Health," "The same goes for mental sluggishness unless it is caused by disease. Many teen-agers show sluggish thinking if their environment bores them. This would be laid to old age if they were 40 years older."

Hear! While I like young people very much I have known some teen-agers who seem pretty dumb, and I know some folks a lot older than I who are fascinating. You, too, must have had the same experience unless your viewpoint is distorted by age consciousness. That malady causes one to think in terms of years rather than in terms of fun and accomplishment and happiness.

My readers know that I often have written in this column that I believe that personality characteristics become intensified with age. If a woman has a sweet disposition, a sense of humor, charm and understanding as a young person, she will be even more lovable as she grows older. If she was hard to live with in her youth, send out the lifeguards to rescue her companions in her older years!

One of the best ways to prepare for older age is to forget about it. Only remember that we cannot go along being critical and hectic and dour for years and then suddenly change into charming individuals.

If we are not lovable and loved, gay and humorous, perceptive and kind in youth, we certainly will not be in later years when we are handicapped by the infirmities of age and limited in activity.

The idea that we can learn only in youthful years and that study and romance are for the young only, is as outmoded as high button shoes. This is the day of opportunity for the mature man and woman whose youthful vigor is seasoned with taste and perception, whose horizons should be expanding rather than closing in. Now physical aging can be delayed for years longer than in the past.

Home Hospitality Especially Important To Active Teen-Age Boys and Girls

A homemaker was being complimented for the generous way in which she opened her house to young people who were strangers in her community. The Young People's group at the church were always welcome under her roof at a social gathering at least once each year. She answered with a smile, "I enjoy boys and girls. When I was growing up, my folks always allowed me to bring my chums home when I wanted to. It is such a happy memory!"

Nancy

Home hospitality is valuable to a boy or girl of any age, but it is extremely valuable during the teen years. An adolescent is apt to doubt the security of his place in his own age group. It is a great help to be able to ask "the gang" in at short notice or feel free to invite a special friend to enjoy music or a game or some other pleasure.

Informal entertaining is much less strain on a teenager—and on the family, than a formal party. Any parent who is puzzled by the behavior of a tall son or daughter when "company" is present should read or re-read that incomparable story "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington. Turn to the chapter beginning "At Home to His Friends" for an amusing but painful picture of William's brain storm over dressing for the party for his best girl, "Miss Pratt!"

Recent surveys in different communities have brought to light the "beef" of many adolescents about the lack of parental friendliness to their companions. A boy may be critical of his father's ways, of his mother's hair-do, but all the same he wants to know he can bring his chums in the home door with him, and find a welcome there.

Almost-grown-up daughter may think a small brother or sister a perfect pest. She may judge her mother as sadly lacking in sophistication, but never time to time, to invite her friend or friends into her home.

Fathers and mothers are seldom asked why they are so reluctant about endorsing an "Open House" plan for younger members of the family. They may be very busy, or worried by finanical or health problems. They don't do much entertaining of their friends, so why should they bother about their children's chums?

Sometimes parents consider hospitality a luxury which costs too much. Boys and girls who are earning money in their spare time with paper routes, running errands, baby sitting, etc., should share at least half the bill of "eats" for the crowd.

Dad may think, with good reason, that mother's job of running the house is already too heavy. Added to her regular duties, cleaning up in the morning after a teen age "do" the night before is no fun for her. Son or daughter should be smart enough to see to it that mother does not find her kitchen looking as if a cyclone had hit it after "the gang" have dropped in!

An older boy or girl does not want mother hovering around after a late show giving directions about the kitchen "clean up." With a little home encouragement, son or daughter can organize some co-operation for a "wash-up" gang or tackle the job themselves after the company has gone home.

On Etiquette

What about wedding gifts when bride and groom separate?

We are wondering what should be done about wedding gifts after a marriage is broken. The couple, married only two months and both in their fifties, had been previously married. The man, who is my brother, has his own home and has everything to keep house with, so most of the wedding gifts were never used. We would like to know whether or not the gifts should be returned. The bride took some with her when she left, and we feel that those are her responsibility. If they are not returned, should thank-you notes be written for the ones my brother has? He has no idea who sent some of them, or if the givers were ever thanked. Should he try to contact his wife for information?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis answers:

This is indeed a very awkward and embarrassing situation, but it has to be faced. The best way would be to put the cards on the table and be frank about it. It is possible that the wife has already acknowledged the gifts. I surely hope so, for it was her duty and still is. The only way that your brother can find out is to ask her, but if there is bitterness or unfriendliness between the two, perhaps you or his attorney can make the inquiries It is very important that something be done about this immediately, for if there are gifts yet to be acknowledged, and if the wife doesn't expect or intend to do it, then it would be up to your brother to write notes. Since the gifts were sent in good faith, it isn't a must that they be returned. Concerning those that your brother has on hand and hasn't used, I think that he might ease his conscience if he makes an attempt to return them, or at least to make the offer, either by note or telephone.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Visitors Here Tuesday

Interesting Montreal visitors arriving on Tuesday are Mr. G. A. R. Hart, general manager of Bank of Montreal, and Mrs. Hart, who are at present in Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Hart will spend several days in Victoria. Also in their party will be Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Raikes. Mr. Jackson is succeeding Mr. Raikes as assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal, resident in Vancouver.

A late-day reception is planned for the visitors on Tuesday in the Union Club, where Mr. D. MacGregor, manager of the local Bank of Montreal and Mrs. MacGregor will act as hosts. Others present will be members of B of M staffs on the island.

On Wednesday morning Mr. MacGregor will host a coffee party in the Union Club for Mr. Hart, Mr. Jackson and Mr. Raikes.

In the afternoon Mrs. MacGregor will be hostess at a small tea-hour party at the MacGregor home on Weald Road, for Mrs. Hart. Invited guests include Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Raikes and personal friends of Mrs. Hart now living in Victoria.

Going to Italy

MILLINERY TO HIGHLIGHT SPRING TEA

Athena Club of Oak Bay United Church is sponsoring a tea in the church hall on Granite Street, Wednesday from 2.30 to 5.30 p.m. It will be highlighted by a showing of millinery and accessories from Toojays. There will also be a home-cooking and plant stall. From the left, Mrs. K. R. MacLeod, convener of the tea; Mrs. T. V. Kennedy, club president who will receive guests; Mrs. A. J. Bowering and Mrs. L. D. Shortt, who will assist in modelling the millinery and accessories.

Jeanne Sinnamon a Lovely Bride In St. Alban's Church Ceremony

In a double-ring ceremony in St. Alban's Anglican Church, Saturday evening, Miss Margaret Jeanne Sinnamon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sinnamon, 2721 Gosworth Road, became the bride of Gordon Dale Berdan, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Berdan, of Beechy, Sask.

Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh performed the ceremony in a setting of spring flowers. Baskets of blue iris and white stock with pink plum blossoms marked the altar.

GOWN OF BROCADE

The lovely young bride chose a gown of shimmering white satin brocade in floor length, fashioned with lace inset in a scalloped design down the front of the fitted bodice trimmed with opalescent sequins. It featured a V-neckline and long sleeves tapering to lily points at the wrists. To complement her gown, she wore a fingertip veil of illusion net misting from a dainty crown of sequins and rhinestones. She wore pearl jewelry and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink rapture roses and white hyacinth florets with pink petals caught into long white satin streamers. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor, Miss Joanne Work, and bridesmaid, Miss Joan Cornish, were gowned in similarly styled waltz-length dresses of lace and net in blue and pink, respectively. Miss Work carried a colonial bouquet of pink feathered carnations with her blue gown, and Miss Cornish, a bouquet of blue feathered carnations complementing her pink ensemble. Little Sandra Medley was flower girl in a pale pink nylon net over silk frock. She carried a basket of miniature pink roses, blue carnations and heather.

The groom had Colin Buckley as best man, and ushers were Verne Berdan and Keith Blenkiron.

Walter Hamilton, organist, played traditional wedding music during the ceremony and the signing of the register.

A three-tier wedding cake beautifully decorated by Mrs. Ina Catterall centred the bride's table at a reception party held in St. Alban's Hall. Tall white candles, flanked the cake that the newlyweds cut with the bride's father's sword. Pink, blue and white daisies decorated tables. Rev. Greenhalgh proposed the toast to the bride. In the absence of the groom's parents, Mrs. Keith Blenkiron assisted the brides' parents in receiving guests.

For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a charcoal-toned English broadcloth suit with pale pink hat and gloves and black patent leather purse and shoes. Her corsage was of pink charm carnations.

Following a honeymoon in Portland, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. Berdan will live at 1219 Old Esquimalt Road.

$250 REALIZED

A sum of $250 was realized at a fashion and appliance show held last Wednesday night in the Club Sirocco. The money has been given to the Victoria Girls Drill team to add to funds to assist in sending the team to San Francisco in July, where it will represent Victoria at the Lions' Convention.

GIRL GUIDES

Central District—Mrs. J. Hunter, district commissioner, presided at recent meeting of the local association of the Central District Girl Guides at the home of Mrs. E. J. Fatt, 407 Cook Street. It was decided to send a delegate to the provincial annual convention to be held in April in Trail. Projects for raising money were discussed and two new members welcomed.

B.C. Institutes To Furnish Ward In New Solarium

At meeting of the provincial board of the Women's Institutes of British Columbia, held in Victoria last weekend, endorsement was given a brief presented by Lake Hill Institute in which the government was urged to implement the act governing vocational training for practical nurses.

It was also decided that an eight-bed ward in the new Solarium will be furnished by the women's institutes of the province.

Survey on the organization and administration of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, was discussed and representatives attending the triennial ACWW conference in Ceylon in July were instructed.

Announcement was made that the first national gathering of institutes in Canada will be held in Ottawa in October when delegates from British Columbia will include the board members and one delegate from each of the 16 districts of the province.

Dr. J. C. Foote was guest speaker at the final session of the board meeting. He spoke on the need for the establishment of a chair of dentistry at University of British Columbia.

Mrs. E. J. Roylance presided.

THE LUNTS STAR IN 'GREAT SEBASTIANS' ON C-4 AT 8

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

FOWLER REPORT—One thought remains following the publishing of the Fowler Royal Commission report last week. It is that the commission deemed it necessary to rake the private operators over the coals.

It has been this column's contention for a long while now that in the field of radio and television the CBC—admitting its weaknesses—stands proud and tall on its record. Indeed, so firmly is it affixed to the base of progress as a bulwark against the powerful infiltration of Americana over the 49th parallel that not once in the past 20 years have the private operators been able to attack its stand successfully.

What is more, whatever Canadian talent has been developed over the years, has found its roots in the CBC.

IT OFTEN HAS been the cry of independents that given the opportunity they would discover, create and explore Canadian art and artists. But it is equally well known that when it becomes a choice between paying for a local artist or a popular U.S. package deal the latter wins, in most instances, each time. Why? It is a private business and needs the money. If it has money it needs more money. This, of course, is private enterprise and as such is honorable. But it still doesn't give a budding Canadian artist much hope to find a showcase for his art.

Wisest recommendation of the Fowler report, of course, was the suggested appointment of a "board of broadcasting governors" responsible for supervising all broadcasting in Canada under Parliament.

This removes our one and only objection to the status of the CBC. It has never seemed fair that one company should be allowed to regulate the affairs of its competitors. Now the governing body will be free to deal with the CBC and the CBC's competitors as it deems fit without worrying about charges of discrimination and unfairness.

The proposed lifting of the ban allowing a second station in an area serviced by CBC television is a fair one. But one wonders if the blessing for some will not make it more difficult for others who have been relying upon the CBC to furnish it with CBC programs.

What happens now when—if the report is implemented—an independent station must find the money not only to buy programs of such quality that they can pass the high CBC requirements but do without a CBC-given revenue that has kept many a private station from going in the red?

CANADIAN FIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1957

"The Stars impell . . . They do not compel."
What you make of your life is largely up to you!

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Whatever has to do with finances, revenues, income, property can be arranged now with intelligence plus down-to-earth working ability. See where you can lop off unnecessary expense and come to a better balance in your supply and demands.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—This is your day to early take a good look at yourself in the mirror of your personal affairs, as well as your personal appearance. Then you can take the treatments that aid you the most during spare hours and be social at other times. Expand.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Now you can get off alone, or with the intimates and confidantes who have the most accurate picture of what you are trying to do. Blueprint and diagram your future activity and be of service to those who look to you for assistance. Help.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Get together with friends and acquaintances and decide how you will gain your joint hopes and wishes. If they do not seem to be as understanding as you would like, think ways and means for going it alone. But action in deciding aims now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—This is your day to focus your attention upon worldly or public interests. Get your credit at a new peak. Go see any personnel or credit workers who can aid you to get greater acclaim. Be public-spirited. Think ways to advance with the public.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Now you have an unusually good day to get out of your own particular rut into the big, wide world of wonderful activity. Gain the knowledge also from sources that can enrich and enlarge and extend your horizons. Study newspaper for data.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You are also exact and precise about financial affairs, or in dealing with those close to you. This is a very good day to listen to the voice of your inner intuition, for right hunches await your quiet reflection. Arrange to put in motion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Thinking out how you can operate better, more efficiently in all partnership or public matters, brings out some pretty good ideas for attaining greater concord, agreements and acclaim in days to come. Make appointments to discuss tomorrow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Plunging into work awaiting your attention at home, office, on road, with car, over files, correspondence, dealing with co-workers, health, diet, apparel, pets, gets great deal done today and tonight. Plan to resume action tomorrow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—You have a beautiful day to spend every available spare moment getting your charm more evident. Be sure also you repay social obligations and perfect any hobbies, special talent upon which you've been working. Have fun, be happy tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Matters at home require your consideration today, even while you are in the world of outside activity. Do whatever will bring greater affection with your family. Take home some goodies you may not like but which they enjoy very much.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Now you can attend to all those errands and shopping, as well as make calls and visits, whether personal or of a business nature. Confer and huddle with contacts of all kinds for increasing productivity in all lines of endeavor. Expand.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY

Tuesday's child is one of those very charming youngsters who will be very deliberate and who will never want to be rushed in anything. There will be a preoccupation about the personal appearance that requires that you do concentrate upon charm matters in apparel, diet, all surroundings, whether a boy or a girl. This youngster will be excellent in any work that has to do with the desire of the general public for pleasure, entertainment and adornment, but must have financial recompense for whatever job is done. Money counts.

Bonus Share of Fun In Guild's 'Jane'

"Jane", by M. S. Berhman

Ann Tower	Joan Middlemiss
Peter Crewe	Russell Gurney
William Tower	John Poulton
Millicent Tower	Elizabeth Mayne
Jane Fowler	Phyllis Dulmage
Lord Frobisher	Ray Hulett
Gilbert Dahney	Gerald Guest
Wilson	Don Jacobs

Director: Don Ross. Assist.: Kae Collins

A decidedly witty, well-written comedy containing character drawing somewhat above the usual level of sophisticated farce, is the current Victoria Theatre Guild offering at Langham Court Theatre.

A number of good laugh lines were thrown away by some of the actors but nevertheless, the audience of 130 was in an uproar a good part of the time during Saturday's opening night performance.

CINDERELLA TALE

The story of the middle-aged widow from Liverpool whose frumpish exterior hides a heart of gold, a will of iron and an entrancing personality, was originally written by Somerset Maugham.

How she comes to visit her viperish London sister-in-law, marries an ambitious prig, many years her junior, and effects the lives of all men in her vicinity is a sort of Cinderella tale even to the 12-hour discovery by Prince Charming.

Acting honors belong, however, in this production to the sister-in-law as played by Elizabeth Mayne.

Mrs. Mayne's was, in every way, a first-class performance that would have graced any stage and any company. She does not merely act; she creates the character and, in doing so, creates it in every dimension and with every resource of the actor's art.

The chief difference between her performance and that of everyone else in the cast—with one exception—is the splendid vitality with which she projects the character and the animation of her pantomimic work.

John Poulton, for example, while a competent, smooth and pleasing actor, allowed too many voice tones and facial expressions to be lost through lack of emphasis and a down-bent head.

NEAR PERFECTION

Exception referred to was Gerald Guest, whose interpretation of the prig was delightful in its precision and came close to perfection as a well-developed characterization.

Of "Jane" as performed by Phyllis Dulmage, it is possible to praise the performance in Act I only. Thereafter, the character lost form and conviction and the actress never regained control over it. This was disappointing as Mrs. Dulmage made an excellent start with her first scenes.

Ray Hulett was fairly convincing as the sybaritic, self-made Lord Frobisher.

A newcomer of great charm decorated the stage in the person of Joan Middlemiss; she was, however, too inexperienced to bring any reality to a rather touching role.

The setting was rather uncomfortable as to color and style, and the tinfoil mirror over the mantelpiece resembled nothing more than tinfoil. Direction was competent and resulted in good movement and grouping and a generally smooth and brisk effect.

There will be performances nightly through to Saturday and patrons can be assured of a bonus serving of entertainment.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Eileen Poshedley, 12, Shreveport, La., for her question:

How Big Is a Kangaroo When He Is Born?

The Australians call him a Joey. At birth, he is not recognizable as a young kangaroo. But no one sees him then. For the first few weeks of life are spent hidden away inside Mama's fur-lined pouch. Most mammal babies are quite well developed at birth. New-born kittens resemble cats and new-born piglets resemble pigs. But Joey could not take the time to develop this far. He was in too great a hurry to get born into the world. As a result, when he arrived he was too underdeveloped to cope with things. All he could do was to scramble through mother's fur and hide himself in her pouch. There he stays, feeding and growing for many weeks.

There are dozens of different kinds of kangaroo in Australia. All the youngsters are born in a hurry and depend on Mama's pouch to finish developing. Joey, the son of the Big Grey Kangaroo is only one inch long at birth. The children of his smaller relatives are born even smaller.

Compared with 200-pound Papa, newborn Joey is less than a toe. What's more, he does not resemble either of his parents. He is blind and without fur, a wormy looking fellow. He has four limbs and a little tail. But his arms are bigger and stronger than his legs. His hands are quite big and strong and he uses them to climb into the pouch and cling onto his mother's fur. This must change if Joey is to grow into a kangaroo. For Mama and Papa have small hands and arms and big powerful legs and tail.

Joey is an only child and he makes the best of his cosy pouch nursery. At first he is too weak even to feed himself. So Mama uses her tummy muscles to force milk down his tiny throat. As he develops, the back legs begin to outgrow the front legs. Joey gets a pair of long ears and a fur coat of tawny brown. He begins to open a pair of big brown eyes. He now has a sizeable tail and begins to look very much like a small copy of his parents.

In spite of his great hurry to get born, Joey is in no hurry to leave home and cope with the world. In fact, he is about four months old before he takes his first peek at the world. For some time he is content to gaze at the outdoors. He is especially interested in Mama's feeding. When she leans down to graze, he pokes out his head and nibbles a bit of grass. When she stands up to browse, he pokes out a hand and gathers a few leaves to sample.

After several weeks of this peek-a-boo at the world, Joey is ready to venture forth. He leaves the pouch and tries his kangaroo legs with a few hops. Then back home he scoots until next time. Soon he is taking sizeable walks, but he still returns to the nursery to sleep and maybe for an extra sip of milk.

Mrs. Kangaroo is a tender and splendid mother. She teaches Joey all she knows and protects him until he is more than half grown. Kangaroos are hunted with dogs and Mama instructs Joey in the art of the chase. At first he is so light that she does not notice him when she outruns the dogs. Later, his extra weight slows her down. In such case, Mama Kangaroo has been known to pull a clever trick. She tosses her half-grown Joey into the bushes and takes off at 40 miles an hour to lead the hunt in another direction. She returns to her frightened darling when the weary dogs have given up the chase and gone home.

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Sidney Schaer, age 13, of Brooklyn, New York, for his question:

Does the Spirit of St. Louis still exist?

The Spirit of St. Louis is, of course, a plane. It is the little monoplane piloted by young Charles Lindbergh on the first solo flight to span the wide Atlantic. Lindbergh raised the money for the building of this plane in St. Louis, Missouri. He named it in honor of that city, whose forward-looking business men made his venture possible.

The plane left Long Island and landed in Paris 33 hours and 29 minutes later. Nowadays, such a trip is routine and, of course, much faster. But this one, on May 20, 1927, was the first. On his return home, Lindbergh was given a hero's welcome. Thereafter he lived up to his heroic deed. He flew his now famous Spirit of St. Louis around America for people to see and also flew to the West Indies and Mexico. Wherever he went, he inspired and encouraged people to look ahead with confidence to the age of flight.

When time came to retire the sturdy little monoplane, it too was given a hero's reward. Since 1928, the Spirit of St. Louis has been on display at the Smithsonian Institute in the nation's capital.

Optometrists Given Right To Use 'Doctor'

WINNIPEG (CP) — Some Manitoba optometrists will be given the right to use the title of "doctor" in a new optometry act approved Saturday by the provincial legislature's law amendments committee.

The committee approved limited use of the title by a 16 to 15 vote.

Restrictions imposed provided that an optometrist must have received a doctor's degree from a school of optometry approved by the University of Manitoba and must display the word "optometrist" after his name.

Newspapers Across U.S. Boost Prices

NEW YORK (CP) — Newspapers in many sections of the United States have increased their prices in the last 10 days or so to meet what most publishers say is a continuing rise in the cost of production and materials.

New York City's evening papers went up to 10 cents from 5 cents, and the two morning tabloids made a lesser adjustment.

All three Indianapolis newspapers announced price increases for home delivery or newsstand sale.

The Houston, Tex., Press, a Scripps-Howard afternoon daily, announced a 15-cents-a-week increase in its home-delivery price.

In Boston, the Sunday Advertiser announced an increase in price to 25 cents beyond a 30-mile zone.

The Quincy, Mass., Patriot-Ledger, announced a two-cent increase to seven cents.

NO BOILS ON TIN MINERS

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name Tinoxid. Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoxid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

A. J. McDonell Dies, Noted Industrialist

VANCOUVER — Allan J. McDonell, a former president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, died in hospital here Sunday after a long illness. He was 75.

Mr. McDonell operated a sheet metal manufacturing business in Vancouver.

He was a Progressive Conservative member of the British Columbia legislature in the late 1940s and also was an international director of the Lions Club.

Survivors include his widow and a son.

SINCLAIR LIBERAL CHOICE

NORTH VANCOUVER—Federal Fisheries Minister James Sinclair was chosen Saturday to contest the coast-Capilano seat in the forthcoming federal election. Mr. Sinclair said he welcomed Premier Bennett's announcement Friday night to develop Squamish as a major western seaport, but told his audience Ottawa had offered to develop Squamish eight years ago.

YOUTHS' BAIL $5,000

NORTH VANCOUVER—Bail of $5,000 each was set Saturday for two youths charged with robbery with violence. They were transferred from juvenile to police court here.

Roger Antone of the Capilano Indian Reserve and William Lewis of the Mission Reserve, both 17, were charged in connection with the beating and robbing of Robert Mackay, 33-year-old father of two.

CARELESS SMOKING BLAMED

VANCOUVER — Chief Fire Warden Lou Mulligan says careless smoking in the basement of the Butler Hotel may have started a fire which took three lives here Thursday.

Three persons were smoking in the basement 20 minutes before the fire started, he said.

HERRIDGE RENOMINATED

NELSON—H. W. Herridge, member of parliament for Kootenay West, was unanimously nominated Saturday night at a CCF meeting here to contest the federal seat in the next election.

'COPTER MERCY FLIGHT

VANCOUVER—A six-month-old Indian boy was in fair condition in hospital here Sunday after being brought here Saturday by helicopter from Squamish with what is believed to be a form of meningitis. An RCAF search and rescue helicopter completed the 80-mile return flight in less than an hour.

Look, Ma! No Hands! But the music plays on!

Who said the player-piano was dead? Not us — we've just been listening to a beautiful new Hardman in EATON'S Music Centre. The tone is remarkable — even the delicate (?) nuances of Crazy Otto come over as though the maestro himself were pounding the keys.

Nothing better for the rumpus room, especially as the words of each song are printed right on the roll, and unfold in time with the music. No more embarrassed "dum-de-dums" — no more finding that not one of the guests plays the piano!

And the music available is the very latest. Such tunes as "Banana Boat Song", "Don't Forbid Me", "Young Love" and "Hey, Jealous Lover". Piano itself is modern low style in satin mahogany finish. 1695.00

Complete with 25 rolls of music.

Run, don't walk to EATON'S Music Centre — we only have the one instrument right now!

Gordon Dies Tonight

Cabinet Commutes Carey's Sentence

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence imposed on James Carey but his companion in the fatal shooting of a Vancouver policeman, Joseph Gordon, will be hanged shortly after midnight tonight.

Both men were convicted and sentenced to be hanged March 19 for the shooting of Constable Gordon Sinclair.

Evidence at the trial indicated that Gordon fired the fatal shots.

Carey at his trial claimed to be working as an undercover agent for the RCMP when he was present at the fatal shooting.

(In Victoria, the RCMP said Carey has "given us some information. He did sell information to us.")

However, several hours before the scheduled execution, Justice Minister Garson cleared the way for a two-week stay to permit investigation of alleged new evidence.

An investigation was undertaken by the justice department. It is understood that the commutation of Carey's sentence was not necessarily a direct result of this investigation but rather that there were factors which probably moved the cabinet to decide that the death penalty was too severe in his case.

Counsel for Gordon applied March 14 to the trial judge, Mr. Justice A. M. Manson of the B.C. Supreme Court, for a reprieve designed to enable the justice department to investigate alleged new evidence.

Constable Sinclair was shot Dec. 7, 1955, when sent to Vancouver's Granville Street Bridge area to investigate reports of suspicious persons moving about.

SLAIN BY DESERT BANDITS

U.S. Cancels Aid Due to Killings

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

TEHRAN, Iran—Iran pledged today it would "show no mercy" on the desert bandits who kidnapped and killed pretty Mrs. Anita Carroll soon after the ambush-murder of her husband, another American and two Iranians.

The mutilated body of Mrs. Carroll, 35, of Issaquah, Wash., was found Sunday 10 miles from the ambush scene. An Iranian Air Force plane flew her white-draped coffin back to Tehran Sunday night where the Shah paid his last tribute with a wreath of carnations.

She had been shot with a shotgun and stabbed, and her body was partially stripped of clothing. She apparently survived the ambush only to be slain later when the bandits discovered she had left a paper trail for the national gendarmerie.

Sources close to the Iranian government said Prime Minister Hussein Ala has told associates he will resign as result of the desert bandit massacre.

These informants said the prime minister's resignation will be announced Wednesday, after the departure of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, now in Tehran as a government guest, so as "to prevent embarrassment" to Adenauer.

Earlier, the United States announced through Clark S. Gregory, that the technical aid program in Southeast Iran has been suspended until the killers are caught.

Bandit Chief Ordered Taken Alive

Maj. Ali Qoli Golpira, head of the Iranian Gendarmerie (federal police), stepped up his search for the bandits and promised no mercy. The bandits were believed led by the notorious chieftain Dad Shah who has a string of murders on his record.

Golpira ordered him taken alive if possible.

Dad Shah is a tall, thin, sunburned Baluchi tribesman with red-rimmed eyes and a handlebar mustache. He wears the typical black baggy pants of the country, but a green, black and white striped shawl set him apart from other men. He is a ruthless killer who preys on the few travellers in remote Baluchistan, 800 miles from Tehran near the Pakistani border.

He is wanted for thievery, smuggling and slave trading.

Torrential rains handicapped the search—and the flight of the bandits. Only camels could get through some of the wild areas, a land of steep cliffs, and razor-sharp rocks.

The Dad Shah bandit gang is reported to include at least four men and a number of women and children. A week ago Sunday they set up an ambush on a lonely mountain trail and opened up with shotguns.

Kelvin M. Carroll, 37, husband of the kidnapped woman, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., were killed outright with two Iranians who were accompanying them on their mission of aid. Both men were officials of the U.S. International Co-operative Administration.

The bodies of the four men were found where they dropped, but the only trace of Mrs. Carroll, a blonde of Finnish descent, was a thin paper trail that disappeared in the rugged country. Police found the body in a desolate mountain pass.

The terrain was so difficult police could not get within miles of the body by jeep and it was brought down on a stretcher. Villagers at Iranshahr 10 miles away filled the coffin with wild flowers before it was taken to the nearest airfield 90 miles away.

A U.S. plane had flown south to Zahedan only Sunday with a doctor, nurse, medical supplies and fresh clothing for Mrs. Carroll in belief she might be alive and could be ransomed.

No Secret Deals Made With Ike Says Macmillan

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons today that he did not enter into any "secret engagements" in his Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower.

The prime minister spoke before a tense House amid some whispers in his own Conservative party ranks that he "sold out" Britain to the United States in exchange for guided missiles to cut the country's costly defence expenditure.

Opening debate on the Bermuda meeting, Macmillan said the talks . . . "covered much ground and we did reach agreements on certain matters set out in the communique. I want to make it clear that there were no secret engagements."

The prime minister said "there were some matters on which we were not in agreement."

Macmillan cautioned against placing too much importance on the disagreements and said that as a result of the talks Britain and the United States "understood each other better."

Macmillan told the House that in his talks with Eisenhower: "I made plain our view that just trusting to the United Nations is no substitute for a foreign policy."

The prime minister denied reports in some British newspapers that Britain's release from exile of Archbishop Makarios was done under American pressure to settle the Cyprus dispute.

Mid-East Aims Are Identical

Turning to the Middle East, Macmillan said the United States, so far from wishing to reduce British influence in that area, is anxious to see it reinforced.

"Our basic aims in this area are identical, even if at times there are divergencies on how to achieve it," he said.

Macmillan added: "It is greatly to our advantage that, in dealing with the Egyptian government, the United States government is taking a positive and leading role.

He added: "We agreed on the importance of dealing with it in such a way as not to drive it into the arms of the enemy of all true nationalism, and Moslem nationalism in particular—that is, international communism."

Both governments consider there is a right of innocent passage for all ships through the Gulf of Aqaba. This applies equally to Israel ships and vessels of other nations plying to Israel, he added.

The prime minister went on to deal with another controversial result of the Bermuda talks—the decision that Britain should be supplied with American guided missiles, but with the nuclear warheads for them kept under American control.

"This agreement," he assured the Commons, "will save us both time and money and I hope the House will agree that it is a satisfactory one."

Some Socialists have criticized the agreement on the grounds that the U.S. still controlled the warheads and firing of the missiles.

Macmillan denied this report and said:

"The missiles will be the property of the British government and manned by British troops and cannot be fired by any except British personnel."

Young Girl Saves Six In B.C. Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Victoria Cross winner Ernest (Smokey) Smith, his wife and two children were saved from a fire early Sunday by the quick action of a neighbor's daughter.

The duplex home of Sgt. Smith and Donald Morris in suburban Burnaby was swept by a fire which broke out in a storage room.

Melanie Morris, 7, woke up her parents and then spread the alarm to the Smiths.

"Melanie saved our lives," said Mrs. Morris. "We would have been asphyxiated or burned to death."

Sgt. Smith won his VC as a private with Seaforth Highlanders in Italy in the Second World War.

FOR FASTER MAINLAND FERRY SERVICE

$500,000 Harbor Project Revealed for Sidney Area

The federal government is prepared to build a $500,000 harbor development on the Saanich Peninsula for better ferry connections to the mainland, Dr. F. T. Fairey, Victoria MP, said from Ottawa today.

"Surveys of the peninsula to decide the best possible site have been completed and the report is in the hands of Public Works Minister Robert Winters," he said. "Mr. Winters has given me his definite assurance the department is prepared to build this wharf at the most suitable site, under an arrangement suggested by the Washington State Ferries."

WSF now operates the Sidney-Anacortes ferry service.

C. E. Blaney, Victoria agent for the state-owned ferry company, said the new wharf would ensure more frequent service between Vancouver Island and Anacortes.

He could not comment on possibility of a service linking the Saanich Peninsula with an area nearer Vancouver, main B.C. centre of population.

The federal government has authorized negotiations with WSF on rental terms for the proposed terminal. It is understood the rate would amortize the capital investment over a "reasonable" length of time.

At present, WSF is concerned only with stepping up the Sidney-Anacortes service.

The U.S. company would not have exclusive rights to use of the wharfage.

"While the Anacortes service is important, I am sure Victoria is equally interested in the possibility of a faster service to Vancouver," Dr. Fairey said. "It is because of this possibility I am glad the representations made are to bear fruit.

"Mr. Winters informs me his officers have been instructed to open negotiations with Washington State Ferries. As soon as an agreement on the proposed site has been obtained, construction will start."

Dr. Fairey pointed out the open nature of Sidney has been a stumbling block to improved ferry service with the mainland.

But the new docks, he said, might make it possible to "provide a much faster approach to the mainland, in the vicinity of Vancouver, and a much more convenient route than is now provided.

Commenting on Dr. Fairey's announcement, Austin I. Curtis, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said:

"This is most satisfying. It is something we have been trying to get for a long time. We hope it is only the start of other development which will sharply improve the transportation picture for Victoria."

WIRE BRIEFS

Two Die in Car Crash

ALBION, B.C. (CP)—Two Vancouver youths were killed and a third was critically injured early today when a car slammed into a truck on the Lougheed Highway here, 30 miles east of Vancouver.

Dead are Brian Smith, 16, and John Ivan Sapek. John Poulos, 33, is in fair condition in New Westminster Hospital, suffering from chest and internal injuries.

12 Die in Slides

OBIHIRO, Japan (AP)—Rescue workers dug through 30 feet of snow today in search of six men missing after avalanches crumpled a group of construction sheds. Twelve men were killed and 10 others injured.

TORONTO (CP) — Rev. Peter W. Philpott, 91, an active churchman for almost all his adult life, died at his home here today. Elmore Philpott, Liberal member of Parliament for Vancouver South, is one of his 12 children (five daughters, seven sons).

Gang-Like Killing

CHICAGO (AP)—A former high official of a bank prominent in the Orville Hodge financial scandal which rocked Illinois last year was kidnapped and shot to death Sunday night. Leon Marcus, 61, former board chairman of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Company, was seized and dragged into a car as he left a friend's home.

Island-Mainland Link By Monorail Proposed

NANAIMO (CP)—A monorail service between Victoria and Vancouver via Kelsey Bay was suggested Saturday to Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

President George Bonner of Cobble Hill told the annual meeting that the E. & N. Railway could build the line out of its grants.

The line could travel from Victoria to Campbell River, then by overhead cable at Kelsey Bay across Johnstone Strait where the channel is two to three miles wide, he said.

Mr. Bonner suggested a similar monorail could be built to Port Alberni.

Opposition Leader Robert Stratchan suggested at the meeting that before any such proposal was made the E. & N. "should be placed in the position where they will make the return to the provincial coffers that they should make."

H-Bomb Radiation 'Insignificant' Says Macmillan

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons today that radiation effects from Birtain's proposed H-bomb tests in the Pacific "will be insignificant," and won't affect Japan which is 4,000 miles away.

The prime minister said Britain's H-bomb "tests must go on.

"To abandon them now would be to abandon the whole defence strategy upon which our defence policy is based and to put ourselves in a permanently weakened position."

TOKYO (Reuters) — Russia today rejected Japanese suggestions that she curtail her nuclear weapons tests.

THIRSTY THIEVES JAILED

Hair of the Dog Which Bit Them?

CUMBERLAND—Two young men who were dared Sunday morning to break into the government liquor store here each were sentenced today by Magistrate John Ryland to six months in Oakalla prison.

Alex Graham and Fred Martinelli, who had been drinking in a room in the King George Hotel, drilled out the lock on the front door of the store in full view of passersby, who called police.

According to evidence, the two men stole a bottle of whisky and a case of beer, and had drunk eight bottles of beer from the case by the time police arrived shortly after 3 a.m.

TED WILLIAMS SPITS AT TRUMAN, MARINE CORPS

Baseball Star Admits Attempt To Dodge Service in Korean War

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox in an outburst of hate against former president Harry Truman, the late Senator Robert Taft and the U.S. Marine Corps said today he tried to use political pressure to avoid being recalled to service during the Korean war.

The temperamental outfielder said he was far from being the proud serviceman that legend has made him.

In an interview, Williams said he had resentment against the Marine Corps which recalled him for the Korean war.

"You're damned right I have resentment against the Marine Corps and the whole damned government," he said.

Williams talked freely of his attempts to stop the Marine Corps from recalling him.

"You think Sen. Taft was a great man?" he said. "Well, here's what I think of him."

He spat on the floor of the airport waiting room.

"He was afraid to do anything for me," he said. "He said he wouldn't mind going to bat for some other guy. But not me. I was too important."

Williams said the effort to prevent his recall may have gone as far as former president Truman.

"And the same goes for Harry Truman," he said as he spat again.

Williams was a marine flier in Second World War. He was recalled from the inactive reserve during the Korean War.

DULLES BIOGRAPHY

Ike Faced 4th 'Brink of War'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A biography of State Secretary Dulles out today says President Eisenhower faced "the brink of war" a fourth time by warning Moscow last fall that U.S. forces would prevent Russia from sending "volunteers" to Egypt.

The book, written by Time Magazine's diplomatic reporter, John Robinson (Jack) Beal, is titled, John Foster Dulles: A Biography.

Based partly on personal interviews with Dulles, it also says:

1. Dulles' abrupt withdrawal of a U.S. offer to help Egypt build the Aswan Dam last July 19 was a calculated "major gambit in the cold war."

2. Eisenhower decided, coming back from his 1952 Korea trip aboard the cruiser Helena, to press for a truce in Korea—"but if that failed, to fight the war to win," and to do it with tactical atomic weapons.

3. Eisenhower sent a hitherto secret personal letter to President Chiang Kai-shek in early 1955 "satisfying him that the United States would help defend Quemoy and Matsu," island approaches to Chiang's Formosa retreat.

4. Eisenhower, Dulles and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chief of staff, decided at a White House meeting April 4, 1954, to intervene in Indochina — but only "under certain conditions . . . which were not met" by America's allies.

The 322-page Dulles biography, according to a dust jacket statement by publishers Harper and Bros., "examines critically what he has accomplished as secretary of state."

But a careful reading turns up little that is critical. Beal, in appraising his subject, takes a papa-knows-best line.

He presents Dulles as a titan among men, physically, mentally and morally. Whereas Dulles is "idealistic beyond the normal grasp" and "candid" and "forthright," all who disagree are dismissed as: "Careless," "too literal," "amateurish," "professional worriers," "well meaning amateurs," "defeatists," and "people who do not read beyond the headlines."

BOY'S FIBRE SHIRT BURSTS INTO FLAMES

HAMILTON (CP)—A 12-year-old boy suffered severe chest burns Saturday when his synthetic fibre shirt burst into flames as he rode a bicycle along a downtown street.

Robert Crossman suffered third-degree burns on his chest and first-degree face burns. He was reported to be in fair condition Sunday night in hospital.

The boy was unable to tell police what set his shirt afire. Police have forwarded the remains of the shirt to the attorney-general's laboratory in Toronto for analysis.

Two Mill Tax Boost Seen for Saanich

A Saanich tax increase of up to two mills is forecast by Reeve Arthur Ash.

The jump in School District 61 (Greater Victoria) portion of Saanich could be a little more than one mill, bringing the rate to about 32.3, the reeve estimated.

Ratepayers in School District 63 (the northern or rural portion of Saanich) can look forward to a two-mill hike, or a rate of 32.95 this year, he calculated.

The reeve's estimates were based on a preliminary examination of 1957 departmental estimates, which have yet to be discussed by council in committee.

UNTOUCHABLE

Although council will attempt to hold down the tax rate, the reeve pointed out four-fifths of the increase in the urban sector is untouchable school cost.

Also, police wages have yet to be settled in conciliation.

The present mill rate in the urban area is 31.5, with 14.65 for school costs, compared with a rate of 30.95 in the rural sector.

The school costs in urban Saanich are up by $104,000 this year to $644,759, and in rural Saanich by $22,000 to $94,884.

Starts with power... stops at nothing!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Power? You name it. GMC's got it in the widest range of horsepower in the industry . . . from 140 to 232 h.p. Whether you choose a dependable, economical 6-cylinder engine, a super-powered V8, or a husky, hard-working diesel, you get just the right amount of heft and power to handle every job both better and cheaper. With a GMC engine under the hood, you want nothing, waste nothing.

And how's this for taking the toil out of trucking? This year, GMC offers you three proven automatic transmissions* . . . Powerglide in Sedan Deliveries, Hydra-Matic in the light and medium duty trucks, and Powermatic or Hydra-Matic in many of the heavy duty models.

So for the complete answer to all your trucking needs, see your GMC dealer. This year get a real truck. Get a GMC Money-Maker!

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

Julia

WHEN Julia was old and grey and full of sleep, her children tried persuading her to leave the country and live in a civilized city apartment.

"Mother," they said, "even with a good outside man and his wife in the cottage, it's crazy for you to live out here alone. You'd be better off in the city."

Ruth

"Just twiddling my thumbs," she said, "and waiting for Death to take me by the hand. I know you mean it well, my dears, but kindly leave me where I am."

So they left her that time. But afterwards, among themselves, they said that Mother was getting very difficult in her old age.

But Julia wasn't really being difficult. She just knew what she wanted. And what she wanted was to end her days in the place where she had lived so long.

The dear familiarity of it all gave her a strength she felt she'd lose if she moved to some new impersonal place.

Her bright aggressive daughter-in-law could never understand it, but Julia loved her rather battered shabby house. She especially loved the view from her bedroom window.

She loved to look out at the gentle open field with the fringe of firs at the distant end. She loved it when she could watch a thin young moon sinking down behind the farthest fir.

She loved to wake in the dark of a winter morning and, from her bed, see a pale full moon still hanging in the sky.

"But, Mother," said daughter-in-law, "we could find you an apartment with just as good a view."

"It wouldn't be my view, though," said Julia. And the younger woman gave an impatient little shrug of her shoulders as if, really, this stupid obstinacy was more than she could cope with.

After that, Julia didn't try to explain how she felt about the flowers and birds of the familiar neighborhood.

She couldn't explain about the meadowlarks, somehow. Put into words, it seemed so silly to say that she looked forward to the sunny days in lateish fall when the field seemed full of meadowlarks singing their happiness from every fence post.

She hesitated to mention the quail she could hear so often on the hill, and how she listened to their liquid twittering, and to the warning note of adult sentinel.

She couldn't tell about the killdeer, and how in spring there'd sometimes be one bobbing up and down in the lower pasture and calling plaintively.

No, she couldn't leave these familiar sounds, she told herself. She couldn't live through the spring without the sound of frogs. For years now, she'd listened to them from the back porch when she let the dog out for his final run. Often their singing was the last sound she heard before she fell asleep.

There were the owls, too, the owls that hooted and called to one another somewhere near the open field.

Somehow, trying to explain these things was too difficult. Tom would have understood, though. But her husband, Tom, had been dead for let's-see-how-many years.

"Quiet, patient Tom," she thought suddenly, "I could always explain everything to you. I walk so slowly now, you know. But it was fine this morning, and when I walked along to get the mail, I heard a meadowlark down below and a skylark singing high above. I'd not hear that in a city apartment.

"It'll break my heart to leave this place. But I'll have to go, dear, and do what they say. Because they wear me out with their endless arguments and reasons."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

To Speed Up Cricket

LONDON—If you're interested in cricket... A special committee set up by the MCC, governing body of cricket, has come forward with six suggested changes in the rules with the object of brightening the game. They are the most revolutionary changes since the rules were originally drawn up in 1788.

But something drastic had to be done, for the game at present is in such a bogged down state that cash customers are staying away in their thousands. This committee is only an advisory one and for the new rules to be put into effect requires the okay from the MCC General Committee and the County Cricket Committee.

Reyburn

Since the meetings of these two committees to consider the recommendations come next month, it means that if the rule changes get the nod they will be tried out in the coming season.

Rule change No. 1, and the most controversal one, is the limiting of the number of fieldsmen behind the batsman on the leg side to two. Reason for that is that bowlers such as Jim Laker and "Toey" Tayfield, of South Africa, have been able to pin batsmen down so effectively by bowling at their legs with a group of vultures fielding close in behind them that the batsmen have had little choice but to merely try to prevent themselves from getting out instead of attempting to score runs.

This new rule would do away with the leg trap and force such bowlers to pitch the ball where batsmen would have a better chance of making attacking strokes. But those against this change say it is too revolutionary. Its introduction would be the first time any captain has been restricted as to the placing of his fieldsmen.

No. 2 would restrict the first innings of each side to 85 overs. Idea of this is to stop teams laboriously piling up a first-innings score sufficient to prevent their being beaten. But county captains such as Middlesex's Bill Edrich say it would defeat its own end because the bowling side would just bowl negatively to see to it that the batting side made as few runs as possible in 85 overs.

No. 3 would give umpires the power to penalize players for wasting time—e.g a bowler who took too long to get through an over could be ordered by an umpire to stop bowling. A measure to speed up the game for onlookers.

No. 4 would limit boundaries to 75 yards—an idea greeted by cheers from cricket fans for it would mean batsmen would be tempted to have a bash with a smaller boundary. Present boundaries are governed by the size of the field.

No. 5 would limit the number of overseas players in any country team to two, which is on the lines of Canada's football import restrictions. And No. 6 is the really gay one—a knock-out competition for the counties with a Cup Final similar to soccer's big annual attraction.

If only a couple of these new rules are adopted, it's going to bring new excitement to cricket this season—and just in time, say the fans.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Chequered Lilies Showiest of All

One of the showiest of the early spring flowering bulbs is Fritillaria imperialis, the Crown Imperial, known and grown for several centuries.

Originally from Persia, it is well adapted to our climatic conditions, persisting for years in the garden if given a site which is well drained in winter.

Hilda

Flowering size bulbs are huge, and they make rapid growth from the time the growing tips first appear around the first of March.

By Easter, the third week of April, this fritillaria will have reached the height of four feet, with luxuriant leaves clothing the flower stem. The individual flowers are about two inches across, and hang in a circle above the leaves. Another tuft of leaves grows well above the circle of flowers, as though to protect them.

SEVERAL COLORS

The color of the flowers of F. imperialis may be yellow, brick-red or orange-brown according to the variety, and an established bulb will produce more than one stem simultaneously.

Bulbs should be planted in early fall, in a well dug soil enriched with gritty compost and bonemeal. In such a location, the Crown Imperial will give a splendid display each spring for about five years without requiring to be lifted and divided.

A top dressing of rotted compost and bonemeal each spring after growth starts will be sufficient attention.

In fairness to delicate noses, it must be told that the bulbs, foliage and flowers have a strong odor. If the plants are growing well back from pathways they are less likely to offend.

There are numerous other species of fritillarias which also do well here. They are much finer in appearance than the one described, being dainty in a few inches in height, and the interesting patterns of color on the petals have earned for them the common name of Chequered Lilies.

Eczema Itch

'Averaging' Helps Fishermen, Farmers

By W. GORDON HOLMS, C.A.

The year 1956 might well qualify as a year of averages for B.C. fishermen and farmers. This is an income tax safeguard designed to protect fishermen and farmers during bad economic periods.

Both operate in risky fields of livelihood where income can skyrocket or slump to virtually nothing.

Averaging is a device whereby this type of earner can elect to have his income averaged over a period of five years. By this means it is frequently possible to gain a rebate on previous years' taxes that will give a fisherman or farmer a backlog of cash to carry him through difficult times.

In order to be eligible he must have filed income tax returns as required by the Income Tax Act for at least four of the six years immediately preceding 1956.

There is a special form for such filing headed "Election to Average Income." It is available both at the income tax office in the Belmont Building and at the post office.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, APRIL 1, 1957 13

. . . AND NEXT YEAR?

Total of 11 trophies was won in seven-day Cowichan Musical Festival at Duncan, that ended Saturday, by four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Dougan, Shawnigan Lake. Girls are, from left, Sharon, Lynne, Donna and Heather. They study piano with Miss Nora von Heimberger, Victoria, won eight trophies last year. What will their score be next festival?

Civil Servants Blast Government on Pay

'Seething Unrest' Over Lack of Salary Increases

B.C. civil servants were reported today to be "seething with unrest" over the government's apparent intention not to grant broad salary increases this year.

Ed O'Connor, general secretary of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said the association will seek a meeting with Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

"The employees have taken the inference that the lack of an appropriate sum in the budget indicates the government does not intend to grant an increase this year," Mr. O'Connor said in a telephone interview with the Times from Vancouver.

Increases covering many civil service categories have been recommended to the government by the Civil Service Commission after discussions with the association, Mr. O'Connor said.

One group of government workers, psychiatric nurses, has applied to the association to conduct a strike vote at Essondale, Colquitz Mental Hospital, Woodlands School and other provincial institutions.

Mr. O'Connor said government workers were granted an increase April 1 of last year, but that was the first boost since 1952 and all categories are below their counterparts in industry. The spread is continually increasing.

"The turnover in the government service is now exceptionally high," Mr. O'Connor said.

$200 Stolen From Girl's Purse in Church

A fast-working church prowler got $200 from a choir girl's handbag in a theft reported to city police Sunday afternoon.

Dr. F. E H. James, Metropolitan United Church, said Miss H. Patterson, 1810 Belmont, left her purse in the choir dressing room and went into the church with other members of the choir for a practice about 12.30 p.m.

IN FOUR MINUTES

They were gone about four minutes, he said, then returned to the dressing room when the practice was cancelled.

A small, hand-made, brown leather change purse containing more than $200 had been taken from Miss Patterson's handbag.

On Saturday, Canon Francis Tomalin of St. Matthias Church, Richmond at Richardson, reported someone had ransacked his church office between 9 and 11 p.m. Friday and church envelopes containing a total of $10 were missing.

KIDS SET READING RECORD— OR WERE BOOKS TO SIT ON?

Who says Johnny can't read?

Saturday, for the first time in history, the children's department of Victoria Public Library circulated more books than the adult department.

The youngsters set a new record of 2,235 books out in one day—1,142 fiction and 1,093 non-fiction. Adults took home about 1,900 books.

Chief librarian John Lort says junior readership has been growing all through March.

To what does he attribute this victory over matinees and television?

"Well, a puppet show we had here Saturday may have brought in a few additional."

LADORE FALLS GENERATING STATION is on Campbell River between Lower Campbell Lake and reservoir serving giant John Hart Development. Construction has been under way at power site since May, 1955.

Power 'Injection' for Island

A second 35,000-horsepower generator at Ladore Falls generating station, first put on load Friday, today was operating under full power, the B.C. Power Commission announced.

First generator at the site went into service Dec. 30, 1956, and a third 35,000-horsepower unit will be installed when the Vancouver Island system demands it.

The Ladore project, which cost $10,000,000, involved building a dam 350 feet long, and a tunnel 22 feet in diameter to carry water to the powerhouse 1,700 feet down stream.

FOUR MILES AWAY

Power from the generators is fed into a switchyard and carried by a transmission line to tie into the commission's main 138,000-volt Island system at the John Hart Development four miles away.

The new plant is an outdoor type and is remotely controlled from John Hart.

Meanwhile, at the 1,700-foot earth-filled dam at Upper Campbell Lake, the river has been diverted into a concrete conduit, and filling of the centre section of the dam is under way.

The Upper Campbell development is scheduled for completion by 1958, and will bring the capacity of the Campbell River system to between 350,000 and 400,000 horsepower.

Aid Refused Trio Charged In Stabbing

Three British seamen suspected of knife-stabbing an unemployed city welder last Wednesday were granted a further remand without plea in city police court today to enable them to obtain their own legal counsel.

Efforts to have the British government act on their behalf failed. Harbor and shipping master Capt. Ronald Newell, who also acts as British marine representative here, said the government would not act as long as the men had money to obtain counsel.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow, who contacted Capt. Newell, said the three men have $15 among them.

Charged with assault with intent to wound by stabbing with a knife were Brian Smith, 18, Liverpool; John Foulks, 23, Colwyn Bay, Wales, and John Huartson, 18, Fleetwood, Lancs.

Philip W. Morgan, 35, was found stabbed seven times in the left chest about 2.30 a.m. by a passing motorist at the intersection of Fort and Richmond. The seamen, from the freighter Baron Inchcape, were bending over him, according to motorist C. A. Zufelt, Burnaby.

Morgan was reported to be in "quite satisfactory condition" at Jubilee Hospital today.

The seamen next appear Wednesday morning.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have always been vaguely pleased I have never attempted to be a humorist.

Being a humorist, I have always felt, is about as thankless a chore as being a school teacher or a traffic policeman.

Now along comes Robertson Davies, the bearded and famous editor of the Peterborough Examiner, to confirm the saneness of my decision to eschew humor in favor of straight, factual reporting.

Mr. Davies, in a paper read before a group of college students, explained the sad fate of humorists in Canada.

(In passing, it should be noted that ordinary editors make speeches, but editors with beards read papers.)

He points out that even in Stephen Leacock's heyday, "we were not sufficiently sure of ourselves in this country to realize that a humorist may be a serious literary artist, like the man who writes books in a more sober vain. Indeed, we still retain much of that unsophisticated approach to literature which assumes tthat what makes easy reading must have been easy writing," Mr. Robertson said.

And he said a mouthful, despite his beard.

There is a large school of thought that it can't be literature unless it reads like a half-ton truck with a two-ton load climbing a 30-degree grade with the brakes on.

But I am supposed to be reporting Mr. Davies' remarks, not making comments.

Mr. Davies explained that Canada was settled by "people with a lower-middle class outlook, and a respect, rather than an affectionate familiarity, with things of the mind.

"Worthy and staunch though they were," he went on, "there was also a grim dreariness and meagreness of intellect about them which has shaped and darkened our education system and which casts a damp blanket over our national spirits to this day. We can laugh, but we are a little ashamed of doing so, and we think less of the man who has moved us to mirth.

"We retain a sour Caledonian conviction that a man who sees life in humorous terms is necessarily a trifler," Mr. Davies concludes.

So you can see why I have never tried to be a humorist, and why I am glad my leanings have always been to the more serious side.

And I intend to keep it that way.

Always remembering, of course, that he who laughs best is he who laughs at himself.

TALENTED VICTORIA SINGER Kitty Dixon over the weekend won a weekly talent contest staged by North Vancouver radio station CKLG. She competed against five others, and has a chance to try for a $500 prize and trip to Las Vegas in the final contest in two weeks. Contest took place at ski lodge on Mount Hollyburn. Miss Dixon is a member of the women's department of the Victoria Daily Times.

Millworker Saved From Icy Waters Of Cowichan River

Sylvio Gaudreault, Honeymoon Bay millworker, was pulled from the icy waters of Cowichan River Saturday night after a quick-thinking resident heard his calls for help.

Mrs. Ruth Dragan heard strange shouting Saturday at 9.30 p.m., and on investigating heard a man calling from the river.

She telephoned the RCMP, then made an immediate call to Pallies auto court, across the river, where a rescue party was formed consisting of Joe Hancock, fishing guide; Victor Palmer, village works superintendent, and Paul Wannamaker, a surveyor.

Taking a boat and flashlight, they crossed the river and found Gaudreault clinging to some willow bushes beside a deep pool. He was given medical aid at the auto court and sent home.

Grocers Fight Night Selling Restrictions

Protest was registered at City Hall today against a section of the new Municipal Act which will halt evening sale of groceries by neighborhood stores after July 1.

William Palmer, spokesman for the Independent Merchants' Co-operative Association here, told city council in a letter: "In a few years these stores would be out of business" if the act is not speedily amended.

The new act will invalidate a by-law passed by Victoria council following a referendum in 1951.

OWN CHOICE

It gave small dealers the right to sell at hours of their own choice any grocery item Since its passage, many neighborhood dealers have remained open until late in the evening.

The new act gives municipal councils permission to exempt from regulations of hours only the sale of bakery and dairy products, confectionery, fresh fruits and fresh vegetables.

A new by-law must be passed by council to permit even these exemptions from the 6 p.m. closing requirements which is now general except for Fridays or one other night to be specified, when stores may close at 9 p.m.

Sailor Stabs Self While Despondent

A 23-year-old naval rating, found by city police with an abdominal knife wound Saturday night, apparently stabbed himself in a fit of despondency, police said.

Officers were called to the man's home by his wife at about 10.15 p.m.

The sailor was found lying on the front room floor with a small stab wound in the stomach and a small, open penknife on the floor beside him.

He was taken to HMCS Naden Hospital, where his condition was reported to be good.

Vacant House Damaged by Fire On Latoria Road

Interior of an unoccupied house at 3276 Latoria was badly damaged by fire which broke out at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen from Langford and Colwood volunteer departments answered the alarm.

The four-room house is owned by Leonard H. Klatt. Apparently there were no furnishings in the building.

In a second fire at Langford, firemen searched a house at 2717 Millstream at 3 a.m. today before finding cause for smoke to be a faulty television set.

Conciliation Board Named For Firemen

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today announced the appointment of a conciliation board in the dispute between the local firefighters' union and the city of Victoria.

Members of the board are chairman Philip Fleming of Victoria, Warwick C. Angus of Victoria, and Halford Wilson of Vancouver.

The city and firemen have been unable to agree on the union's demands for a wage boost, increased annual holidays and seniority changes.

About 86 members of the fire department are affected.

APPROVAL WAS GIVEN by provincial cabinet today to appointment of William Fairfield Veitch as new assistant deputy minister of finance. He has been provincial surveyor of taxes and director of taxation research, and replaces Gerald Bryson who became deputy minister, succeeding J. V. Fisher, who is now economic advisor and co-ordinator of finance. Mr. Veitch, who lives at 2603 Asquith, will continue as taxation research director.

PUBLIC APATHETIC OR CONFUSED BY SCHEME

Jubilee Extension, Auditorium Favorites in Centennial Poll

Tabulation of ballots in the Times public opinion poll on a Greater Victoria Centennial project was completed today and two main conclusions resulted:

1. The public is generally apathetic about the scheme, or else so confused that only a few hundred people bothered to send in ballots.

2. The Royal Jubilee Hospital wing has a determined group of supporters who took the trouble to gather several hundred ballots and make sure it would come out at the top of the poll.

There were 32 projects listed on the ballot. All have been put before the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee which is trying to seek agreement on a fitting memorial to mark B.C.'s 100th birthday.

It was conceded that some of the plans suggested would automatically be ruled out because of cost or unsuitability.

Six of the 32 schemes drew measurable support.

Outside of the Jubilee Hospital wing, with its plumping supporters, the idea of a civic auditorium drew the heaviest backing.

The others which aroused interest were the construction of a youth centre, a home for aged citizens, restoration of Gorge Park and the Japanese tea gardens, and the Fort Rodd Hill restoration and park plan.

Until the avalanche of Jubilee Hospital votes reached the poll at the weekend, the auditorium was in the lead. However, one solid group of 375 ballots for the hospital put it on top. These ballots were mailed or brought in by about half a dozen people.

Here was the final standing of the main projects:

Jubilee Hospital	448
Civic auditorium	110
Youth centre	26
Gorge Park	20
Fort Rodd Hill	17
Senior citizens' home	14

Of the other 26 projects none drew more than half a dozen votes.

5,000 Roam Fort Rodd Hill; Majority Favor Restoration

Secluded Fort Rodd Hill on the far side of Esquimalt Harbor yielded its secrets to hundreds of Victorians Sunday.

A crowd estimated at 5,000 visited the two old forts on the 44-acre property of the Department of National Defence, G. C. D'Arcy, secretary of a provincial committee for the restoration of historic forts, said today.

"A steady flow of visitors poured into the forts from 12.30 to 5.30 p.m.," he said. "Some people spent more than two hours roaming through the parkland property, visiting Fisgard Lighthouse which adjoins the site, and pacing the beaches."

Mr. D'Arcy said the majority of people he spoke to favored development of the site as a centennial project.

"It was a big success," he added. "People were impressed not only with the forts but with the property as a whole."

RCMP and the Army Provost Corp co-operated in directing a heavy flow of traffic. The cars moved bumper to bumper along Belmont Road to the end of the Esquimalt Spit.

MILE OF CARS

Cars were parked for a mile along the sandspit and Belmont Road.

Mr. D'Arcy said if the historic area is developed as a park a road could be constructed to by-pass Belmont Park subdivision.

"The committee has given some study to this," he said.

Army officials and guides said the visitors were impressed with the two forts and beaches at Fort Rodd Hill.

"It was a field day for the children who had never seen walled forts with embrasures for rifles," said one guide. "As for the grown-ups they were surprised that two such forts existed in the area."

Mexican Display Draws Interest

Art Gallery show this week attracting unusual interest is a 30-piece display of Mexican Tarascan sculpture and pottery, at least 1,500 years old.

The collection is being seen here for the first time, and was unearthed in three of Mexico's western provinces.

The items are considered among the greatest of primitive sculpture extant, made by a people wedged in between the Mayan and Aztec civilization.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me in what year the rule of the road in driving switched from the left side to the right side? When was it changed in Victoria and when in Vancouver? —Mrs. E. A. C.

A.—As a result of legislation, the rule "keep to the right" came into effect on all B.C. highways at 6 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 1, 1922. That hour was chosen because the traffic was at a minimum for the week, and although the motor population of B.C. was small 35 years ago as compared with today, there was still the possibility of accidents. On Jan. 2, 1922, police forces were able to report the new law, changing a custom which had existed since colonial days in B.C., had come into force with no sizable increase in traffic accidents.

Gadgets and Attachments To Make Travelling Comfy

By PENNY SAVER

Things for your car, to make holiday travelling easier and more enjoyable, are appearing here and there in town. The favorite material is plastic, because it stands up to hard handling, and because it comes in such bright and cheery colors.

To hold maps, direction sheets and such in the car, there is a suction attachment that can be put on the dashboard. Two plastic disks are held closely together by a centre spring. Tuck the paper between the disks and it is held neatly and firmly in place, within arm's reach. These are 59 cents each. There are many other uses for this gadget, too. You can use it in the bathroom, ladies to dry nylons. The surface of the disks is so smooth it will not snag them.

A snack bar that attaches to the car door is another handy little device. Of enamelled aluminum, the trays have a section that slides down the window shaft to form a firm base. There is a trough at one side, just the right size for a glass. This is especially good because it eliminates the possibility of tipping glasses. In the side section, there are small holes so that these trays may also be screwed onto card tables, beach chairs or lawn chairs or used on boats. In many colors, they cost $3.95.

There are other styles of car trays, too. One of plastic in a color to match or contrast the interesting new car colors, is smaller, and costs 59 cents. This is a tray that will fit your glove compartment.

Magnetic auto certificate holders are new. Plastic cases have magnets on either end. Just wrap the case around the steering column, and it stays put without buckles and straps. The cases also come in a wide range of colors, and cost 39 cents.

Away from automobile gadgets for a moment, here's something for the ladies. The young ladies in particular will love the petal headbands that come in a host of pretty pastels. Green, blue, yellow, pink, white or turquoise bands, massed with dainty petals are $1. Matching flowers for your dress or coat are also available at the same price.

WEDDING DATE ANNOUNCED

The engagement has been announced of Bernice Mae Anders, daughter of Mrs. Anders, Oak Bay Avenue, and the late Mr. W. Anders, to Mr. Charles Rudolf Seyfert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Seyfert, Katerinaberg, Czechoslovakia. The wedding will take place April 20 at 8 p.m. in Christ Church Cathedral. Miss Anders is a 1955 graduate of St. Joseph's School of Radiography, and Mr. Seyfert a graduate of the Bavarian Academy of Art, Munich, Germany. The bride has asked her sisters, Mrs. A. de Goutiere and Mrs. G. Callow to be bridesmatrons, and her niece, Juliette de Goutiere, to be flower girl. Best man will be Gordon Kidd. On Etiquette

What about wedding gifts when bride and groom separate?

We are wondering what should be done about wedding gifts after a marriage is broken. The couple, married only two months and both in their fifties, had been previously married. The man, who is my brother, has his own home and has everything to keep house with, so most of the wedding gifts were never used. We would like to know whether or not the gifts should be returned. The bride took some with her when she left, and we feel that those are her responsibility. If they are not returned, should thank-you notes be written for the ones my brother has? He has no idea who sent some of them, or if the givers were ever thanked. Should he try to contact his wife for information?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis answers:

This is indeed a very awkward and embarrassing situation, but it has to be faced. The best way would be to put the cards on the table and be frank about it. It is possible that the wife has already acknowledged the gifts. I surely hope so, for it was her duty and still is. The only way that your brother can find out is to ask her, but if there is bitterness or unfriendliness between the two, perhaps you or his attorney can make the inquiries It is very important that something be done about this immediately, for if there are gifts yet to be acknowledged, and if the wife doesn't expect or intend to do it, then it would be up to your brother to write notes. Since the gifts were sent in good faith, it isn't a must that they be returned. Concerning those that your brother has on hand and hasn't used, I think that he might ease his conscience if he makes an attempt to return them, or at least to make the offer, either by note or telephone.

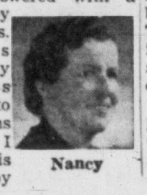
Home Hospitality Especially Important To Active Teen-Age Boys and Girls

A homemaker was being complimented for the generous way in which she opened her house to young people who were strangers in her community. The Young People's group at the church were always welcome under her roof at a social gathering at least once each year. She answered with a smile, "I enjoy boys and girls. When I was growing up, my folks always allowed me to bring my chums home when I wanted to. It is such a happy memory!"



Nancy

Home hospitality is valuable to a boy or girl of any age, but it is extremely valuable during the teen years. An adolescent is apt to doubt the security of his place in his own age group. It is a great help to be able to ask "the gang" in at short notice or feel free to invite a special friend to enjoy music or a game or some other pleasure.

Informal entertaining is much less strain on a teenager—and on the family, than a formal party. Any parent who is puzzled by the behavior of a tall son or daughter when "company" is present should read or re-read that incomparable story "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington. Turn to the chapter beginning "At Home to His Friends" for an amusing but painful picture of William's brain storm over dressing for the party for his best girl, "Miss Pratt!"

Recent surveys in different communities have brought to light the "beef" of many adolescents about the lack of parental friendliness to their companions. A boy may be critical of his father's ways, of his mother's hair-do, but all the same he wants to know he can bring his chums in the home door with him, and find a welcome there.

Almost-grown-up daughter may think a small brother or sister a perfect pest. She may judge her mother as sadly lacking in sophistication, but nevertheless she does want, from time to time, to invite her friend or friends into her home.

Fathers and mothers are seldom asked why they are so reluctant about endorsing an "Open House" plan for younger members of the family. They may be very busy, or worried by finanical or health problems. They don't do much entertaining of their friends, so why should they bother about their children's chums?

Sometimes parents consider hospitality a luxury which costs too much. Boys and girls who are earning money in their spare time with paper routes, running errands, baby sitting, etc., should share at least half the bill of "eats" for the crowd.

Dad may think, with good reason, that mother's job of running the house is already too heavy. Added to her regular duties, cleaning up in the morning after a teen age "do" the night before is no fun for her. Son or daughter should be smart enough to see to it that mother does not find her kitchen looking as if a cyclone had hit it after "the gang" have dropped in!

An older boy or girl does not want mother hovering around after a late show giving directions about the kitchen "clean up." With a little home encouragement, son or daughter can organize some co-operation for a "wash-up" gang or tackle the job themselves after the company has gone home.

"I made it myself out of a few old pieces of money I found in your pocket!"

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As refreshing as a breeze on a mountain top to those of us who have been graduated from the teen-age set, comes word that all is not yet lost. As a matter of fact we are supposed to have capacity for being right bright.

Doctor Hugh Cabot, sociologist and executive director of Age Centre of New England, believes that if men and women are cranky in later years they were that way in their youth. He says in the American Medical Association's magazine "Today's Health," "The same goes for mental sluggishness unless it is caused by disease. Many teen-agers show sluggish thinking if their environment bores them. This would be laid to old age if they were 40 years older."

Hear! While I like young people very much I have known some teen-agers who seem pretty dumb, and I know some folks a lot older than I who are fascinating. You, too, must have had the same experience unless your viewpoint is distorted by age consciousness. That malady causes one to think in terms of years rather than in terms of fun and accomplishment and happiness.

My readers know that I often have written in this column that I believe that personality characteristics become intensified with age. If a woman has a sweet disposition, a sense of humor, charm and understanding as a young person, she will be even more lovable as she grows older. If she was hard to live with in her youth, send out the lifeguards to rescue her companions in her older years!

One of the best ways to prepare for older age is to forget about it. Only remember that we cannot go along, being critical and hectic and dour for years and then suddenly change into charming individuals.

If we are not lovable and loved, gay and humorous, perceptive and kind in youth, we certainly will not be in later years when we are handicapped by the infirmities of age and limited in activity.

The idea that we can learn only in youthful years and that study and romance are for the young only, is as outmoded as high button shoes. This is the day of opportunity for the mature man and woman whose youthful vigor is seasoned with taste and perception, whose horizons should be expanding rather than closing in. Now physical aging can be delayed for years longer than in the past.

Liberals Would Have Fall Session

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Harris, government House leader, indicated in the Commons today that the present government plans a fall session after the election expected in June.

$300,000 Cheque on Slain Banker

CHICAGO (UP)—A mysterious cheque for $300,000 and a $100,000 note indicating a loan from a hoodlum, were found on the body of slain Chicago banker Leon Marcus, police reported today.

Marcus, 61, executed in gangland style with a single bullet in the back of the head, had owned a bank which former state auditor Orville E. Hodge used in his $2.5 million raid on the Illinois treasury.

Bill Would Safeguard Union Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Francis Walter (Dem.-Pa.), today introduced in the House of Representatives a bill designed to safeguard the funds of labor unions.

The bill would permit union officials to place union funds only in those investments permissible to insurance companies organized under the federal laws of the District of Columbia.

Public Power Advocates in U.S. Hit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court today dealt a blow to public power advocates by refusing to review Federal Power Commission licensing of three private power company dams in Hells Canyon.

The case for years has been the centre of a political and private versus public power dispute.

Mother Kills Sleeping Children

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)—A 26-year-old mother today stabbed two sleeping children to death, wounded her husband and then severed her own juglar vein, Police Chief Harry Kreign reported.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Waterman, was near death in a hospital.

Jordan Premier, Council to Resign

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—Jordan Prime Minister Suleiman Nabulsi, who holds anti-West views, and his council of ministers agreed provisionally at an emergency meeting today to submit their resignation to King Hussein tonight.

$500,000 PORT PLAN MADÉ FOR N. SAANICH

Speed-Up Aim For Ferry Runs

The federal government is prepared to build a $500,000 harbor development on the Saanich Peninsula for better ferry connections to the mainland, Dr. F. T. Fairey, Victoria MP, said from Ottawa today.

"Surveys of the peninsula to decide the best possible site have been completed and the report is in the hands of Public Works Minister Robert Winters," he said. "Mr. Winters has given me his definite assurance the department is prepared to build this wharf at the most suitable site, under an arrangement suggested by the Washington State Ferries."

WSF now operates the Sidney-Anacortes ferry service.

C. E. Blaney, Victoria agent for the state-owned ferry company, said the new wharf would ensure more frequent service between Vancouver Island and Anacortes.

He could not comment on possibility of a service linking the Saanich Peninsula with an area nearer Vancouver, main B.C. centre of population.

The federal government has authorized negotiations with WSF on rental terms for the proposed terminal. It is understood the rate would amortize the capital investment over a "reasonable" length of time.

At present, WSF is concerned only with stepping up the Sidney-Anacortes service.

The U.S. company would not have exclusive rights to use of the wharfage.

"While the Anacortes service is important, I am sure Victoria is equally interested in the possibility of a faster service to Vancouver," Dr. Fairey said. "It is because of this possibility I am glad the representations made are to bear fruit.

"Mr. Winters informs me his officers have been instructed to open negotiations with Washington State Ferries. As soon as an agreement on the proposed site has been obtained, construction will start."

Dr. Fairey pointed out the open nature of Sidney has been a stumbling block to improved ferry service with the mainland.

But the new docks, he said, might make it possible to "provide a much faster approach to the mainland, in the vicinity of Vancouver, and a much more convenient route than is now provided.

Commenting on Dr. Fairey's announcement, Austin I. Curtis, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said:

"This is most satisfying. It is something we have been trying to get for a long time. We hope it is only the start of other development which will sharply improve the transportation picture for Victoria."

FAST TIME STARTS APRIL 28

The provincial cabinet today fixed April 28 as the starting date for daylight saving this year. It will continue five months until Sept. 28.

On Saturday night, April 27, clocks will be moved ahead one hour to give an extra hour of daylight in the evening.

Gordon Dies Tonight

Cabinet Commutes Carey's Sentence

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence imposed on James Carey but his companion in the fatal shooting of a Vancouver policeman, Joseph Gordon, will be hanged shortly after midnight tonight.

Both men were convicted and sentenced to be hanged March 19 for the shooting of Constable Gordon Sinclair.

Evidence at the trial indicated that Gordon fired the fatal shots.

Carey at his trial claimed to be working as an undercover agent for the RCMP when he was present at the fatal shooting.

(In Victoria, the RCMP said Carey has "given us some information. He did sell information to us.")

However, several hours before the scheduled execution, Justice Minister Garson cleared the way for a two-week stay to permit investigation of alleged new evidence.

An investigation was undertaken by the justice department. It is understood that the commutation of Carey's sentence was not necessarily a direct result of this investigation but rather that there were factors which probably moved the cabinet to decide that the death penalty was too severe in his case.

Counsel for Gordon applied March 14 to the trial judge, Mr. Justice A. M. Manson of the B.C. Supreme Court, for a reprieve designed to enable the justice department to investigate alleged new evidence.

Constable Sinclair was shot Dec. 7, 1955, when sent to Vancouver's Granville Street Bridge area to investigate reports of suspicious persons moving about.

Iran Desert Yields Body of U.S. Woman

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

TEHRAN, Iran—Iran pledged today it would "show no mercy" on the desert bandits who kidnapped and killed pretty Mrs. Anita Carroll soon after the ambush-murder of her husband, another American and two Iranians.

The mutilated body of Mrs. Carroll, 35, of Issaquah, Wash., was found Sunday 10 miles from the ambush scene. An Iranian Air Force plane flew her white-draped coffin back to Tehran Sunday night where the Shah paid his last tribute with a wreath of carnations.

She had been shot with a shotgun and stabbed, and her body was partially stripped of clothing. She apparently survived the ambush only to be slain later when the bandits discovered she had left a paper trail for the national gendarmerie.

Sources close to the Iranian government said Prime Minister Hussein Ala has told associates he will resign as result of the desert bandit massacre.

These informants said the prime minister's resignation will be announced Wednesday, after the departure of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, now in Tehran as a government guest, so as "to prevent embarrassment" to Adenauer.

Earlier, the United States announced through Clark S. Gregory, that the technical aid program in Southeast Iran has been suspended until the killers are caught.

Maj. Ali Qoli Golpira, head of the Iranian Gendarmerie (federal police), stepped up his search for the bandits and

No Secret Deals Made With Ike

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons today that he did not enter into any "secret engagements" in his Bermuda conference with President Eisenhower.

The prime minister spoke before a tense House amid some whispers in his own Conservative party ranks that he "sold out" Britain to the United States in exchange for guided missiles to cut the country's costly defence expenditure.

Opening debate on the Bermuda meeting, Macmillan said the talks . . . "covered much ground and we did reach agreements on certain matters set out in the communique. I want to make it clear that there were no secret engagements."

The prime minister said "there were some matters on which we were not in agreement."

Macmillan cautioned against placing too much importance on the disagreements and said that as a result of the talks Britain and the United States "understood each other better."

Macmillan told the House that in his talks with Eisenhower: "I made plain our view that just trusting to the United Nations is no substitute for a foreign policy."

The prime minister denied reports in some British newspapers that Britain's release from exile of Archbishop Makarios was done under American pressure to settle the Cyprus dispute.

Turning to the Middle East, Macmillan said the United States, so far from wishing to reduce British influence in that area, is anxious to see it reinforced.

"Our basic aims in this area are identical, even if at times there are divergencies on how to achieve it," he said.

Macmillan added: "It is greatly to our advantage that, in dealing with the Egyptian government, the United States gov-

Island-Mainland Link By Monorail Proposed

NANAIMO (CP)—A monorail service between Victoria and Vancouver via Kelsey Bay was suggested Saturday to Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

President George Bonner of Cobble Hill told the annual meeting that the E. & N. Railway could build the line out of its grants.

The line could travel from Victoria to Campbell River, then by overhead cable at Kelsey Bay across Johnstone Strait where the channel is two to three miles wide, he said.

Mr. Bonner suggested a similar monorail could be built to Port Alberni.

Opposition Leader Robert Stratchan suggested at the meeting that before any such proposal was made the E. & N. "should be placed in the position where they will make the return to the provincial coffers that they should make."

DULLES BIOGRAPHY

Ike Faced 4th 'Brink of War'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A biography of State Secretary Dulles out today says President Eisenhower faced "the brink of war" a fourth time by warning Moscow last fall that U.S. forces would prevent Russia from sending "volunteers" to Egypt.

The book, written by Time Magazine's diplomatic reporter, John Robinson (Jack) Beal, is titled, John Foster Dulles: A Biography.

Based partly on personal interviews with Dulles, it also says:

1. Dulles' abrupt withdrawal of a U.S. offer to help Egypt build the Aswan Dam last July 19 was a calculated "major gambit in the cold war."

2. Eisenhower decided, coming back from his 1952 Korea trip aboard the cruiser Helena, to press for a truce in Korea—"but if that failed, to fight the war to win," and to do it with tactical atomic weapons.

3. Eisenhower sent a hitherto secret personal letter to President Chiang Kai-shek in early 1955 "satisfying him that the United States would help defend Quemoy and Matsu," island approaches to Chiang's Formosa retreat.

4. Eisenhower, Dulles and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chief of staff, decided at a White House meeting April 4, 1954, to intervene in Indochina -- but only "under certain conditions . . . which were not met" by America's allies.

The 322-page Dulles biography, according to a dust jacket statement by publishers Harper and Bros., "examines critically what he has accomplished as secretary of state."

But a careful reading turns up little that is critical. Beal, in appraising his subject, takes a papa-knows-best line.

He presents Dulles as a titan among men, physically, mentally and morally. Whereas Dulles is "idealistic beyond the normal grasp" and "candid" and "forthright," all who disagree are dismissed as: "Careless," "too literal," "amateurish," "professional worriers," "well meaning amateurs," "defeatists," and "people who do not read beyond the headlines."

BOY'S FIBRE SHIRT BURSTS INTO FLAMES

HAMILTON (CP)—A 12-year-old boy suffered severe chest burns Saturday when his synthetic fibre shirt burst into flames as he rode a bicycle along a downtown street.

Robert Crossman suffered third-degree burns on his chest and first-degree face burns. He was reported to be in fair condition Sunday night in hospital.

The boy was unable to tell police what set his shirt afire. Police have forwarded the remains of the shirt to the attorney-general's laboratory in Toronto for analysis.

Two Mill Tax Boost Seen for Saanich

A Saanich tax increase of up to two mills is forecast by Reeve Arthur Ash.

The jump in School District 61 (Greater Victoria) portion of Saanich could be a little more than one mill, bringing the rate to about 32.3, the reeve estimated.

Ratepayers in School District 63 (the northern or rural portion of Saanich) can look forward to a two-mill hike, or a rate of 32.95 this year, he calculated.

The reeve's estimates were based on a preliminary examination of 1957 departmental estimates, which have yet to be discussed by council in committee.

UNTOUCHABLE

Although council will attempt to hold down the tax rate, the reeve pointed out four-fifths of the increase in the urban sector is untouchable school cost.

Also, police wages have yet to be settled in conciliation.

The present mill rates in the urban area is 31.5, with 14.65 for school costs, compared with a rate of 30.95 in the rural sector.

The school costs in urban Saanich are up by $104,000 this year to $644,759, and in rural Saanich by $22,000 to $94,884.

ernment is taking a positive and leading role.

He added: "We agreed on the importance of dealing with it in such a way as not to drive it into the arms of the enemy of all true nationalism, and Moslem nationalism in particular—that is, international communism."

Both governments consider there is a right of innocent passage for all ships through the Gulf of Aqaba. This applies equally to Israel ships and vessels of other nations plying to Israel, he added.

The prime minister went on to deal with another controversial result of the Bermuda talks — the decision that Britain should be supplied with American guided missiles, but with the nuclear warheads for them kept under American control.

"This agreement," he assured the Commons, "will save us both time and money and I hope the House will agree that it is a satisfactory one."

Some Socialists have criticized the agreement on the grounds that the U.S. still controlled the warheads and firing of the missiles.

Macmillan denied this report and said:

"The missiles will be the property of the British government and manned by British troops and cannot be fired by any except British personnel."

Young Girl Saves Six In B.C. Fire

VANCOUVER (CP) — Victoria Cross winner Ernest (Smokey) Smith, his wife and two children were saved from a fire early Sunday by the quick action of a neighbor's daughter.

The duplex home of Sgt. Smith and Donald Morris in suburban Burnaby was swept by a fire which broke out in a storage room.

Melanie Morris, 7, woke up her parents and then spread the alarm to the Smiths.

"Melanie saved our lives," said Mrs. Morris. "We would have been asphyxiated or burned to death."

Sgt. Smith won his VC as a private with Seaforth Highlanders in Italy in the Second World War.

Optometrists Given Right To Use 'Doctor'

WINNIPEG (CP) — Some Manitoba optometrists will be given the right to use the title of "doctor" in a new optometry act approved Saturday by the provincial legislature's law amendments committee.

The committee approved limited use of the title by a 16 to 15 vote.

Restrictions imposed provided that an optometrist must have received a doctor's degree from a school of optometry approved by the University of Manitoba and must display the word "optometrist" after his name.

Two Die in Car Crash

ALBION, B.C. (CP)—Two Vancouver youths were killed and a third was critically injured early today when a car slammed into a truck on the Lougheed Highway here, 30 miles east of Vancouver.

Dead are Brian Smith, 16, and John Ivan Sapek. John Poulos, 33, is in fair condition in New Westminster Hospital, suffering from chest and internal injuries.

Gang-Like Killing

CHICAGO (AP)—A former high official of a bank prominent in the Orville Hodge financial scandal which rocked Illinois last year was kidnapped and shot to death Sunday night. Leon Marcus, 61, former board chairman of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Company, was seized and dragged into a car as he left a friend's home.

TED WILLIAMS SPITS AT TRUMAN, MARINE CORPS

Baseball Star Admits Attempt To Dodge Service in Korean War

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox in an outburst of hate against former president Harry Truman, the late Senator Robert Taft and the U.S. Marine Corps said today he tried to use political pressure to avoid being recalled to service during the Korean war.

The temperamental outfielder said he was far from being the proud serviceman that legend has made him.

In an interview, Williams said he had resentment against the Marine Corps which recalled him for the Korean war.

"You're damned right I have resentment against the Marine Corps and the whole damned government," he said.

Williams talked freely of his attempts to stop the Marine Corps from recalling him.

"You think Sen. Taft was a great man?" he said. "Well, here's what I think of him."

He spat on the floor of the airport waiting room.

"He was afraid to do anything for me," he said. "He said he wouldn't mind going to bat for some other guy. But not me. I was too important."

Williams said the effort to prevent his recall may have gone as far as former president Truman.

"And the same goes for Harry Truman," he said as he spat again.

Williams was a marine flier in Second World War. He was recalled from the inactive reserve during the Korean War.

. . . WOMAN

promised no mercy. The bandits were believed led by the notorious chieftain Dad Shah who has a string of murders on his record.

Golpira ordered him taken alive if possible.

Dad Shah is a tall, thin, sunburned Baluchi tribesman with red-rimmed eyes and a handlebar mustache. He wears the typical black baggy pants of the country, but a green, black and white striped shawl set him apart from other men. He is a ruthless killer who preys on the few travellers in remote Baluchistan, 800 miles from Tehran near the Pakistani border.

He is wanted for thievery, smuggling and slave trading.

Torrential rains handicapped the search—and the flight of the bandits. Only camels could get through some of the wild areas, a land of steep cliffs, and razor-sharp rocks.

The Dad Shah bandit gang is reported to include at least four men and a number of women and children. A week ago Sunday they set up an ambush on a lonely mountain trail and opened up with shotguns.

Kelvin M. Carroll, 37, husband of the kidnapped woman, and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., were killed outright with two Iranians who were accompanying them on their mission of aid. Both men were officials of the U.S. International Co-operative Administration.

The bodies of the four men were found where they dropped, but the only trace of Mrs. Carroll, a blonde of Finnish descent, was a thin paper trail that disappeared in the rugged country. Police found the body in a desolate mountain pass.

The terrain was so difficult police could not get within miles of the body by jeep and it was brought down on a stretcher. Villagers at Iranshahr 10 miles away filled the coffin with wild flowers before it was taken to the nearest airfield 90 miles away.

A U.S. plane had flown south to Zahedan only Sunday with a doctor, nurse, medical supplies and fresh clothing for Mrs. Carroll in belief she might be alive and could be ransomed.

H-Bomb Radiation 'Insignificant' Says Macmillan

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan told the House of Commons today that radiation effects from Britain's proposed H-bomb tests in the Pacific "will be insignificant," and won't affect Japan which is 4,000 miles away.

The prime minister said Britain's H-bomb "tests must go on.

"To abandon them now would be to abandon the whole defence strategy upon which our defence policy is based and to put ourselves in a permanently weakened position."

TOKYO (Reuters) — Russia today rejected Japanese suggestions that she curtail her nuclear weapons tests.

THIRSTY THIEVES JAILED

Hair of the Dog Which Bit Them?

CUMBERLAND—Two young men who were dared Sunday morning to break into the government liquor store here each were sentenced today by Magistrate John Ryland to six months in Oakalla prison.

Alex Graham and Fred Martinelli, who had been drinking in a room in the King George Hotel, drilled out the lock on the front door of the store in full view of passersby, who called police.

According to evidence, the two men stole a bottle of whisky and a case of beer, and had drunk eight bottles of beer from the case by the time police arrived shortly after 3 a.m.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Eileen Poshedley, 12, Shreveport, La., for her question:

How Big Is a Kangaroo When He Is Born?

The Australians call him a Joey. At birth, he is not recognizable as a young kangaroo. But no one sees him then. For the first few weeks of life are spent hidden away inside Mama's fur-lined pouch. Most mammal babies are quite well developed at birth. New-born kittens resemble cats and new-born piglets resemble pigs. But Joey could not take the time to develop this far. He was in too great a hurry to get born into the world. As a result, when he arrived he was too underdeveloped to cope with things. All he could do was to scramble through mother's fur and hide himself in her pouch. There he stays, feeding and growing for many weeks.

There are dozens of different kinds of kangaroo in Australia. All the youngsters are born in a hurry and depend on Mama's pouch to finish developing. Joey, the son of the Big Grey Kangaroo is only one inch long at birth. The children of his smaller relatives are born even smaller.

Compared with 200-pound Papa, newborn Joey is less than a toe. What's more, he does not resemble either of his parents. He is blind and without fur, a wormy looking fellow. He has four limbs and a little tail. But his arms are bigger and stronger than his legs. His hands are quite big and strong and he uses them to climb into the pouch and cling onto his mother's fur. This must change if Joey is to grow into a kangaroo. For Mama and Papa have small hands and arms and big powerful legs and tail.

Joey is an only child and he makes the best of his cosy pouch nursery. At first he is too weak even to feed himself. So Mama uses her tummy muscles to force milk down his tiny throat. As he develops, the back legs begin to outgrow the front legs. Joey gets a pair of long ears and a fur coat of tawny brown. He begins to open a pair of big brown eyes. He now has a sizeable tail and begins to look very much like a small copy of his parents.

In spite of his great hurry to get born, Joey is in no hurry to leave home and cope with the world. In fact, he is about four months old before he takes his first peek at the world. For some time he is content to gaze at the outdoors. He is especially interested in Mama's feeding. When she leans down to graze, he pokes out his head and nibbles a bit of grass. When she stands up to browse, he pokes out a hand and gathers a few leaves to sample.

After several weeks of this peek-a-boo at the world, Joey is ready to venture forth. He leaves the pouch and tries his kangaroo legs with a few hops. Then back home he scoots until next time. Soon he is taking sizeable walks, but he still returns to the nursery to sleep and maybe for an extra sip of milk.

Mrs. Kangaroo is a tender and splendid mother. She teaches Joey all she knows and protects him until he is more than half grown. Kangaroos are hunted with dogs and Mama instructs Joey in the art of the chase. At first he is so light that she does not notice him when she outruns the dogs. Later, his extra weight slows her down. In such case, Mama Kangaroo has been known to pull a clever trick. She tosses her half-grown Joey into the bushes and takes off at 40 miles an hour to lead the hunt in another direction. She returns to her frightened darling when the weary dogs have given up the chase and gone home.

Newspapers Across U.S. Boost Prices

NEW YORK (CP) — Newspapers in many sections of the United States have increased their prices in the last 10 days or so to meet what most publishers say is a continuing rise in the cost of production and materials.

New York City's evening papers went up to 10 cents from 5 cents, and the two morning tabloids made a lesser adjustment.

All three Indianapolis newspapers announced price increases for home delivery or newsstand sale.

The Houston, Tex., Press, a Scripps-Howard afternoon daily, announced a 15-cents-a-week increase in its home-delivery price.

In Boston, the Sunday Advertiser announced an increase in price to 25 cents beyond a 30-mile zone.

The Quincy, Mass., Patriot-Ledger, announced a two-cent increase to seven cents.

NO BOILS ON TIN MINERS

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.8% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoxid." Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoxid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

SINCLAIR LIBERAL CHOICE

NORTH VANCOUVER—Federal Fisheries Minister James Sinclair was chosen Saturday to contest the coast-Capilano seat in the forthcoming federal election. Mr. Sinclair said he welcomed Premier Bennett's announcement Friday night to develop Squamish as a major western seaport, but told his audience Ottawa had offered to develop Squamish eight years ago.

YOUTHS' BAIL $5,000

NORTH VANCOUVER—Bail of $5,000 each was set Saturday for two youths charged with robbery with violence. They were transferred from juvenile to police court here.

Roger Antone of the Capilano Indian Reserve and William Lewis of the Mission Reserve, both 17, were charged in connection with the beating and robbing of Robert Mackay, 33-year-old father of two.

CARELESS SMOKING BLAMED

VANCOUVER — Chief Fire Warden Lou Mulligan says careless smoking in the basement of the Butler Hotel may have started a fire which took three lives here Thursday.

Three persons were smoking in the basement 20 minutes before the fire started, he said.

HERRIDGE RENOMINATED

'COPTER MERCY FLIGHT

VANCOUVER—A six-month-old Indian boy was in fair condition in hospital here Sunday after being brought here Saturday by helicopter from Squamish with what is believed to be a form of meningitis. An RCAF search and rescue helicopter completed the 80-mile return flight in less than an hour.

Look, Ma! No Hands! But the music plays on!

Who said the player-piano was dead? Not us — we've just been listening to a beautiful new Hardman in EATON'S Music Centre. The tone is remarkable — even the delicate (?) nuances of Crazy Otto come over as though the maestro himself were pounding the keys.

Nothing better for the rumpus room, especially as the words of each song are printed right on the roll, and unfold in time with the music. No more embarrassed "dum-de-dums" — no more finding that not one of the guests plays the piano!

And the music available is the very latest. Such tunes as "Banana Boat Song", "Don't Forbid Me", "Young Love" and "Hey, Jealous Lover". Piano itself is modern low style in satin mahogany finish. 1695.00

Complete with 25 rolls of music.

Run, don't walk to EATON'S Music Centre — we only have the one instrument right now!
